LANDON TO GIVE 2D FARM TALK IN MINNEAPOLIS

Milwaukee Is Next on Program.

SPEECH TO BE BROADCAST.
Gov. Landon's talk tonight at Minneapolis will be heard over WBBM at 9:30 p. m. Chicago time.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf M. Landon will leave Des Moines tomorrow morning for the troubled area of Minneapolis, where he will present tomorrow evening the second part of his farm program, that relating to foreign trade and the ways of building new markets for American farm products.

The Republican presidential candidate will not tarry long in Minneapolis. He will leave soon after his speech for a two days' campaign trip across Minnesota and Wisconsin. On Saturday night in Milwaukee he will give his conclusions on what may be done in the way of social security for the workers.

First Reaction Favorable.

The Minneapolis address, bracketed with his specific outline of his farm policy in Des Moines last night, probably will have a decisive effect on the farm vote in the north central states. The governor's chances in Iowa have until now been considered about even. What effect these speeches will have cannot be known for a week or more. The first effect observed in the groups of farmers that called on Landon today appeared to be favorable. He is the kind of a man they like and trust, their neighbor and friend.

"Don't think he don't know about the dairy business," said a dairy farmer today, to a group of his friends, after they had talked with the governor.

"Real Western American."

"I like the kind of a man he is—a real western American," said another.

"There isn't much difference between him and Gov. Lowden," said a third.

The Lowden support of Landon, the visit which the nominee is to make to Sinissippi farm in Illinois next Sunday and the address which Lowden is to deliver in Iowa next month are things which may have a good deal to do with swinging the Iowa vote into the Republican column again.

John P. Wallace Calls.

One of Landon's callers today was John P. Wallace, uncle of Secretary Wallace and brother of the late Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture in the Harding-Coolidge administrations. Mr. Wallace is a former business manager of the Wallace Farmer. After his talk with the governor he said:

"I was an interested listener at Gov. Landon's meeting in Des Moines Tuesday night to discuss the farm situation. Having been associated with agriculture all my life, I was particularly interested in what he had to say about this question, which is fully as important to business as to agriculture, for without a prosperous farm community we can never have prosperous business in our state or country.

Corn Loans Commended.

"We must recognize that the present administration has rendered some effective service. The outstanding thing is the corn loans. This policy means that the farmer will receive enough from the loan to enable him to pay his taxes and some necessary bills, and if the market goes up he will receive the benefit. It virtually insures the cost of production.

"While he did not mention specifically the corn loans, his reference to the use of the federal warehousing act is assurance that this program will be carried on. His reference to the present obligations of the government to the farmer and his pledge to carry out these obligations are also most encouraging.

"The governor's pledge that the federal emergency relief measures will be continued as long as necessary is significant and encouraging to those who have suffered from the depression.

Considers Landon Safe.

"On the whole it seems to me that Gov. Landon has a good understanding of the necessity of protecting agriculture both from the standpoint of farmer and laborer. I do not believe that either agriculture or labor

AN EDITORIAL

IN DANGER OF FAMINE.

If a war cut off our supply of foreign grain, starvation would stalk in American cities. It needn't be our war. One which diverted Canadian grain to imperative needs abroad or blockaded Argentine and other shipments would cause it. The United States would not have enough grain to feed its people. It would not have enough to feed its meat animals. If it should be our war it would be unimaginably worse. Mr. Roosevelt has made the United States a dependent nation. The envied land of plenty no longer feeds itself.

This year a hundred million bushels of foreign grain will be sold in the United States. This year's imports amount to three bushels for every American family. We used to be the world's largest grain exporter. Now we are the largest grain importer, with one exception. When because of war our grain was kept out of some of the belligerent countries the people there suffered from famine. We now face that hazard. Mr. Roosevelt's planned agriculture has brought prosperity to some foreign farmers, but he has made living in the United States precarious.

'Commissions' Paid to County Officers Bared

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Democratic county officials, already jittery over the embezzlement charge against their running mate in the November election, Clerk Frank V. Zintak of the Superior court, found a new cause for insomnia yesterday in reports that two or more of their number are having income tax troubles.

The troubles grow out of "commissions" which Edward J. Walton, whose employés do the bulk of the official shorthand reporting for county offices, says he paid to get that business. Coroner Frank Walsh admitted yesterday that he was one of the officials whom revenue agents have questioned, but declared that he was given a clean bill of health two weeks ago.

Claims Proof of "Commissions."

Walton admitted readily that the government is trying to make him pay a tax on $15,458 which he says he disbursed as "commissions" in the county building during 1934. He discussed the matter frankly except for one detail—the names of the officials who got the money. He said he would be able to prove he paid out the money, but that revenue agents will not accept his proof unless he tells who got it.

Walton defended his payment of the "commissions" as routine expenditures, expected of any one who gets official stenographic work from public officials hereabout. Coroner Walsh, in discussing the case, indicated that the practice of "kicking back" has been in force for some years. The coroner has the largest appropriation of any county or city official for stenographic reports, $62,000 this year.

An "Ordinary Practice."

"It's an ordinary practice in the business," declared Walton. "I make 18 to 19 per cent profit on the average reporting job. I'm willing to pay up to 10 per cent commission to any one who brings me the business.

"The items which the government questioned on my 1934 return were two payments of $11,000 and $4,458. One I made direct to a county official, and what makes me mad is that I know that he paid an income tax on it, listing it as miscellaneous income, and I know that the revenue agents know he paid, yet are trying to collect a second tax from me.

"The other sum of $4,458 was paid to another official, who was supposed to turn it over to the man who got the $11,000. I understand that the middleman recently settled that matter with the bureau of internal revenue.

Paid in Tax Warrants.

"I'm sure I can prove that I paid the money as legitimate business commissions. Why, the withdrawals from the bank were labeled 'commissions' at the time. The money was commissions on about three years' work in the county building. I didn't pay for three years because I was paid in tax warrants, and waited until I cashed the warrants to pay the commissions.

"Hereafter I'm going to pay the tax on them myself, but I won't do it this time. I'm going to appeal the ruling to the board of tax appeals. I've been down to Washington on the matter already."

Another county official besides Coroner Walsh was questioned recently at the federal building on his income tax return, it was learned yesterday. He was not involved, however, in any payments from Walton, so far as could be learned.

The coroner admitted he was questioned by federal agents a short time ago about commissions of $6,000 which Walton allegedly paid him. Such a sum is 10 per cent, approxi-

DOCTORS LOSE BATTLE TO SAVE 6 DAY OLD CHILD

Mother Weeps Over Loss of Son.

Julian Tafel Jr., 6 days old, who was born with a malformed intestine, died last night in the Danish-American hospital at 1615 North Kostner avenue. His death came 28 hours after surgeons operated in an effort to save his life. The baby was too weak to survive the surgical shock and the resulting complications.

For five days the child's parents were unable to agree on the need of the operation. Dr. Lewis K. Eastman, chief surgeon at the hospital, refused to perform it without this agreement.

The father, Julian Tafel Sr., a garage mechanic living at 5012 Sunnyside avenue, objected to the surgery, fearing it would leave his son a helpless invalid. The mother, Eva, pleaded for the operation.

Death Follows Operation.

On Tuesday afternoon the father was won over. He consented to the operation and it was performed. The child survived, but yesterday he became weaker and shortly after noon was placed in an oxygen tent. At 6:55 in the evening his condition suddenly grew worse. An hour later he died.

"Well, that is what I have been praying for all day," said the father, who walked into the child's room on the instant that death occurred. "I'm glad."

"I suppose it is all for the best," sobbed Mrs. Tafel, who was surrounded by relatives in her hospital room. "But it is hard to take. It is God's will. But I loved my baby boy."

Story of the Tragedy.

Baby Julian was born last Thursday morning. It was soon apparent that his body lacked an intestinal outlet—a condition which usually can be corrected by a simple operation.

The next morning Dr. Eastman started to perform this operation, but discovered the child's intestinal tract was malformed in such a way that at least two operations would be necessary to correct it.

These operations, according to physicians, are performed on about 25 babies a year in Chicago, but they must be done shortly after birth.

Tells Parents of Situation.

On Friday morning Dr. Eastman told the parents of the complication, informed them that the baby might not survive the operation, and if he did, might be handicapped physically.

The father refused to give his consent. Dr. Eastman sought legal advice. He was first told that the consent of both parents was necessary before he could operate. Later he was advised that only one parent need consent.

Then on Tuesday he learned of another legal precedent—that in an emergency a physician may operate to save a life, without approval of either parent. Shortly after this, however, Tafel consented to the operation.

Surgeons Take First Step.

So Dr. Eastman and three other surgeons took the first step, establishing an intestinal drain through the wall of the baby's abdomen. But the effects of five days without proper food and elimination were too much for the child.

After his death last night, Dr. W. L. Kenny, a staff physician at the hospital, who participated in the operation, said:

"In other cases of this type an early operation has been successful. It would have been here, in the absence of other complications, had it been performed within 17 hours after birth. In fact the child could have gone on for two more years, if necessary, before the next operation to restore complete normalcy. [Connecting the intestine with its proper outlet]. But five days without food and no elimination weakened the baby too much."

Dr. Eastman performed an autopsy. He gave as the cause of death uremia.

FAKE LIE DETECTOR IN SCHOOL ROUSES IRE OF NEWARK, N. J.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Disclosure that a faked "lie detector" was used to make boys in a Newark grammar school confess their errors brought tonight the promise of an investigation by the superintendent and a storm of criticism from psychiatrists and parents.

A little black box fashioned from an old radio, with dials and a red bulb that flashes ominously when the pupil lies [or, when the principal thinks he does], the "lie detector" is in the Newton street school. An unseen switch controls the light.

"The little black box is an excellent means of arriving at a point of understanding between pupil and teacher," explained Principal Gray Moreland. "If a child is guilty of a misdemeanor, or a lie or something else, it might react unfortunately if he were not immediately trapped."

"No principal has a right to create a jail atmosphere in a school," said Samuel Goodman, president of the Parent-Teacher council.

G. A. R. Goes on Parade for the Last Time

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The Grand Army of the Republic marched for the last time down Pennsylvania avenue today.

Seventy-one years ago the famous avenue was packed with a river of men and steel for two solid days as President Andrew Johnson reviewed the triumphant troops of the north at the end of the war between the states. There were 2,770,000 men in blue at that time and more than 200,000 of them paraded in the nation's capital.

Today there were fewer than 700 feeble veterans in line and it required less than an hour for them to pass before cheering crowds. They represented the 4,400 survivors of the Union army of 1865.

Last Official Encampment.

Despite the protests of some of the veterans that they intended to get together again in the future, it was officially the last encampment of the G. A. R. Certainly none of them will ever again march along the same route they traversed more than seven decades ago.

Those who marched today were the youngsters of the civil war. Their average age was less than 21 when the war ended. Their average age today was 92, and many of them surrendered to a blazing sun and climbed into automobiles after a few faltering steps.

But others were still erect and soldierly and they smiled as they marched and waved their hands and their hats. Tears were in the eyes of many watchers as the thin and wavering lines went by.

Illinois Department Leads.

The Illinois department came first with a lone drummer out in front.

"I can't go very fast," he said, "but I can still swing a mean pair of drumsticks and I'll get there."

There was some delay before the parade started and the veterans were impatient.

"I came here to march," exclaimed a bent, white bearded soldier in blue. "Lead off there, drummer!"

"There wasn't any fussing in 1865," complained another. "We marched all day long that day."

Move at Slowed Pace.

When the starting gun boomed they moved off jauntily but slowly while the United States army band played at a cadence of 90 paces a minute, 38 slower than the regular army cadence.

It was strictly a Grand Army parade. There were no women, children, or civilians in the column. Some of the elderly marchers had army officers to escort them and they leaned heavily on the arms of their escorts near the end of the parade.

To honor the fighters of '65 the army turned out the officers and men of every available military unit in the vicinity, even breaking up the war games at Fort Meade, Md., to permit two regiments to participate in the march.

Commander to Be Chosen.

The seventieth annual encampment of the G. A. R. will end tomorrow with the election of a new commander in chief to succeed Commander Oley Nelson, who sat in the reviewing stand today.

A Pennsylvanian, C. H. William Ruhe, who ran away from home at the age of 15 to join the Union forces in the civil war, was the leading candidate. Ruhe, who is 87, is the sole survivor of the 4th Pennsylvania cavalry.

RISE OF MILK, BUTTER PRICES IS FORECAST IN WAKE OF DROUTH

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Experts at the agriculture department today said one of the direct results of the drouth was an increase in retail milk and butter prices, affecting millions of consumers. Records of the bureau of agricultural economics showed the retail price of milk advanced from one to two cents a quart in 75 of the largest cities in the country in recent months.

Butter prices kept step with this advance. Retail and wholesale quotations now are about ten cents a pound above the level of September last year, while stocks and production of butter have dipped to new lows for recent years.

A survey of retail milk prices in September showed the average price for 25 cities was 12.13 cents a quart this month, compared with 11.14 cents at this time last year and 11.38 cents last May. The price for 92-score creamery butter at New York was 35.5 cents a pound, compared with 25 cents this time last year.

High butter prices and short supplies in this country already have begun to attract imports as they did after the 1934 drouth. For the 1934-'35 season, beginning in July, more than 22,000,000 pounds of butter was imported.

Only 41 days remain in which to save your country. What are you doing to save it?

ALCAZAR MAKES LAST STAND AS RELIEF NEARS

Spanish Rebels Push Along Toledo Road.

BULLETIN.
[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

MADRID, Sept. 24 (Thursday).—Desperate government soldiers, seeking to block a surging Fascist advance on Madrid, were reported today to have repulsed insurgent assaults by frontal defenses near Maqueda and rear attacks at Oropesa. The "pinching" Socialist movement, the war ministry said, boxed the Fascists between two strong government forces to retard the march on the capital.

BULLETIN.
[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

HENDAYE, France, Sept. 23.—A Madrid radio announcement tonight declared government troops were complete masters of the Alcazar fortress at Toledo. It was asserted 400 loyalist troops stormed the ruins of the Alcazar and captured the last of its half starved defenders who were found crouching in the refectory and kitchens.

BY JAY ALLEN.

TOLEDO, Spain, Sept. 23.—For sixty-four days a band of rebels and their women and children have withstood siege in the Alcazar fortress here.

Some 1,500 persons went into the cellars and dungeons of Spain's West Point. By how many the attacks of government artillery, machine guns, and dynamite has reduced the number is unrevealed outside the fort.

Government forces today opened a final attack on the high hill of the Alcazar—concentrating fire and assaults on the southeast quarter, the only part not completely reduced by shelling. Intermittent machine gun fire from cellar doors and from holes in walls revealed that the rebel cadets are still determined to resist.

A few miles west of Toledo, on the road to Torrijos and Maqueda, government troops entrenched themselves across the highway to resist the advance of Gen. Francisco Franco's grim Fascists, Moors, and Foreign Legionnaires.

The Dynamiter at Work.

Three pictures come to mind out of the blur of this day:

Paco, the dynamiter, standing in an upper window of that loveliest of Renaissance structures, the Hospital de Santa Cruz, languidly hurling packages of twelve sticks of dynamite into what was the Alcazar military governor's palace. He lit the fuse with his cigar and then threw, an Olympic feat, some 40 yards. Between times he was making conversation, telling me how he, twenty years ago, was in the mines in Asturias.

He asked me about the Roman mosaics excavated at Avila, near by. Suddenly he made a plaintive appeal for aspirin.

"I've got a headache," he said.

In the Plaza de Zocodover an abandoned herse with black plumes and all was standing between two armored cars. A militiaman, who had found a wine shop hitherto under rebel fire, appealing hopelessly to a general to let him just take one sackful, only one, to the boys.

Third, there was Luiz Quintanilla, the painter, who has become a kind of general, standing at a corner of the Plaza de Zocodover behind sandbags trying to spot a machine gun nest with glasses and turning suddenly to say:

"This used to be a café. One where we had beans and shrimps that night with Ernest Hemingway, Elliott Paul and Ruth [Mrs. Allen] and went to see 'Camille' after the bullfight the day when Domingo Ortega was so lousy. And we drove home stopping at all the saloons. . . ."

He ducked. That time a sightseer got it in the neck.

Later we went on a tour of the front. In the car he said:

"Paradoxical, is it not, an artist taking part in the destruction of one of the most beautiful things in the world? But thank God we and not they are in the Hospital de Santa Cruz—which is worth a hundred Alcazars artistically."

Plan Madrid Attack.
[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

TALAVERA DE LA REINA, Sept. 23.—Insurgent commanders poised their forces tonight for the final onslaught on Madrid and Toledo, confident the fall of both cities was imminent.

Gen. Francisco Franco's plan, officers said, was to strike from the southwest while Gen. Emilo Mola's forces swarmed down from the Guadarrama mountains in the northwest, forming an arrowhead of fighting men for the final thrust.

Mola's troops were pressing through the Lozoya river valley, north of Madrid, and source of the capital's water supply, in an effort to pass government defenses.

[The Madrid war ministry declared "4,000 of the enemy were annihilated" in a twelve hour battle near Somosierra—the mountain pass opening into the Lozoya valley.]

West of Madrid, one of Gen. Franco's columns advanced down the road to Toledo and was reported to have come nearly to the outskirts of the hill-protected government city.

Far east of the key town of Maqueda, controling the highway junction between Madrid and Toledo on the Talavera route, the Fascists concentrated on the next important town, Navalcarnero, only about 18 miles from Madrid.

Bomb Madrid Roads.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LISBON [By Phone from Talavera], Sept. 23.—From dawn to dusk today Gen. Franco's air fleet bombed and machine gunned the roads between Madrid and Toledo to completely isolate the two cities before launching an assault on Toledo, first objective before cutting the last remaining communications between the beleaguered capital and the coast line.

In addition to dropping food and encouraging messages to the cadets besieged in the Alcazar, planes also bombed the Red positions at the outskirts of Toledo itself in an attempt to keep the leftist militia on the move.

Gen. Franco's left column was driving across flat country parallel to the Madrid-Torrijos railroad in an attempt to cut eastern road communication between Madrid and Ciudad Real, from which the southern Reds are threatening a flank attack. Only a few miles beyond lies the virtually unprotected vital railroad junction of Castillejo, through which passes the only remaining rail line between Madrid and the coast line.

Loyalists on Short Rations.

MADRID, Sept. 23.—(AP)—With underfed and underarmed government forces falling back toward Madrid, the war ministry tonight announced that news from the various fronts was "most optimistic."

[Reports reaching London said that new censorship rulings of the Madrid government were cutting essentials out of dispatches. Protests were being made that the new censorship was "senseless and unreasonable."]

There was no specific announcement forthcoming from the Santa Cruz del Retamar front, west of Madrid, where, before the censorship was clamped down, dispatches said the government forces had not eaten a hot meal in 11 days. For the last three days, these dispatches said, the militiamen had subsisted and fought on a diet of watermelons and grapes.

Frame Defense Plan.

How close the swift Fascist advance was to Madrid tonight, the war ministry did not say, but the newspaper El Libertad proclaimed: "We did not say 'they shall not pass'—we said 'they shall not enter Madrid.'"

Gen. José Asensio, commander of all government troops in central Spain, mapped a two point military campaign with his aides:

Strengthening of their lines near Santa Cruz with a subsequent offensive by which they hoped to force the insurgents back along the Talavera-Madrid highway into the path of a protected government attack by forces of Gen. Julio Mangada, who was reported to have broken through the Fascist rear guard at Oropesa, 20 miles west of Talavera de la Reina.

An onslaught southeast of Torrijos to complete a triangular drive against the insurgents.

Rebels Approach Bilbao.

SAINT JEAN DE LUZ, France, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Insurgent forces tonight occupied Cestona, near the government's last line of resistance around Bilbao, on the far northern front of the Spanish civil war. Cestona is ten miles from Deva, on the Bay of Biscay, and gives the Fascists a base almost halfway between San Sebastian and Bilbao.

Reinforcing the westward thrust along the coast, another column of insurgent troops drove north from Vitoria, in the inland of Guipuzcoa province, in a converging movement. It occupied Puerto de Arlaban and Salinos de Leniz in its drive to meet the other column on the Bay of Biscay.

The main column pushed on in the hope of taking Deva, a strategic port at the mouth of the Deva river, and spreading from there to Ondarrea, where the defense line ends at the water's edge. The Vitorio column meanwhile aimed to strike at Eibar, the opposite extremity of the Socialist line. Fewer than two thousand men composed the government's defense. The steady Fascist advance has been averaging more than twelve miles a day.

REBELS PUSH FORWARD TO MADRID

The inset map of Spain indicates by the dark square the area covered in the large map, and also, by the arrow, the direction of the northern rebel attack against Bilbao.

The rebels in a nine weeks' campaign have opened for themselves all highway and rail communications of western Spain. In the present campaign from the west the rebels are driving [1] against Toledo, [2] against the Madrid defense at Santa Cruz del Retamar. Another rebel force [3] is attempting to cut the loyalists off in the rear at Navalcarnero, only 18 miles from Madrid. This force is also in the region of the Alberche power dam, main source of the capital's electric supply.

At the same time the northern rebel army has renewed its campaign to break through the Guadarrama mountains and has opened attacks [4] at Navalperal, skirting the edge of the chain; through the passes Alta de Leon and Somosierra. The Somosierra column is aiming at the Lozoya river valley, the source of Madrid's water supply. Another column from Burgos is pressing around the northeastern fringe of the mountains, attempting to advance on Guadalajara from Medinaceli.

For several weeks Madrid has had open communications—[6] and [7]—only to the southeast and the Mediterranean coastal cities, depending principally on Valencia and Alicante. The rebels are seeking to drive a wedge from Torrijos to Aranjuez, important rail and highway junction on the Tagus river, cutting Madrid's communications to the south and practically cutting off the capital from the rest of Spain.

Rebel planes have wrecked the five arch railway bridge over the Guadarrama river at Bargas, cutting Madrid's main rail line to western Spain. It is believed planes will be assigned the work of cutting bridges, rail lines, and highways all the way to the Valencia road [6].

MADRID BEGINS TRIAL OF EX-DICTATOR'S SON, ONCE BELIEVED DEAD

MADRID, Sept. 23.—(AP)—A son of Gen. Miguel Primo de Rivera, late Spanish dictator, today came back from the "dead." He is Fernando Primo de Rivera, whose father ruled Spain with almost supreme power for six years until shortly before his death in 1930.

The son, several times reported to have been executed in Madrid where he was held in jail, proved he was among the living when he went on trial with eight others on charges of attempted assault on the official Madrid radio station. Among those standing trial with him were his cousin, Federico Primo de Rivera.

Another son of the late dictator, José Antonio Primo de Rivera, leader of Spanish Fascists, remained unaccounted for after being variously reported missing "somewhere in Spain," in Alicante prison, and in Madrid jail.

REPORT SUCCESS IN FIGHT AGAINST FATAL BLEEDING

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—At the hospital today they said 12 year old Albert Bocca, son of an unemployed truck driver, was "very much better."

On that announcement hung not only the happy ending of a drama of life and death, but discovery of a possible cure as well for haemophilia, the dread bleeding disease.

Doctors gave Alfonso, count of Covadonga, once heir to the throne of Spain, his thirteenth blood transfusion, and watched the thrilling effort to save young Bocca.

Young Bocca, doomed to bleed to death, his case given up as hopeless in another hospital, the last rites of the church given him, was on the mend after injections of a chemical compound doctors have been working on for fifteen years.

"Albert is very much better," said Dr. J. C. Fisk. "There's no mystery about it. We have been working for fifteen years on a chemical combination that would replenish the blood with the elements necessary to combat haemophilia. We have had several good results."

or poisoning due to lack of elimination.

"There was another complication we discovered which we did not know of before," added Dr. Kenny after the autopsy, modifying his earlier statement. "This would have meant eventual death for the child, with nothing we could do to stop it. He lacked a normal urinary system, and there was a poisonous seepage from the colon [large intestine] into the bladder."

Soon after the death of the baby Tafel arranged for the funeral services. They will be held today in the chapel at 2752 Diversey avenue, with burial in St. Joseph cemetery.

Father a Court Witness.

During the day Tafel appeared before Judge Justin F. McCarthy in the Des Plaines street court as a prosecuting witness against Frank Carroll, 32 years old, 4227 North St. Louis avenue, a business agent for the Auto Mechanics' union, local 701, who was charged with assault.

Taffel said threats by union agents had alarmed his wife and in his opinion had caused the malformation of their baby. This remark was later stricken from the record on objection of defense attorneys.

LITTLE REPUBLIC OF ANDORRA CONSIDERS SEEKING FRENCH AID

PARIS, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The vest pocket republic of Andorra, fearing that Spanish invaders might sweep into its haven among the peaks of the eastern Pyrenees, today considered appealing to France for protection.

Jealous guardians of the state's centuries old independence, the 24 man council general reviewed the situation following upon continued threats by Spanish anarchists to enter the republic and install a leftist régime.

Dispatches from Perpignan, France, stated the council had indicated it might send a petition for French aid later if the situation became worse before winter snows block the way from France. Andorra, with a population of few more than 5,000, has a slender force of seven armed policemen and a National Guard of 600 mountaineers. The republic has enjoyed sovereignty for at least 650 years and is considered by some authorities as probably the last survivor of the independent states set up by Charlemagne.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Rohde Is 'Doing Nicely'; Leg in Cast

Washington, Ind., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, former United States minister to Denmark, who received a broken leg here Monday night, was reported late today by her physician to be "doing nicely." The leg was placed in a cast today.

CLAIM PORTUGAL IN DEAL TO GIVE AZORES TO NAZIS

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Generally credited reports that if the Fascist rebels win control of Spain they will cede the Balearic Islands to Italy and the Canaries to Germany in payment for the support which those countries are affording them were supplemented here today by the assertion that Germany is also to get the Azores from Portugal as an additional reward.

This story was brought to London by a delegation of labor members of parliament on their return from a mission of inquiry in Spain. They got it from Izdalecio Prieto, minister of the admiralty and air in the new Spanish cabinet, who assured them he knew that agreements already had been signed between the Spanish rebels and representatives of Italy, Germany and Portugal. The Azores are a third of the way across the Atlantic from Lisbon to New York.

According to Spanish authorities, Portugal is to be compensated for her western islands by receiving from Spain a portion of Galicia province contiguous to the northern Portuguese frontier. Further satisfaction for the Fascist government of Lisbon may be in the form of assurances from Berlin that in Germany's future quest for colonies she will not seize any Portuguese possessions in Africa.

Spanish Ship with 400 Aboard Missing 3 Weeks

GIBRALTAR, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The Spanish steamer Genoveva of 1,800 tons registry and carrying 400 passengers has been missing since Sept. 2, when it left Santander for Valencia, it was learned today. The International Red Cross asked from Madrid that inquiries be made as to whether it had been captured by insurgents.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Sept. 15.—[By Courier to Paris, Uncensored.]—There are now in this capital 130 foreign aviators—French, anti-Nazi Germans, anti-Fascist Italians and British communists—all commanded by a Frenchman.

In addition to fighting with the loyal government forces at the front, these foreign aviators are supposed to instruct student flyers at Barajas and Cuatro Vientos, on the outskirts of this capital. It appears, however, better instruction is needed, for eleven government planes were brought down by rebels in a single week, and in the same period eight were smashed by inexperienced pilots.

The Spanish air force had long been in need of reorganization. At the outbreak of the civil war the regular army pursuit planes were machines that had been in service in 1923 during the riff revolt. At the outbreak of hostilities the army had about 200 machines. The army air force had 400 officers, 300 specialists and 3,000 men in other ranks.

[Pro-Nazi German and pro-Fascist Italian aviators also are serving in the ranks of the Spanish rebels. While it has not been proved that these flyers were sent to Spain by the German and Italian governments, it has been charged that Berlin and Rome do not look with disfavor upon their activities.]

ETHIOPIA SEATED BY LEAGUE; WINS OVER MUSSOLINI

Fascist Conquest Goes Unrecognized.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Sept. 23.—The league of nations assembly today refused to recognize the nonexistence of Haile Selassie's empire of Ethiopia. The assembly nations, big and little, voted to seat the Ethiopian delegates by the overwhelming count of 39 to 4.

The action of the assembly was a slap in the face for Premier Mussolini, who has refused to allow Italian delegates to attend the assembly sessions or otherwise support the league program until the Ethiopians are barred and the Fascist conquest of Ethiopia thereby is tacitly recognized.

Italy May Resign.

There was speculation tonight as to whether Il Duce, angered by the league action, might withdraw formally from Geneva. It was agreed that important political developments are likely.

The four nations who voted against seating the Ethiopians were Hungary, Austria, and Albania, Italian satellite states, and Ecuador. Ethiopia and five other countries did not vote.

Portugal was one of those abstaining. Diplomats pounced on the abstention as proof of a long suspected Italo-Portuguese deal, since Portugal, an old ally of Great Britain, has hitherto actively opposed Rome.

The ardent support accorded the Ethiopian case by Great Britain and France occasioned some surprise, since it was believed they regarded the coöperation of Italy with consequent beneficial effects on European peace as of more value than satisfaction of Ethiopian demands.

"Nonsense!" Cries Eden.

It was rather startling to veteran diplomats, therefore, when Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, leaped to his feet during the heated and highly dramatic seating debate to exclaim:

"Enough of this nonsense! There never has been any sufficient ground to unseat the Ethiopian delegation."

The smaller powers have been fighting vigorously for Ethiopia ever since the dispute with Italy began, seeing in league submission to Italy's will the ripping away of their own flimsy security fences. Representatives of several of the lesser states are reported to have gone so far today as to threaten to resign from the league unless the Africans were seated.

Abandon World Court Plan.

The assembly's credentials committee, in recommending the seating of the Ethiopian delegation, announced that it had finally decided to give up the idea of referring the dispute to the world court for decision.

Committee spokesmen pointed out that the present action would apply only to the present annual session of the assembly and that it would in no way "prejudice the future."

The committee report asserted that certain documents which had been received by the members alleged that Ethiopian governmental authority has been set up in sections of Ethiopia not occupied by the Italians. The report added:

"It seems exceptionally difficult to judge the nature and extent of power of that authority and the strength of the connection still existing between it and the head of the state."

The assembly decision was accepted by the Ethiopians "with gratitude." Tonight crowds assembled below the hotel rooms of Haile Selassie and shouted their approval of his victorious fight.

Italy to Snub League.

ROME, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The league of nations decision today to seat representatives of Ethiopia prevents the attendance of an Italian delegation, an authoritative source said tonight. This means, it was said, that Italy would fall back on her declared policy of proceeding "without the league" if she were not enabled to collaborate with it.

In some quarters it was held that Mussolini's reply to the league vote would be absolute resignation from the league. This expressed belief, however, received no official confirmation.

Ethiopian Envoy Goes Italian.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 23.—Haile Selassie of Ethiopia today lost the support of Wolde Mariam, his former minister to Paris. Mariam announced his acceptance of the sovereignty of Victor Emmanuel as emperor of Ethiopia and said he will return to Ethiopia.

Actress to Wed Band Leader

Ceremony Saturday

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Blonde Ann Sothern of the films and dark haired Roger Pryor, actor and orchestra leader, told friends they will be married Saturday night in a Beverly Hills church.

After the ceremony the couple will fly to Chicago, where Pryor's band is to appear.

Pryor, 33, is the son of Arthur Pryor, well known band leader. He has been married once. In addition to his orchestra work he has played important rôles on the stage and screen.

Miss Sothern, who is 25, was born in Valley City, N. D. She began her career on the stage. This is her first marriage.

Senator Nye Hurt When Auto Strikes Drove of Pigs

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 23.—(AP)—United States Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota and a companion suffered minor injuries tonight when their automobile smashed into a drove of pigs near Edgeley, catapulted off the road, and turned over twice. With the senator was John Andrews of St. Paul, newspaper man and acting secretary for Mr. Nye. He was knocked unconscious.

Paroled Convict Seized; Tosses Aside a Loaded Gun

Richard Brady, 24 years old, 549 West 43d street, a paroled convict from the Joliet penitentiary, was arrested last night by Policeman John Reed, who stopped an automobile in which he was riding at South Park way and 60th street. As the car slid to a stop Reed said Brady tossed a loaded revolver on the curb. He was held for investigation.

MRS. ROOSEVELT DEFENDS ALIEN IN PEANUT BUSINESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt again today came to the rescue of Steve Vasilakos, peanut vendor outside the White House, who was ordered from his usual stand several days ago when police accused him of violating several trafic regulations.

The corner where Vasilakos has been parking his cart for several years is a busy one and the vendor wages a lucrative business there. Other street vendors are not allowed around the White House, and police on several occasions have chased away world war veterans who attempted to sell their wares.

The veterans protested that there seemed to be no reason why Vasilakos should be permitted on the corner when they were not permitted to stay. They pointed out, moreover, that Vasilakos, although he came to this country from Greece 30 years ago, never has bothered to take out citizenship papers, and remains an alien.

Once before Mrs. Roosevelt interceded successfully with police for Vasilakos. When he was barred last week, Vasilakos again wrote to Mrs. Roosevelt. The first lady wrote from her sick bed to Stephen Early, assistant secretary to the President, asking him to see that Vasilakos was restored to his corner.

PARIS THEATERS HALVE PRICES TO REGAIN BUSINESS

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 23.—Rumors that the two-week delay in opening the Paris theater season was caused by the managers' refusal to accept governmental regulation of box office prices was denied today by Max Maurey, head of the organization of theater directors.

Since the opening of the season about a week ago admission prices have been reduced to almost half of last year's figures. This, Maurey explained, was an experiment to try to counteract the $5,000 loss that average-sized shows anticipated as a result of the social laws requiring more employés, higher wages and suppressing the payments by ushers for the privilege of working. Ushers now receive salaries and have given up the custom of tipping.

The government-operated Sarah Bernhardt theater, which was substituted for the burned Opera house, has been so successful with low prices that private theaters decided to follow its example.

WPA MAY MOVE GARBAGE; CITY BUDGET SHORT

Payment of 1931 Wage Cut Causes Crisis.

Because Chicago has been forced to pay $1,530,711 out of the 1936 appropriation to employés to make up for salary cuts in 1931, the city may have to depend on Works Progress administration labor for the collection of garbage and the cleaning of streets from Oct. 1 until next year.

This was revealed when Ald. John [Bathhouse] Coughlin [1st] introduced a resolution at yesterday's special council meeting protesting against a proposal to lay off 200 city laborers and 11 section foremen in his ward on Oct. 1.

Coughlin estimated that the layoff throughout the city would total 1,800 men in the street department, but it was learned that 600 additional men, making a total of 2,400, will have to go because of the shortage in the 1936 appropriation.

Deficit Exceeds Two Million.

Robert B. Upham, city controler, recently sent a letter to all city department heads stating that the city had been forced to pay out $2,045,379 more than it had expected this year, because of the back salary repayments and permanent vote registration. He said that every effort must be made to compensate for this money by reduced departmental expenditures during the remainder of the year. Oscar Hewitt, public service commissioner, was asked to save $1,041,000 of this amount.

Ald. James Bowler [25th] told Ald. Coughlin that efforts were being made to have the WPA pay the street cleaning and garbage removal to employés on the city pay roll instead of to relief employés and assured him that a meeting of the finance committee would be called to thrash out matters before the first of the month.

Mayor Deplores Situation.

"We are sorry that city employés must be laid off," Mayor Kelly said, "but it is better to have the garbage removed by WPA employés than not to have it removed at all. It is particularly unfortunate that the men we must discharge have little apparent chance of getting on the WPA pay roll."

The trouble for the city started last year when fifty-two judges and former municipal judges led a mandamus fight to compel the city council to give them two weeks' pay deducted from all city employés' salaries in 1931. The city was forced by an order of the Supreme court to give them and 1,084 Municipal court employés $703,000.

After the decision in favor of the municipal judges Mayor Kelly last April ordered that the pay deductions be restored to all civil service employés of the city who had suffered salary losses in 1931.

TELLS SECRET ROMANCE WITH STRAUB WIDOW

Electrician on Stand in Insurance Suit.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Peter Brickie, ruddy faced electrician of 51, leaned back in a witness chair yesterday and told of a decade of friendship with Melba Straub, whose husband, Louis, was murdered mysteriously on Feb. 2, 1935.

Brickie's long affair with Mrs. Straub—and his efforts to conceal it after the murder of Straub—brought drama into a hearing before Federal Master in Chancery Jacob I. Grossman on a civil action to determine whether Mrs. Straub or her late husband's brother, Ernest, and two nephews will receive the $20,410 insurance on his life. The brother is presenting evidence in an effort to show that Mrs. Straub killed her husband so as to disqualify her from receiving the insurance.

Waits for Wife to Appear.

The gray haired electrician had been scheduled to testify in the morning, but asked that he not be called until his wife, Louise, who has a $100,000 alienation suit pending against Mrs. Straub, was in court.

But when Mrs. Brickie, large, middle-aged and dressed in dark blue, arrived she was excluded from the hearing because she also is a witness. Mrs. Straub, however, was present.

Brickie, questioned by Theodore L. Hardeen Jr., attorney for Ernest Straub, said he had been an intimate friend of Mrs. Straub since 1927. He went to see her on Feb. 10, a week after Straub's murder at the Saddle and Cycle club to ask her to conceal their relationship.

Asks Her to Deny Affair.

"When I went in her flat," he testified, "she said: 'My God, who could do this terrible thing?' [kill her husband], and I said, 'Listen here, why don't you say we had nothing to do with each other in a social way? If you get arrested, or I do, say that I was only around to make repairs around the place, not socially.'"

"And that was the purpose of your going to the Straub home?" Attorney Harold Levy, counsel for the widow, asked.

"Yes, sir," Brickie replied.

Q.—What made you think you might be arrested in this case? A.—Because of the fact that we had been associated.

Troubled by his conscience, Brickie said he turned informer in the matter and went to Lieut. Axel Jansen, a policeman, to tell what he knew of Mrs. Straub, and to tell that she had a .380 automatic pistol in her possession. Her husband was killed by a gun of this caliber.

Mrs. Straub is expected to take the stand today. So is Mrs. Brickie.

ROOSEVELT AND LANDON'S TALKS ON ONE PROGRAM

Hamilton and Farley Sit Together.

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The presidential candidates of both major parties and of five minor parties presented their interpretations of the 1936 campaign issues before the sixth annual Forum on Current Problems under the auspices of the New York Herald-Tribune today.

President Roosevelt, speaking by radio from his house at Hyde Park, brought the forum to a close as he has done for the last three years. On this occasion, however, he was introduced both as President of the United States and as the Democratic candidate for the presidency.

Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, Republican candidate for the presidency, sent a message, which was read earlier in the evening from the platform by Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, his eastern campaign manager.

Hoover Ends One Session.

Former President Herbert Hoover, in an address on the administration of relief, brought the afternoon session to a close. Also on the platform at the same time, chatting amiably as they waited their turns to speak, were the rival campaign generals, John Hamilton and James A. Farley.

Four minority nominees described their party platforms at the morning session, Earl Browder for the Communists, Norman Thomas for the Socialists, John W. Aiken for the Socialist Labor party, and D. Leigh Colvin for the Prohibition party. Representative William Lemke, the Union party's candidate, was to have appeared on this program also, but was detained by fog on his way from St. Louis by airplane and did not reach the hotel until afternoon, when room was made for him on the schedule.

Throughout the day there was great interest in all phases of the political discussions, but following the request of Mrs. William Brown Meloney, chairman of the forum, the demonstrations of partisanship were unusually restrained. An occasional burst of laughter, a few political titters—once a hiss—interrupted the speakers, but applause for the most part was confined to the beginning and end of each speech.

Landon Raps Spending.

The Republican nominee attacked New Deal extravagance and waste and criticized the "narrow nationalism" of its planned economy. His message was cheered as enthusiastically as was the spoken voice of the President.

In these troubled times when human rights are being trampled in the dust in Europe and when "our own traditions are being questioned," Landon declared, the women of America must help in making "the great national decisions that affect so vitally not only their own welfare but the welfare of their children."

"A democracy cannot live in the dark," he declared. "Only tyranny and absolutism can proceed under the shadow of the censor."

During the emergency which confronted the Roosevelt administration in 1933, Gov. Landon said, the people of the country were ready to excuse the mistakes due to the need for haste and experimentation. Republicans, he said, were in sympathy with the aims of the administration, but when it came to the "hard practical details," and the results, he declared, "we Americans, both Republicans and Democrats, part company with the New Deal."

He asserted that the waste, extravagances and reckless experimentation of the early days of the New Deal had been continued until they were fastened upon Washington as "the habitual thriftlessness of a prodigal government of ever spending burocrats." The budget could not be balanced nor taxes be reduced, he said, until government expenditures were curtailed. If he were elected, he asserted, he would economize "without injury to the legitimate functions of government or injustice to the needy and unemployed."

Need to Know Freedom.

"A high degree of public understanding of the meaning of our constitutional right to freedom of religion, freedom of education, freedom of speech and a free press is essential to the continuation of true liberalism," Mr. Landon said. "With the tide toward race prejudice and absolutism abroad in the world, it is important that we jealously guard our freedom in these respects."

The administration's "narrow nationalism," Mr. Landon said, was "not good economics," nor conducive to social justice and the higher standards of life. Rather it tended to "direct the lives of the people," and "convert the nations of the world into armed camps." In turning his back upon the London economic conference of 1933, Gov. Landon said, President Roosevelt "set back the cause of peace by many years." He added:

"I am for that economic coöperation with other nations which will fully protect America's interest. I pledge practical support for the peaceful settlement of international disputes through arbitration and negotiation."

Roosevelt Assails Rancor.

President Roosevelt appealed to the people of the nation to abjure prejudice and rancor and apply "calm deliberation and clear thinking," to the national problems.

The President's address, in which he urged the newspaper publishers of the country to assist in substituting logic for prejudice by restricting opinion to the editorial pages of their papers, was broadcast over an extensive network from his home in Hyde Park. Three thousand women, representing women clubs from all parts of the country formed the audience at the Forum.

Urges More Forums.

Praising the forum idea as an excellent medium for the building of tolerance of opinion, President Roosevelt expressed the hope that the "country be covered with forums."

"It is not likely," he said in his broadcast message, "that such a brief expression of a point of view as is possible on such an occasion as this will persuade the convinced political partisan to change his or her position, but it may start such people to thinking and convey the idea that prejudice is a rather weak substitute for logic in determining the questions that are of such vital consequence.

"It is natural, I suppose, in a campaign year, for advocates and adversaries of any policy of government to relapse into exaggeration and invective, and so becloud the controversy as to make it possible for the future of the country to be determined in rancor and temper instead of by calm deliberation and clear thinking.

Press Can Improve It.

"I believe that it is within the power and province of the press to make whatever improvement is possible. I do not think that anybody objects to a statement of opinion or an argument, being put forth in the editorial pages, provided the editorials do not contain misstatements of fact.

"I may be accused of idealism when I suggest that a Republican reader of a Democratic newspaper is entitled to all the news that appertains to his segment of the political landscape and that a Democratic reader of a Republican newspaper should not be fed exclusively on a Republican diet. I would apply the same idealism to the headlines.

"The forum idea, conducted impartially, is an indication of the objective which most fairminded people seek.

No Wish to "Muzzle."

"In the welter of passion which is apparently still inseparable from our political campaigns, you and I hear about the liberty of the press—regimentation of the press against the government and regimentation of the press by the government.

"It is doubtful if the United States ever had an administration since the days when Washington was accused of despotism that had the slightest desire to muzzle anybody. The unchecked virulence of assaults on almost every administration since the beginning of our history in itself is best proof of that statement.

"The time may come when the policies of the nation will be determined with serenity and logic, but I must reluctantly confess that we have not reached that day."

Hoover Scores Relief.

Former President Herbert Hoover delivered a militant address in which his principal theme was that present methods of administering relief are undermining the self-respect of American citizens and creating contempt for government.

"Relief must go on so long as there is need for it," the former President said, "but we cannot contemplate nation-wide calamity as a permanent part of the life of our country. Therefore, national relief from calamity is, by the nature of things, an emergency matter.

"The only remedy lies in nonpolitical direction and complete decentralization of administration into the hands of leading men and women of each state and community."

He compared the present relief methods with those from 1930 to 1932, when communities handled the problem, saying that there were then "no daily headlines of fraud," politics, waste, corruption, or failure to prevent hunger or cold.

Hamilton Backs Platform.

Mr. Hamilton told his auditors that his party's platform was "primarily concerned with the genuine welfare of the American men and women" and that it proposes to "advance that welfare in a very definite and specific way." Chairman Farley, on the other hand, devoted his address largely to a defense of the Roosevelt administration against charges that it has disregarded the pledges of the 1932 Democratic platform.

It was the first meeting of the two national chairmen since the campaign started. They sat side by side on the platform, congratulated each other on their speeches, and posed together for pictures.

Hear Col. Breckinridge.

As an interlude between the Landon message and the Roosevelt address the delegates listened to a discussion on "the constitution and the Supreme court," by Charles A. Beard, the historian, and Col. Henry Breckinridge, a former Democrat who is allied with the anti-Roosevelt forces, who was introduced to the audience as a spokesman for "the Republican party."

Thomas, the Socialist, charged that Browder "heads a ticket, but here in New York a great many of his party, at his direction, are working in a Labor party, which is explicitly pledged to Roosevelt and Lehman. His own fight is against Landon, and his campaign is in direct aid to Roosevelt, although for reasons quite different from those stated by W. R. Hearst in his efforts falsely to tack a socialist or communist label to Mr. Roosevelt."

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins asserted that in the last four years improvements initiated during the Roosevelt administration have absorbed back into industry some 6 million workers, whose incomes have increased factory pay rolls by 70 million dollars a week, and 3 million persons in relief work are producing institutions necessary to civilized life, such as schools, roads, dams, parks, and playgrounds.

Taft Challenges View.

Charles P. Taft, attorney and labor conciliator, followed with a challenge to her statements on the present good conditions and prospects of labor.

Similarly opposite views were forthcoming from Arthur A. Ballantine, formerly undersecretary of the United States treasury, who sketched the Republican perspective, and F. M. Law, former president of the American Bankers' association, who spoke from the convention of bankers at Los Angeles.

Among other speakers were Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, former Gov. Theodore Christianson of Minnesota, and Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator.

SINGER TO WED

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Torch Singer Frances Maddux is going to be married again, she announced today, just a week after she returned from London. The man is Paul Reese, 39, a bachelor, now employed in the treasury department at Washington. He used to be a vaudeville singer.

The wedding will be held at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Belmont at Rumson, N. J.

Often called society's favorite songbird, Miss Maddux was formerly married to John P. Martin of Chicago. Ten years ago they were divorced.

HAMILTON ASSAILS ROOSEVELT FOR USE OF RADICAL ELECTOR

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Chairman John D. M. Hamilton of the Republican national committee tonight challenged President Roosevelt to have the name of David Dubinsky, president of the International Lady Garment Workers' union, removed from the list of Democratic presidential electors from this state.

Chairman Hamilton pronounced the presence of Dubinsky's name on the New York list of Democratic electors "an affront to the voters of America." He gave as his ground contributions sent by the prominent labor leader to Spanish communists. Mr. Hamilton said:

"How long, Mr. Roosevelt, do you intend to affront the voters of America by retaining as one of your presidential electors on the Democratic ballot in New York a man who rendered financial aid to communists in Spain so that they might continue to horrify the civilized world with their murders of clergymen and their pillaging of churches?

"The presidential elector I refer to, Mr. Roosevelt, is Mr. David Dubinsky, a former member of the Socialist party. Mr. Dubinsky sent $5,000 to Spanish communists and boasted of raising $78,000 more."

NO SEATS HELD, RULE FOR LANDON TALK HERE OCT. 9

When Gov. Landon speaks in the Chicago Stadium on Oct. 9 the best seats will go to the early arrivals. There will be no reserved seats except on the platform.

"There would be many complaints if the spectators' seats were reserved," said County Chairman Edward F. Moore yesterday, "and the committee on arrangements voted to open the doors early and let the people in as they arrive. Gov. Landon's speech is now scheduled for 9 o'clock and the doors probably will be opened at 7 o'clock."

Perry B. McCullough, chairman of the Republican state central committee, said throngs of Republicans will come to the meeting from downstate Illinois and from nearby states.

Speaks in Milwaukee on Saturday Night.

has anything to fear if Gov. Landon is elected.

"In a conference with Gov. Landon I was impressed by his personality, his sincerity, and his anxiety to serve, if elected President, in the most effective way. He is, I believe, a man who will not ignore party pledges. I believe that while he will listen to suggestions, he has the courage to do the thing he thinks will be right. His background would indicate this. The impression he made was excellent."

George N. Peek, former AAA administrator and later head of the export import bank, under President Roosevelt, also called on Gov. Landon. He came to talk with him regarding the Minneapolis speech. Mr. Peek has made speeches in opposition to the administration's foreign trade policy, but he has not yet declared himself for Landon. He did not do so today.

"It was a very good speech," he said, referring to the governor's farm speech last night. "I will decide whom I will support after tomorrow night's speech in Minneapolis. I will not make a statement on this, however, until next week.

Bound Up with Trade.

"The farm problem cannot be separated from foreign trade. We can find an outlet for our farm products if we really trade. There is no doubt that the reciprocal trade treaties have had a bad effect on the Democratic party's position."

The resentment of the live stock and dairy farmers of the northwest to the effect of the Canadian treaty is given as one of the causes for Republican hope in Minnesota and Wisconsin. The decision of the Republican managers to have Gov. Landon spend two days campaigning in this country indicates that they consider their chances good there.

Gov. Landon spent today in his hotel suite receiving delegations of farmers and state political workers. He said that his chances in Iowa looked "bright."

At noon the governor was a guest at luncheon of 300 Iowa state editors and invited farmers, one from each of the ninety-nine counties. He spoke briefly at this luncheon and met each one of the editors and farmers. In recalling the part that Iowa has played in forming agricultural policies, he spoke of "Tama Jim" Wilson and Ed Meredith, former secretaries of agriculture. Then he said:

"And you have a present secretary of agriculture, Henry Wallace."

The luncheon guests laughed and Landon continued: "He has done some good things. He is to be complimented on taking advantage of the Iowa warehousing act, permitting him to make commodity loans. I submitted a similar act to the Kansas legislature and it was passed. It is now our belief that a federal warehousing act may be effective. This is an instance of the value of the states as laboratories."

Sees Midwest Deciding.

The Des Moines Register, which keeps in close touch with rural political trends in the state, said this morning of the Landon speech:

"It was well recognized before the campaign started that the middle west would likely decide the result. It was that and that alone which made Landon's nomination possible—and a new control of the Republican machinery. It is a novel experience for this region to be reaping the gains of a balance of power status. That is a status which intelligent Iowans do not want to abuse. It is now but a just compensation for a lean past, in which the agrarian hinterland was treated by both parties as an unloved stepchild [agriculture itself as the Cinderella of industries] that we should now witness a political competition of raising the ante between the two parties.

"The guns in the last few days that the President has fired from Washington, in an obvious attempt to anticipate what Gov. Landon was thought likely to propose, have been spiked rather effectively.

"So the Landon declarations may assure him Iowa's electoral vote. They will certainly increase his strength in this state tremendously. Whether they will have equal effects in other areas is for the prophets to say."

WOMAN OCEAN FLYER SAILS FOR HOMELAND ABOARD QUEEN MARY

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Beryl Clutterbuck Markham, whose recent solo flight from London to New York ended in a crash in Nova Scotia, sailed for home today on the Queen Mary.

As a result of her flight, she revealed, she has been employed as "ambassador" by the manufacturers of a preparation which makes clothing waterproof.

Mrs. Markham wore a very good looking black suit and was hatless, her long blonde bob in deep waves. She wore three gardenias on her shoulder.

Mrs. Markham spoke of a possible future flight from New York to Paris, but said it was very vague. She regretted that she was not returning by air, saying that she would prefer flying any day to steamer voyage, as she is not a good sailor.

Another passenger was John Masefield, poet laureate of England, who attended the Harvard tercentenary. The British Walker cup team also left for home on the Queen Mary.

Fined $5 for Speeding.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Beryl Markham, 33 year old British aviatrix who flew the Atlantic alone early this month, was fined $5 today for speeding on July 4 at Eltham, on the outskirts of London. A constable said he timed her at 55 miles an hour in a zone where the speed limit was 30 miles an hour. The magistrate ordered a notation on Mrs. Markham's license.

Police Radio Apprehends and Executes Mr. Rodent

Ottawa, Ill., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—When the Ottawa police radio broadcasting system went dead, Stuart Smith, radio engineer, was summoned. After ten minutes Smith told waiting police officers: "This radio not only is good for catching criminals; it also can catch rats." A rat had climbed up to the transmitter, where it was electrocuted, blowing all the fuses in the radio station.

2 TIME HOTEL THIEF CAUGHT IN A SOLO ACT

Blackstone Mystery Is Solved at La Salle.

The mystery of the theft of two valuable watches and $425 from two New York business men as they slept last Sept. 7 in their room at the Blackstone hotel was cleared up yesterday with the arrest of Lawrence F. Horton, 35 years old, a paroled convict from Ohio.

Horton was seized early yesterday by employés of the Hotel La Salle as he took $50 from the clothing of a sleeping guest in a room on the 15th floor. In his possession police found not only the $50 but also the two watches taken in the Blackstone hotel theft.

The Blackstone victims are Stanley A. Brown, chairman of the board of the Brown & Tarcher Advertising agency, 630 Fifth avenue, New York City, and Sidney Solomon, who headed the corporation that operated the former Central Park Casino until it was torn down.

Thief Makes Two Visits.

The two men had taken adjoining rooms of a suite and during the night it appeared from the evidence that a prowler had visited their rooms at least two and perhaps three times in his thefts.

Yesterday Horton, who confessed, told police he had made only two trips to the rooms. He explained he had registered at the hotel and entered the rooms when he found the door unlocked.

"The first time I took one watch and $365 from a pair of trousers [Brown's]," Horton said. "As I was going out I saw that there were two men asleep instead of one as I supposed.

Hates to Miss Anything.

"I got to thinking about the other man's trousers when I got back to my room and decided that I was passing up a good thing. So I visited the room a second time and, sure enough, I got another watch and some more money."

Horton said he had used part of the money to return to Columbus, O., to make his regular monthly report to parole officers. He said he had been unable to dispose of the watches.

In yesterday's theft Horton said he had followed the same procedure and had registered at the Hotel La Salle under the name of C. L. Hathcox. He entered the room of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Stanton of Detroit and took a wallet containing $50.

Eludes House Detective.

As he left the room Mrs. Stanton awakened and called to her husband. He tried to grab Horton, who ran down the hallway, eluding a passing house detective, and started down the stairs. The house detective notified hotel officials to watch for the prowler and when Horton reached the lobby he was caught with a flying tackle by H. F. Rundquist, 2147 Arthur avenue, a bell boy and former foot-ball player.

Horton told police he was paroled last June from the Ohio state penitentiary at Columbus after serving six years for burglary. One of the conditions of his parole, he said, was that he should not leave Ohio.

JARECKI WARNS DEADLINE IS NEAR ON REGISTRATION

Figures Show Sharp Drop at City Hall.

Vote Registration

The record of voters' registration at the election board offices on the third floor of the city hall follows:

Yesterday's registration.. 4.144
Previous registration.....145,584

Total at city hall.......149,728

This figure, added to the precinct registration of 1,019,332 last Saturday, gives a total registration so far of 1,169,060.

A sharp drop in registration by voters at the city hall this week brought a warning yesterday from County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, head of the election machinery in Cook county, that less than two weeks remain for voters to get their names on the lists in order to participate in the important November election. He pointed out that no person will be permitted to vote who has not been registered by Oct. 6 under the new permanent registration law.

Judge Jarecki said that the election board is taking every step possible to make it easy for voters to register, including keeping the office on the third floor of the city hall open evenings. The offices are open from 9 a. n. to 9 p. m. from Monday to Friday and from 9 to 5 on Saturdays.

Daily Average Drops.

Despite the fact that the offices are open evenings this week for the first time since permanent registration started, registrations this week are the lowest in September. The average for the last three days is only 4,450, compared with nearly 7,000 daily last week. Last evening only 287 voters appeared at the city hall to register.

Judge Jarecki urged that people who are downtown in the evening take a few minutes to go to the city hall to register.

Promises No Delay.

"It takes only a minute or two to register," he said. "There is no delay, no waiting in line. People who are downtown for a show or dinner or just to do a little window shopping can easily spare the few minutes required. It is a privilege to vote and all citizens should exercise that privilege. This is a permanent registration and once voters have registered they will not have to do so again unless they change their address."

It is conservatively estimated that there are more than 2,500,000 citizens in Cook county eligible to vote. Yet less than half that number have registered.

AUTO KILLS CYCLIST.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Eric Stearns, 26, was killed early today by an automobile while riding a bicycle on the highway near Galesburg. The motorist was not identified.

Drives Under Way to Register Voters in Residential Wards

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Drives were under way yesterday by Republicans and Democrats to get out a record breaking registration on Oct. 6, the last day for registering in the precincts. Of particular concern were the residential wards on the north and south sides, some of which fell below west side wards in the percentage of voters put on the poll lists last Saturday.

At Republican county headquarters, Dr. William H. Reid has reduced Saturday's registration figures to percentages of the vote that was on the old lists. In general, the tabulation shows west side wards, normally Democratic, put a larger proportion of their voters on the books than did some areas which are normally Republican. Dr. Reid explains this is due to the fact that large numbers from these wards work downtown, and have probably registered at the city hall, where approximately 150,000 voters have placed their names on the books.

City Hall Figures Undivided.

The city hall registration, which is continuing daily, has not yet been divided into wards and precincts.

On Saturday the Chicago precinct registration was 957,746. The old registration was 1,644,189, so that 58.2 per cent of the old vote was put on the books that day. Dr. Reid's table shows by wards the percentage of the old registration which registered anew as follows:

Ward.	Pct.	Ward.	Pct.	Ward.	Pct.
1	48.0	18	60.0	35	60.7
2	60.3	19	54.7	36	55.7
3	57.7	20	58.9	37	53.8
4	58.3	21	65.8	38	55.5
8	57.0	25	66.0	42	53.9
9	62.7	26	62.0	43	56.4
10	60.0	27	56.4	44	54.8
12	59.6	29	57.7	46	60.0
13	59.0	30	52.7	47	55.5
15	59.4	32	61.6	49	55.0
17	57.7	34	61.0

In the north side wards, starting with the Forty-second, the statisticians argued the percentage registered Saturday in the main in old Republican wards was not as high as in wards on the west and northwest sides from the Twentieth to the Thirty-fifth, where the Democratic organization is strong. To the northwest, in wards from the Thirty-sixth to the Forty-first, in the main normal Republican territory, the registration was smaller than in the more congested west side areas. The Twenty-third, Sherif John Toman's ward, topped the rest with 67 per cent registered. On the north side John Massen's ward, the Forty-eighth, a Republican area, outran other wards with 64 per cent.

Both Parties Claim Advantage.

Analyzing the percentages, Republican headquarters said the G. O. P. had the advantage in Saturday's registry, and that in numbers it exceeded the Democratic and overcomes the difference in percentages. They also hold that the bulk of the city hall registration is from Republican areas.

Democratic committeeemen, on the other hand, say the registration was favorable to their party. Republican precinct committeemen are now completing a house to house check, and Dr. Reid and County Chairman Moore report the organization is more active, even in the precincts, than it has been for years.

Urges City Hall Registration.

A letter urging registration was sent to more than 5,000 women's organizations in Cook county yesterday by Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson of the women's civic council. It pointed out that to avoid crowding Oct. 6, the last day of precinct registration, citizens should take the opportunity to register at the office of the election commission in the city hall. The office is open up to and including Oct. 5 from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. every week day except Saturday, when it is open from 9 to 5.

TOWNSEND AND 4 AIDS ARE NAMED IN $250,000 SUIT

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Dr. F. E. Townsend and four of his pension plan associates were named in a libel suit for $250,000 filed here today by John B. Kiefer, a former Townsend regional director.

Kiefer charges that Dr. Townsend, in his national magazine, published an article accusing Kiefer of "obscenity and drunkenness."

The four associates included in the suit are Gilmour Young, secretary of Old Age Revolving Pensions, Ltd., and A. I. Stewart, W. S. Schuck and M. D. Cerf, officials of the Prosperity Publishing Company, Ltd.

Kiefer in a statement today said his dismissal from the Townsend organization was caused by his opposition to the pension plan founders backing of William Lemke and Gerald K. Smith, former Louisiana pastor.

Youth Robbed, Kidnaped, Bound, and Left in Field

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Armed bandits kidnaped a filling station attendant here at 4 a. m. today, robbed him of $38, and then left him bound, in a field near Davis Junction. The attendant, Sterling Anderson, 17, finally managed to release himself and obtain a ride back to Rockford.

Republican War Veterans Cancel Coliseum Show

Because of complaints of racketeering in connection with the affair, the executive committee of the United Republican War Veterans' League of Illinois, 127 North Dearborn street, announced yesterday that it had canceled plans for a boxing and vaudeville show at the Coliseum on Oct. 31.

ROCKEFELLER JR. HITS CRITICS OF PARTY FUND AID

Considers Contributions Right and Duty.

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller Jr. tonight struck back at Democratic criticism of his contributing to the Republican campaign fund in Maine.

Speaking for himself, his wife, and his son, John, Rockefeller said:

"We believe not only that it is our right as citizens to make such contributions as we wish toward the legitimate expenses of the political party in whose principles and leadership we have faith, but also that it is our clear duty to do so."

"We further believe," he said, "that the exercise of this right and the performance of this duty by all citizens should be encouraged rather than criticized."

Rockefeller emphasized in the statement that his 97 year old father, John D. Rockefeller Sr., had made no contribution.

Text of Statement.

The statement follows:

"The criticisms of the contributions made last month to the Republican party in the state of Maine by Mrs. Rockefeller, my son John, and me [my father made no such contribution] merit comment only because there is involved in them a question as to the right of American citizens to contribute to the political party of which they are members. We have all our lives been members of the party to which we contributed.

"It was more than a quarter of a century ago that I first purchased property in the state of Maine and started to make there my summer residence. Since that time Mrs. Rockefeller, my children, and I have been in Maine a part of each year, staying often three or four months at a time. We are intensely interested in the state and all that concerns its welfare.

More Impelling Motives.

"However, these considerations were not alone responsible for the contributions in question. We had even more impelling motives. We believe that the maintenance of Democratic government requires that groups of citizens shall have the right to submit to the voters such information and argument as are in their opinion needed for correct decisions on public issues.

"Without such exchange of information and full discussion by all political parties our country would be in peril. We know of no better way in which both sides of each question can be presented under free government than by political parties. And we know no method of meeting the costs of gathering such information and presenting it, without danger to the republic, other than through contributions by individuals to such parties.

Considers It "Clear Duty."

"We believe not only that it is our right as citizens to make such contributions as we wish toward the legitimate expenses of the political party in whose principles and leadership we have faith, but also that it is our clear duty to do so. We further believe that the exercise of this right and the performance of this duty by all citizens should be encouraged rather than criticized.

"Because we feel that the political parties are the proper channels for the dissemination of information and the discussion of political issues, the members of my family and I have made no contributions whatever to other organizations which are taking a part, large or small, in the present campaign."

CHICAGO 'LABOR SPY' ON STAND IN QUIZ BY LA FOLLETTE BODY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—E. C. McDade, a Chicagoan, was the principal witness today before the special senate committee headed by Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin which is investigating espionage in labor relations.

McDade testified that he had been an "undercover agent" and "industrial guard" on many occasions. He was employed by the Railway Audit and Inspection company which furnishes agents to employers seeking to check the activities of labor organizers in their plants.

McDade described gun battles he said he had participated in between strikers and strike breakers. At one such battle in Louisiana, fatalities among both strikers and strike breakers occurred, he testified. Guns used by the plant guards were furnished by Federal Laboratories, Inc., a subsidiary of the Railway Audit and Inspection company, he said.

The witness said that on some occasions guards fired at each other for the purpose of making it seem necessary to companies to hire more guards. On a Cleveland job, he said, guards dynamited a building and charged it was done by union sympathizers.

FIRE RAZES AKRON PLANTS.

Akron, O., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Fire razed two plants here and left damage estimated today at $100,000 to $185,000. The flames swept the A. Schulman, Inc., rubber plant, and the Kalges Coal and Ice company branch in Akron's industrial district.

ATTORNEY FILES PETITION TO SET ASIDE JUDGMENT

Claiming he did not know he was signing a note containing a judgment clause, Attorney J. Fred Reeve of the firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green, Martin and Ellis, yesterday filed a petition before Judge James J. Kelly of the Superior court, seeking to have a judgment of $12,645 set aside.

The award was made by Judge Joseph B. David last month to Mrs. Drusilla N. Pierce, 48 years old, 900 North Michigan avenue. The note was dated Nov. 25, 1929, and was for $9,000 payable six months later, the remainder being interest. Mrs. Pierce, the daughter of Christian Wahl, a Milwaukee capitalist, is an aunt of Reeve's former wife.

According to the petition, the note was invalid since there is no consideration. It was given to cover losses suffered in the market crash with a simultaneous oral understanding that it would be paid at Reeve's convenience, that no suit would be brought to collect it and that it would be secured by life insurance.

30 DAYS FOR BUTTER THIEF.

Frank Carter, 47 years old, 1517 West Van Buren street, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Jay A. Schiller in Felony court to thirty days in the county jail on a charge of stealing 300 pounds of butter.

By Preference of College Men...

trousers tailored with TALON

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

From manufacturers, clothing stores, and custom tailors throughout the country, come reports that college men are rapidly adopting trousers tailored with Talon!

For on the campuses of America's universities . . . in dormitories, in the locker rooms of gymnasiums . . . clothing comparisons are more frequently, and more frankly, made.

And in any comparison, the Talon trouser closing wins over the button fly every time!

Instead of the unsightly gaps and bulges, the extra thickness, caused by buttons, they naturally vote for the thin, continuous, seam-like effect—the infinitely greater trimness produced by the specially made Talon slide fastener.

Instead of the continual danger of accidental disarray—as embarrassing to others as to the wearer himself—they elect the complete assurance which Talon gives them at all times.

Today they're saying to one another, "You ought to wear trousers tailored with Talon." No wonder certain alert New York stores are now showing all their suits with this modern feature—that others offer suits with Talon-closed trousers in all fabrics and in every price range.

Wear a pair of trousers tailored with Talon this Fall. And like millions of other men, in business as well as in America's leading universities, you'll never go back to buttons again.

Today . . . well-tailored trousers are closed with the TALON slide fastener

The specially-designed Talon Trouser Fastener must not be confused with any other slide fastener, even other Talon fasteners. It is small, flat-lying, and its special locking slider and special reinforcement are made expressly for use on trousers. The Talon Trouser Fastener will not crush, jam or break in pressing, yet it is as flexible as the fabric of a suit and absolutely rustproof. And it is tailored into the trousers with the usual protective underflap.

President Will Meet His Advisers Today.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight prepared to tear the "nonpolitical" mask from his activities and step into the political arena as Democratic candidate for the presidency.

Tomorrow he will meet with the Democratic strategy board to plan his part in the New Deal's drive for four more years of power. The conference will embrace a thorough discussion of his reëlection possibilities in the face of the growing Republican sentiment indicated in the Maine election and the Michigan primary.

As chief salesman of the New Deal Mr. Roosevelt is expected to plot his personal drive for votes. Democratic leaders have been urging extensive campaigning on his part from coast to coast to meet the Republican uprising. The extent of the President's stumping will depend on reports he will receive tomorrow on the outlook in key states.

Farley Heads Advisers.

The strategy board will be headed by Democratic Chairman James A. Farley and include all the Democratic high command. The war council will be the first the President has held since he ordered the campaign under way early in August.

As a preliminary to the conference Mr. Roosevelt met today with Judge John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie, Roosevelt nominator in the conventions of 1932 and 1936, and James Townsend, Democratic chairman for Dutchess county. Mr. Roosevelt lost his home county four years ago by more than 5,000 votes.

The two brought word that New York state is safe for the New Deal. They predicted that Roosevelt will carry the state by more than 300,000 votes. Despite their encouraging report Democratic leaders frankly confess fears that the President's home state will throw her electoral votes to Gov. Alf M. Landon on Nov. 3.

Heavy List of Callers.

Townsend and Mack were callers on a rather heavy engagement list. Other visitors were Oswald Garrison Villard, left wing liberal and editor emeritus of the Nation; Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., and William McCaffery, president of the Lincoln National Bank of Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. Roosevelt will address the state Democratic convention Sept. 29.

Late in the afternon the President returned from an inspection of his estate nearby the Hyde Park home owned by his mother, to press a gold key starting the Diabolo power station on the Skagit river, near Seattle, Wash. The station has the largest water wheel in the world. It develops 95,800 horse power.

During the day Mr. Roosevelt was concerned over the threatened maritime strike. To guard against the threat he moved to set up a temporary maritime commission, authorized by ship subsidy legislation at the last congress. The commission has authority to fix wage and hour minimums for crews.

The President named three members on the commission to work out a program he hopes will prove satisfactory to workers and employers. By law the commission should have five members, but the President did not wish to name a permanent board until after election.

Mr. Roosevelt named Rear Admiral Henry A. Wiley, United States navy, retired; Rear Admiral Harry G. Hamlet, coast guard; George Landick Jr., chief of the planning section of the procurement division of the treasury department.

This temporary organization will start functioning immediately, setting up a skeleton force. Other members of the commission will be named in the near future.

Rear Admiral Wiley, at one time commander in chief of the fleet, has been on a number of arbitration boards during the past three years, according to a White House announcement. Rear Admiral Hamlet has been commandant of the coast guard in the treasury department. He is due for retirement Oct. 1.

KNOX HITS SPENDING OF NEW DEALERS AT '$14,000 A MINUTE'

Santa Fe, N. M., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential nominee, said tonight the Roosevelt administration has spent at the rate of $14,000 a minute, "eating into the capital" of the citizens.

Denying this "kept business going in depression," Knox said instead that "nearly half the total" came from taxes—taken from "the food and clothes and housing of the people." His attack on the administration's spending came in an address prepared for delivery before a party rally here.

Knox declared that a Republican administration would meet national needs, but with a realization "that taxes hurt."

He held up RFC, the relief activities of the Hoover administration, and early Republican support of reclamation projects as evidence of the party's sympathy.

Milton, Mass., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Citizens of Milton will gather in town hall on Oct. 1 to act on a suggestion that a street be named Landon road. The town already has a Roosevelt street.

STATE WORKERS BUY NEW HORNER SHEET—OR ELSE

Tell Pressure Selling of Weekly Truth.

With the first issue of Truth, new weekly propaganda "puff sheet" of the Horner administration now in circulation, reports of pressure to force state employés, including those in the civil service classification, to buy subscriptions to the publication were heard from several parts of the state yesterday.

The first issue of the publication came out Tuesday night. It contains Horner and New Deal propaganda and is designed to furnish additional campaign funds for Gov. Horner. According to John J. Donoghue, assistant superintendent of the state department of printing, the circulation of the publication is 40,000. State employés were "requested" to buy five subscriptions at $1 each. The goal of the sponsors is 100,000 circulation, or $100,000 income.

Pushed by Department Heads.

Despite the assertion of Miss Frances Krimmel, its editor, who is also head of the department of reports in Springfield, that "no one is under compulsion to take subscriptions," complaints were made that coercion is being employed by state department heads to force the sale of the publication.

One of the complainants, Henry E. Struck, 1901 Dial court, Springfield, charged yesterday that after ten years of service as an engineer in the bridge division of the state highway department, he was dropped from the state pay roll because of his refusal to turn in five subscriptions to Truth. His dismissal came from F. Lynden Smith, business manager of the division and manager of Gov. Horner's downstate campaign. Smith said Struck was dismissed because he was "soldiering on the job."

Struck said he "got in bad politically" when he refused to join the Iroquois league several months ago. The league, another medium for collection of campaign funds, takes 2 per cent of a state employé's salary each month.

Will Fight Squeeze.

William J. Thorp, secretary of the Civil Service Protective association, 105 West Monroe street, reiterated yesterday that his organization would fight coercion of state civil service employés into contributing campaign funds. Compulsory subscriptions to Truth, he said, come clearly in this category. He exhibited a complaint from an employé at one of the state hospitals. The employé wrote:

"I am a regular civil service employé. Today I was solicited to pay $5 for five subscriptions to a magazine from Truth Publishing company. I don't stand back on telling you it is for political purposes. What should I do?"

Another civil service employé in a state institution wrote that the Democratic organization was demanding a $43 contribution from his salary.

Thorp said that civil service employés have been exploited to an unprecedented degree this year, but most of them are afraid to make complaints because they fear they will lose their jobs. He said that many members of the protective association were dropped from the state pay roll during the spring primary campaign, but that the association forced reinstatement of all of them.

KILLED BY FALLING ICE.

Charles Schredie, 47 years old, 431 South Leavitt street, died yesterday in the West Side hospital of injuries incurred earlier when a cake of ice fell on him as he was working at the West Side Ice company, 2928 Lake street.

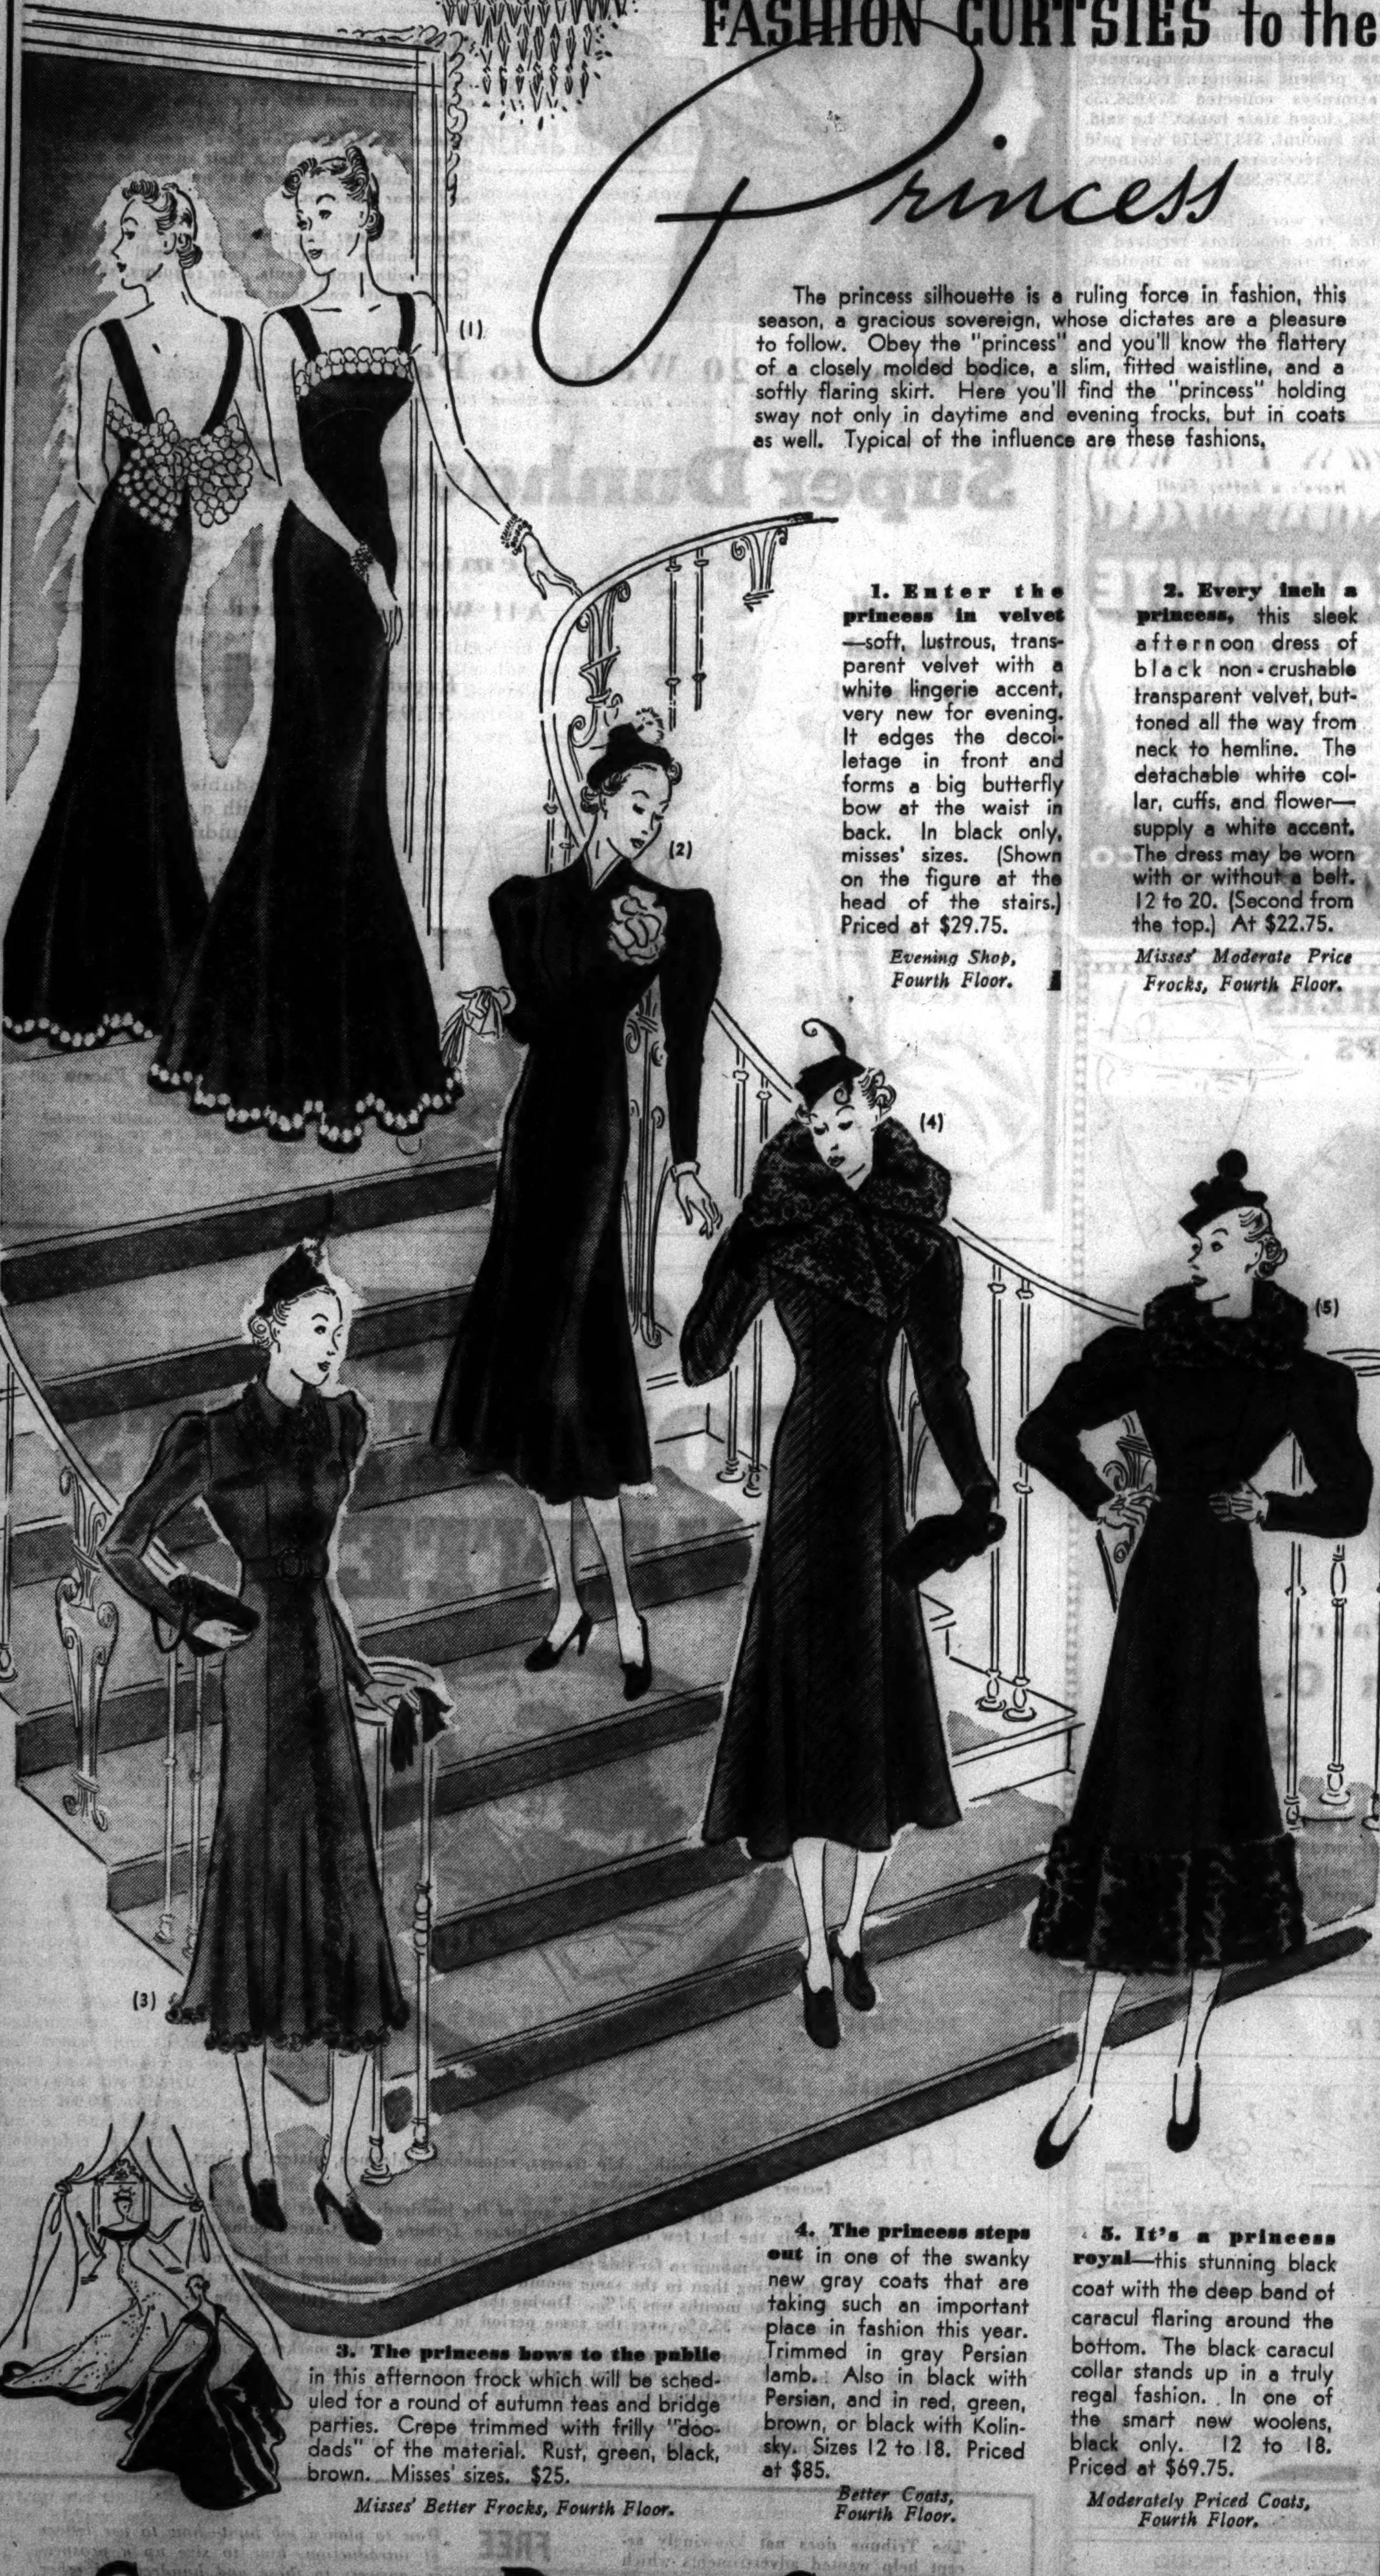
FASHION CURTSIES to the Princess



The princess silhouette is a ruling force in fashion, this season, a gracious sovereign, whose dictates are a pleasure to follow. Obey the "princess" and you'll know the flattery of a closely molded bodice, a slim, fitted waistline, and a softly flaring skirt. Here you'll find the "princess" holding sway not only in daytime and evening frocks, but in coats as well. Typical of the influence are these fashions.

Evening Shop, Fourth Floor.

2. Every inch a princess, this sleek afternoon dress of black non-crushable transparent velvet, buttoned all the way from neck to hemline. The detachable white collar, cuffs, and flower—supply a white accent. The dress may be worn with or without a belt. 12 to 20. (Second from the top.) At $22.75.

Misses' Moderate Price Frocks, Fourth Floor.

3. The princess bows to the public in this afternoon frock which will be scheduled for a round of autumn teas and bridge parties. Crepe trimmed with frilly "doodads" of the material. Rust, green, black, brown. Misses' sizes. $25.

Misses' Better Frocks, Fourth Floor.

4. The princess steps out in one of the swanky new gray coats that are taking such an important place in fashion this year. Trimmed in gray Persian lamb. Also in black with Persian, and in red, green, brown, or black with Kolinsky. Sizes 12 to 18. Priced at $85.

Better Coats, Fourth Floor.

5. It's a princess royal—this stunning black coat with the deep band of caracul flaring around the bottom. The black caracul collar stands up in a truly regal fashion. In one of the smart new woolens, black only. 12 to 18. Priced at $69.75.

DEMOCRATS EAT ON MR. NASH AND AVOW FRIENDSHIP

Horner and Kelly Speak Their Pieces on Peace.

BY PARKE BROWN.

The rites of ceremonial reunion between Gov. Henry Horner and the Cook county Democratic organization were celebrated yesterday in the Hotel Morrison.

Most of the Democratic public officials were present but only a small part of the party's army of jobholders was able to get in on the luncheon in the Terrace room which, it was announced, was a free treat by P. A. Nash, county chairman and national committeeman.

Mr. Nash presided, but his chief part in the program consisted of introducing the speakers, the most important of whom were Mayor Kelly, Gov. Horner, and State's Attorney Courtney. The rôle of the audience—eight from each ward and five from each country township — consisted chiefly of rising when each of the three was introduced. The applause for the three appeared about equally balanced.

Significant for the Party.

It was the first time that Gov. Horner faced this audience this year. Early last winter the Chicago leaders broke with him and in the April primary voted against him by a majority of 150,000 votes in Cook county only to see him win the renomination through an overwhelming vote downstate. For that reason, the public reunion, even as late as six weeks before the election, was considered of great party significance.

In the gathering there was little echo of the bitterness of six months ago. Once again Gov. Horner shook hands with Mayor Kelly as the latter arrived at the speaker's table just in time for the ceremonies. Chairman Nash sat behind the microphone with the mayor on his left and the governor on his right and when Kelly was called on first so that he might leave to catch a train he stood directly at the governor's shoulder as he repeated the formula of party regularity. In this instance he added a few words.

Avowal of Party Regularity.

"I am for every man on the Democratic ticket from top to bottom," he said.

"It doesn't make any particle of difference where Ed Kelly stands in this campaign. It doesn't make any difference where Gov. Horner stands. It doesn't make any difference whether he likes me or I like him.

"By that I don't mean that I dislike him. Personalities are a thing of the past. We're in a war now and I am subject to the orders of the chairman to go anywhere at any time, to do anything he wants me to do for the whole ticket from top to bottom."

A few minutes later Gov. Horner was saying that he liked the Kelly philosophy that the individual is unimportant.

The Governor's Pledge.

"If I have been worthy of you," he continued, "I have not lived in vain and my first pledge is to be worthy of you. We are all for the whole ticket. All of us ought to win or none of us ought to win."

Gov. Horner was loud in his predictions of victory in November.

"If we had a press that would publish true stories," he said, "they would tell you this state is aflame for Roosevelt."

At another point he asserted that at least 30 per cent of the Republicans of Illinois are with the Democratic national, state, and county tickets.

Sees Unparalleled Prosperity.

"The newspapers are against us but the people are with us. The newspapers say the farmers aren't with us. That's ridiculous. They're enjoying prosperity such as they never dreamed of enjoying and they're not going to let any newspaper cast their votes," he continued.

"When the big vote comes in we'll make sure of the indication of the promise of 1932—that Illinois always, always will be a Democratic state."

He made two references to the Republican national ticket. One was to belittle the fact that Gov. Landon balanced the state budget of Kansas. The other was a mention of the Landon campaign emblem, the sunflower.

"Everybody who knows anything about planting," he said, "knows that the sunflower goes to seed long before November."

His Comment on Taxation.

One less direct allusion to his own critics was this:

"The only thing I hear about is taxation," he said. "You can go out to the poor farm and talk about taxation to those poor souls who haven't a penny to their names and they'll get excited about taxation."

A lesser speaker on the program, Congressman Raymond McKeough, who said he spoke for Senator James Hamilton Lewis, also attacked the press. After speaking of the four horsemen of the Apocalypse and the four horsemen of Notre Dame, he continued:

"Now we have the four horsemen of despair—the three colonels, Hearst, Knox, and McCormick, in the backfield, and John Hamilton for quarter back."

Courtney Is Appreciative.

State's Attorney Courtney's speech was a routine expression of appreciation for the support given him by the organization and his readiness to go before the voters on his record.

Following the luncheon, the crowd was invited to visit the headquarters and candidates' rooms on the third floor which were open for the first time. There was general comment on one vacant room, a room with nobody in it to greet visitors. This was room 385 which was assigned to Frank V. Zintak, clerk of the Superior court, now under indictment in the Criminal court in connection with his handling of funds in his custody. Zintak did not attend the luncheon. Apparently Robert M. Sweitzer, former county clerk, also was absent.

Mayor Kelly left the luncheon to entrain for Jersey City, N. J., to attend funeral services tomorrow for James Hague, brother of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City. James Hague was killed in an automobile accident.

BROOKS ASSAILS NEW 30C TAX IMPOSED IN ORDER TO GET RELIEF

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor, speaking here tonight, charged the New Deal administration at Springfield with forcing legislation through the legislature compelling every township and the city of Chicago to levy a 30 cent tax on every $100 of real estate valuation for relief purposes if the community expects to share in the state's distributive relief fund.

Added taxes collected by the state administration during the last year, Brooks pointed out, totaled 83½ million dollars and included 66½ million dollars from the sales tax, 7 million dollars from the public utility tax, and 10 million dollars in liquor taxes.

Brooks scores the administration of relief under the present administration and charged the inefficiency and scandals with resulting in the reluctant turning back to the communities of the entire problem.

Earlier in the day the Republican nominee spoke at Abingdon, Bushnell, Macomb, Farmington, and Pekin.

BREATHING SPELL MERE VOTE BAIT, GLENN'S OPINION

Sees New "Cracking Down" After Election.

BY LLOYD WENDT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Jacksonville, Ill., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The "breathing spell" promised business by the New Deal administration is merely a breathing spell for election purposes and will be followed by more drastic "cracking down" than under the NRA, Otis F. Glenn, Republican candidate for United States senator, declared today in a series of addresses delivered in Jersey, Calhoun, Green, Morgan, and Scott counties.

"The New Deal, from the very beginning, has tried to make the people of this country believe that business is their arch enemy," the former senator said. "Only the unanimous decision of the United States Supreme court prevented the New Dealers from taking their swivel chairs into every store and factory in the nation and telling the men who operated the business, and the men and women who worked in them, how to run them.

Court Brings Respite.

"It was not until the NRA was declared illegal that the President promised to give business 'a breathing spell.' It means that, for a time until after the election, he will stop harassing business and trying to crush the small business man.

"Even in the 'breathing spell,' however, the New Deal, actuated by its professoriat, forced a submissive congress to pass a corporation surplus tax act which will wreck thousands of small businesses, even in normal times. That tax will drive away the surplus which enabled industry to expand and employ in difficult times.

"Not only is the New Deal rushing the government into bankruptcy with profligate borrowing, but it proposes to take all industry with it."

Other Nominees in Party.

Senator Glenn is accompanied on the tour of southwestern Illinois this week by Arthur J. Bidwill, Republican nominee for state auditor; Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg, and Jesse R. Brown, Harry C. Montgomery, and Frank M. Ramey, candidates for congress.

Terming Gov. Henry Horner a "messenger boy for the New Deal," Representative Schnackenberg lashed the Democratic opponent of Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee, for broken promises, irresponsible spending, and unfair taxation.

"For nearly four years the governor has carried out the orders of the Chicago Democratic machine and the New Deal," Schnackenberg said. "Then, when the people were rising because of the unfair sales tax burden, and the Chicago machine decided that the governor could not be reëlected, the governor struck a popular note by crying 'bossism.' Now he is back with the bosses.

"Who can believe when Horner is acting in good faith? When the political machine was electing him he had no thought for honest ballots. Then, when he felt he was to lose the advantage of rigged balloting he finally turned about and let the honest ballot law be passed."

Assails Closed Bank Policy.

Bidwill attacked the closed bank program of his Democratic opponent.

"The present auditors, receivers, and attorneys collected $79,056,755 from 142 closed state banks," he said. "Of this amount, $43,179,170 was paid to clerks, receivers, and attorneys, while only $35,876,585 was paid to depositors.

"In other words, for every dollar collected, the depositors received 45 cents while the expense to liquidate this amount was 55 cents, paid to these attorneys and receivers."

GOV. HORNER PLEADS FOR ROOSEVELT AS SAVIOR OF HIS NATION

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Gov. Henry Horner urged the reëlection of President Roosevelt here tonight, naming him "the greatest president our country has had since the civil war."

Speaking in the Kankakee armory at a Democratic rally, Gov. Horner asserted "Roosevelt has saved his nation from disaster."

"Compare conditions with those of 1932," he said. "Every honest person will admit Roosevelt has done the job. The farmers know it. Labor knows it. The small merchants know it. The manufacturers know it.

"We must face facts and be honest.

"The Republicans talk about the constitution, the dangers with which they claim it is threatened because of Roosevelt. The constitution was written by great Democrats—Madison and Jefferson—and the Republicans put the 18th amendment in it.

"Roosevelt was the only President since prohibition began who had the courage to strike out that iniquitous amendment."

GETS YEAR ON GIRL'S CHARGE.

Can you fill one of these or any of the hundreds of other jobs offered during the last few days in the Chicago Tribune help wanted columns?

Every month so far this year the Tribune has printed more help wanted advertising than in the same month of last year. Combined gain for the first eight months was 37%. During the first 22 days of September the increase was 35.6% over the same period in 1935.

Employers and employment agencies are now in the market for more help. To secure competent workers they place three times as much help wanted advertising in the Tribune as in any other Chicago newspaper.

Check the increasing number of offers in the Tribune help wanted columns for a job, or for a better one than you now have.

The Tribune does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisments which misrepresent the nature or terms of employment, or advertisments for sales help which do not indicate the type of product or service to be sold, and the form of compensation.

SON OF SOLDIER FAMILY ENLISTS IN VOLUNTEERS

Women from 38th Ward Join Campaign.

W. S. Teeter, 5824 South La Salle street, a railroad switchman, walked into the headquarters of THE VOLUNTEERS yesterday and asked to be enrolled. He exhibited honorable discharges from the United States army for himself, his father, grandfather, great-grandfather, and great-great-grandfather, and said:

W. S. TEETER.

"Every one of us fought in a war for our country and when I see how this New Deal is hooked up with the communists I want to see Landon elected. I fought in the world war, my father in the Spanish-American war, and my other ancestors fought in the civil war, the war of 1812 and the revolutionary war."

38th Ward Women Enlist.

Chauncey McCormick, national chairman of THE VOLUNTEERS, received the pledges of a delegation of women from the 38th ward yesterday. All Republicans in that northwest side ward are in harmony for Landon and Knox and the rest of the Republican ticket, the women reported, and all want to be of service in the campaign.

Two of the women, already enrolled in THE VOLUNTEERS, Mrs. Walter Trost, of 5006 Irving Park boulevard, and Mrs. Elmer Siwert of 4019 North Lavergne avenue, reported that during the day they had distributed more than 9,000 buttons bearing Landon's picture. Each day they take stations in the loop, they said, and offer Landon buttons to the passersby and every day more than 4,000 men and women deplete the supply of the two VOLUNTEERS.

1,000 Enlist in Detroit.

Chairman McCormick returned yesterday from Detroit, where on Tuesday he helped organize a branch of THE VOLUNTEERS. He said he had reports that more than 1,000 persons applied for membership in the Detroit VOLUNTEERS yesterday.

Eleven men are on a tour of downstate Illinois this week distributing 1,000 VOLUNTEER memberships to each county. Since they started telegrams and telephone requests have been coming in for as many as 5,000 cards to a county.

Edward Prendergast, in charge of outside organization, said requests have been coming in from all parts of the country for advice and instructions on starting VOLUNTEERS organizations. Among the letters received yesterday were those from Mrs. Nettie Tapper of the Richland County Republican Women's club at Mansfield, O.; W. H. Gharitty, publisher of the Herald Telegram of Chippewa Falls, Wis., and Dr. Charles S. Hardy of Summit, N. J.

VOLUNTEERS Meeting Today.

Meetings of VOLUNTEERS scheduled for today in the Chicago area are:

4719 Lincoln avenue, Forty-seventh ward, 2:30 p. m. Lee Mrrrs is to speak before a group of 300 women.

2255 West Lake street, 8 p. m. Dr. C. W. Anderson will be principal speaker.

5027 St. Lawrence avenue, 2 p. m. Dr. Morris Lewis will be the speaker.

Homewood, 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Minnie V. Armitage, 1214 Ridge road. T. L. Kornman will speak.

The Young Republicans of the Seventh ward will hold a massmeeting today at which a resolution is to be presented that they enroll as a group in THE VOLUNTEERS.

VOLUNTEERS headquarters for the west end of the Fourth ward have been established at 4731 South Park way by Mrs. Olive Guynne. She is assisted by Mrs. Gertrude Walker and Mrs. Audrey Edwards.

6,000 WOMEN'S AUTOS WILL HAUL LANDON VOTERS

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—More than 6,000 women VOLUNTEERS in seventeen eastern states have tied the brown and gold pennant of the "Landon Motor corps" to the radiator caps of their cars in token of their readiness to transport Republican speakers, distribute literature and get out the vote on election day, Mrs. Roger W. Straus, regional chairman of the motor unit, announced today.

In her office at Republican national headquarters, Mrs. Straus predicted that more than 20,000 automobiles would be available in the seventeen states and the District of Columbia to get 100,000 voters to the polls on Nov. 3. She based her estimate on telegraphic reports received today from the state chairmen and a personal conference with Miss Marie L. Gilbert of Amsterdam, N. Y., chairman of this state, and Mrs. Melville P. Dickinson of Princeton, New Jersey state chairman.

CREST OF FLOOD PASSES AUSTIN AND ON TO GULF

Austin, Tex., Sept. 23.—(AP)—The crest of the Colorado river flood, its destructive power greatly reduced, passed Austin today and rolled toward Bastrop and Smithville.

The highest stage here was 26.1 feet. Weather observers estimated the river would remain above the flood stage of 21 feet until late tomorrow.

The stream was falling slowly at Mud, the first point northwest of Austin.

The flood resulted mainly from heavy rains on the Conchos in the San Angelo area, where 5 million dollars' damage was done.

CHICAGO CLUB PICKS AUWAERTER AS NEW GENERAL MANAGER

The appointment of Albert Auwaerter, veteran hotel executive, as general manager of the Chicago club, 404 South Michigan avenue, effective Oct. 1 was announced yesterday. Mr. Auwaerter succeeds William B. Bangs, who resigned last week after serving with the club since 1893.

ALBERT AUWAERTER. [Du Bois Photo.]

From 1910 to 1920 Mr. Auwaerter was connected with the management of the Blackstone hotel. After that he was associated with the Sovereign hotel where he helped entertain the former prince of Wales, now King Edward VIII., in 1924.

In 1931 Mr. Auwaerter went to New York City to assume charge of the Essex House. He returned to Chicago last spring as general manager of the Hotel Windermere. Mr. Auwaerter is married and the father of twin sons, Albert Jr., and John.

Plan $5,241,744 Relief Works in Quebec Province

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Quebec, Sept. 23.—Announcement was made today that public relief works requiring an expenditure of $5,241,744, will be started soon in the province of Quebec. Federal authorities contribute one-half, the province the balance. Works here will include two beaches and another bridge connecting the island with the mainland.

3,000 DETROIT CITIZENS AIDING THE VOLUNTEERS

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—THE VOLUNTEERS, who organized here yesterday, got to work today and were immediately greeted with an even more enthusiastic response than they had anticipated.

"The interest in the movement is really wonderful," said F. W. Blaisdell Jr., secretary treasurer. "A good 3,000 cards have been taken out by people who came in and asked for them, and that doesn't count the telephone calls."

Blaisdell said that most of those who came in and telephoned had volunteered for general work and recruiting. Half of the cards were signed by women, both housewives and business women.

The organization plans to extend its operations throughout the state.

FABLES FOR TODAY

1. HABITS

By CALEB

A MAN, ripe with self-satisfaction, once went to sleep. A smile wreathed his face. For in his mind as he succumbed to Morpheus were thoughts of how good and true and kind he was.

Somnus—who was the real works around the place, and the father of Morpheus—was away. Morpheus, young miscreant, ventured to experiment. He took the lid off the personality of the sleeping man and numerous habits, mostly bad, came pouring forth.

The man awakened to find himself surrounded by these nondescript wretches. "Who are you?" he asked, pointing to an evil-looking fellow.

"Part of your personality, my friend," and the habit leered. "I am your egotism. You have never seen me before, but all your friends have." The man blushed. Only the day before he had condemned another for egotism.

"And who are you?"

The indicated fragment of personality curtseyed mockingly. "I, too, am part of you. I am your infernal impatience. You give me a few opportunities to shine each day. You show me to your family when you go home at night. You think other people are impatient. But I, your impatience, am a lulu. How do you like the looks of me?"

"You are hideous," and the man turned away.

Just then, a little beast leaped at him, and the man shuddered. "Who are you, you devil? Get away. Get away."

"I am that part of your personality which sits at the steering wheel when you drive your car. We had a swell ride this morning. Cut in on several drivers. Cursed at another. Wouldn't let a man into line. Sneered at him. Remember?"

The man was uncomfortable. There were half a dozen other bad habits clamoring for his attention. "Ruffianly lot," he thought, and he turned to run. But a beautiful figure before him raised her hand. "Wait," she said. "I am another of your habits. I have arrayed myself like part of an Atlantic City pageant because I knew that would stop you. I look very young 'ecause you have used me but little. I am your habit of self-criticism. Why don't you put me to work?"

FINDS NEW DEAL AND COMMUNISM LINK STIRS EAST

Ex-Gov. Allen Back from Speaking Tour.

Henry J. Allen of Kansas, former senator and former governor, returning to G. O. P. headquarters here yesterday from a speaking tour of the east, declared that in Washington and other cities, the charges that the communists are supporting President Roosevelt are "holding the boards."

"There is no question the capital is stirred up over the matter," he said. "The White House obviously made an error in attempting to take the edge off this story by predicting that a 'notorious publisher,' meaning Mr. Hearst, was about to spring the charge that the communists of the United States are under instructions to vote for Mr. Roosevelt.

First in the Tribune.

"The charge, when it came, was really old stuff—it was first published by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in a copyrighted story from its correspondent at Riga who quoted advice from the official journal of the Third International in Moscow, telling American communists that Landon must be defeated.

"The Democrats immediately denied the authenticity of this despatch, but the communists in their official publication, the Daily Worker, printed in New York, let members know that the most effective way to defeat Gov. Landon is to vote for Mr. Roosevelt rather than for the communist candidate. Everywhere they set up the claim that the most important interest of communism is the defeat of Gov. Landon.

Communist Editor Quits.

"James Casey, the editor of the Daily Worker, resigned his position, saying he could not keep his self-respect because the communist party had become merely an 'aid society to Franklin Roosevelt.'

"The man they chose to succeed Mr. Casey was the supervisor of a WPA writers group on a salary of $300. It is said he still holds the government job. I am not going to charge that the New Deal is for communism, but if I were a communist I certainly would vote for the New Deal."

Scores in Farm Speech.

Reports poured into Republican national headquarters yesterday that Landon's Des Moines address developing his farm program rang the bell in the agricultural states. Harrison E. Spangler, executive vice chairman of the national committee, returning from Iowa spoke of the reaction in his home state.

"That address," said Spangler, "was favorably commented upon by citizens and by leading newspapers, notably those that have been leaning the other way. Many careful and thoughtful observers from all over Iowa told me they are now of the opinion that the tide there has turned in our direction and that the Landon-Knox ticket will carry the state by a handsome majority."

Dairymen Switch to Landon.

One report received at headquarters concerned McHenry county, Ill., dairymen. At a meeting of 236 dairymen at Woodstock last week a straw vote gave 97 per cent for Landon. A similar poll two months ago among the same men, it was stated, gave President Roosevelt 60 per cent of the vote.

Telegrams from women in 15 agricultural states were received at the women's division at national headquarters, all declaring the Landon address made especial appeal to women, Mrs. Grace B. Reynolds, western director of the division, said. "These are real farm women who are beset by the problems that Gov. Landon discussed last night. All of them reported the speech heartened the farm women because it showed Gov. Landon's understanding of the farm situation."

REFORM CANDIDATE WINS OVER WET IN ATLANTA'S ELECTION

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 23.—(AP)—William B. Hartsfield, 47 year old lawyer who campaigned on a municipal reform platform, defeated the veteran Mayor James L. Key, outspoken anti-prohibitionist, in his fight for a fifth term in office tonight.

Unofficial, but complete returns from the Democratic runoff primary gave Hartsfield 12,348 votes to 8,174 for Mayor Key.

Hartsfield, a state legislator who has served in the city council, issued a brief statement saying he planned to ask the city council "for its coöperation in carrying out the mandate of the people on the issues of the campaign."

WPA PUTS $9,000 ON A HOSPITAL; IT'S PRIVATE ONE

Kearny, N. J., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The WPA spent more than $9,000 painting, reroofing and fireproofing the West Hudson hospital here before discovering that the institution was privately owned and therefore ineligible for federal grants. The work was stopped a month ago, but the news was not revealed until today.

At WPA headquarters in Newark it was said the Kearny town council "sponsored" the project by applying for the grant and declared on the application that the hospital was a public institution. The federal officials discovered the hospital was private after a local newspaper publisher complained to them in August.

By that time more than $9,000 of the $11,695 granted by the WPA and about $2,500 of the $3,756 contributed by the hospital owners had been spent.

Landon Leads Roosevelt 2 to 1 in Poll at Elgin

Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas is leading President Roosevelt by almost 2 to 1 in a poll being conducted by the Elgin Tribune, a weekly newspaper, according to results of the first two weeks' voting announced last night by Walter T. Woodcock, publisher. In the same poll Gov. Horner is running behind the head of the Democratic ticket, and is losing by 2½ to 1 to Wayland Brooks, the Republican nominee for governor. The vote to date is: Landon, 462; Roosevelt, 257; Brooks, 475, and Horner, 195.

LEGION ASKS U. S. END RECOGNITION OF SOVIET RUSSIA

Demands Deportation of Alien Agitators.

BULLETIN.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Commonwealth Edison post drum and bugle corps of Chicago tonight won the American Legion annual tournament, displacing San Gabriel, Cal., as the national champion.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The American Legion today adopted a resolution asking the United States government to withdraw its recognition of soviet Russia. This was one of several attacks voted upon subversive and other alien influences.

Included among the resolutions proferred by the Americanization committee and accepted by the convention was one urging a 90 per cent reduction in immigration quotas and deportation of all aliens who are anarchists, communists, or affiliated with the third internationale. Others called for the removal from public relief rolls of aliens who have not applied for citizenship, universal application of the finger printing system in this country, and an investigation of methods used in disseminating "subversive doctrins."

New York Gets 1937 Meeting.

New York City was selected for the 1937 convention, and the election of Harry W. Colmery, Topeka, Kas., lawyer, as national commander was virtually assured as the veterans pushed through several important items of business in a short session. They adjourned at 2:20 p. m. until tomorrow.

Unanimous and hearty approval was given New York's bid for next year's meeting. Their campaign for the honor, started nearly two years ago, was climaxed here by an impressive display of police and fire department bands, motorcycle squads and mounted officers.

La Guardia Leads Delegation.

Mayor Fiorello La Guardia personally led Gotham's delegation into Cleveland and marched at its head in yesterday's gigantic parade. The procession from his city was made up of 100 policemen on motorcycles, another 100 on horseback, 2,800 policemen and 1,200 firemen on foot, a police band of 140 men and the firemen's band with 125 pieces.

Convention delegates responded enthusiastically to New York's campaign slogan of "March Up Fifth Avenue Again in 1937." Thousands of soldiers embarking for France marched along the avenue in 1917.

The election of Colmery as national commander of the organization was assured for tomorrow when his only remaining opponent, Quimby Melton, editor of Griffin, Ga., conceded victory to the Topekan.

Predict Acclamation Vote.

Lyle Armel, chairman of the Colmery campaign committee, said he expected the Topeka lawyer's election by acclamation. Colmery headquarters claimed their candidate was pledged 943 votes, more than 300 in excess of the number required to elect.

Without opposition, Harry E. Ransom of Milwaukee, Wis., was elected head of the "40 and 8," a subsidiary Legion organization.

The Legion band championship was won by the Musicians' post, No. 394, of St. Louis, Mo. It received a point rating of 91.7 to take top honors among eight finalists in the national tournament. An elaborate Legion trophy and a cash award of $1,000 were given the band.

The 1935 championship was won by the Chicago Board of Trade post band, which subsequently disbanded.

Columbus Band Second.

Second place in this year's contest was won by the Franklin post band of Columbus, O. It received a point rating of 91.28 and $500. Third place and a $350 award went to Musicians' post, No. 424, of Los Angeles. The Canton, O., post band won fourth place and $100.

Legionnaires were urged in speeches to beware of foreign entanglements with European war activities, and were warned to move cautiously in pressing for new benefits for former service men.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, urged the veterans to stand with organized labor against American participation in the "most perilous and distressing" European situation.

Applaud Neutrality Stand.

Delegates loudly cheered his assertion that "we must not become involved in a foreign war in which we have no direct concern."

"The neutrality legislation already passed by congress," Green said, "must be and should be strengthened so that the guarantee of peace and our nation's insurance against foreign entanglements may be strengthened and maintained."

Gen. Frank T. Hines urged the veterans to exert caution in demanding new benefits for themselves and comrades' dependents. The widely known soldier, whose ouster as veterans' bureau head has been demanded by the convention host, the Ohio department, declared that reasonable compensation has been provided for disabled veterans and dependents of war dead.

Hear Education Leader.

The delegates applauded vigorously when Orville C. Pratt, president of the National Education association, said that "school teachers who attempt to indoctrinate their pupils with un-American doctrins have no place in the school system and the sooner they are put out the better."

"I have not the slightest fear that our children will be led astray by communism, Naziism or any of the other isms," Pratt said. "Children are naturally loyal to their own country."

LA GUARDIA SUED FOR EXPENDITURE IN 1929 CAMPAIGN

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia is being sued in the Second District Municipal court, the Bronx, jointly with Keyes Winter for $551 for pictures and badges used in the municipal election campaign of 1929, it was revealed today.

Justice James J. Fitzgerald reserved decision on a defense motion to dismiss the case on the grounds that campaign committees, rather than candidates, are responsible for campaign expenses. If the motion is denied, the case probably will go to trial on Nov. 9.

Keyes Winter was not identified nor was his address given. At the chambers of Municipal Court Justice Keyes Winter it was said he is the defendant named in the suit.

The suit was brought by William T. Wager, a manufacturer, whose complaint states that in October, 1929, the Republican campaign committee ordered and received from him 1,000 campaign pictures, valued at $530, and 300 badges, valued at $21.

CHURCH LEADERS CALL PARLEY ON MODERN TRENDS

Conference Will Stress The "American Way."

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

An American conference to discuss religion, education and present trends was called yesterday for Dec. 2, 3 and 4, by unanimous vote of a group of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish leaders at a meeting held in the Palmer house.

Prof. Robert H. Gault of Northwestern university was elected permanent chairman of the conference committee. The group included Dr. Felix A. Levi, president of the American Reform rabbinate; Bishop John Francis Noll, of Fort Wayne, chairman of Catholic lay organizations of the country; Dr. John Timothy Stone, president of Presbyterian Theological seminary; Rabbi Solomon Goldman of Temple Anshe Emet, the Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Kaub, of the Evangelical Lutheran Missouri synod publicity association; Dr. Horace Bridges of the Chicago Ethical society and about 20 others.

Purpose of Conference.

In addition to a formal statement of principles and objectives which was the basis of yesterday's meeting, Dr. Gault told the group that the December conference which will be held in the Palmer house would be no "name calling forum" in which communism and other forms of statism would be viewed with alarm. Rather, he said, progressive and constructive views of the American way of life would be stressed to offset foreign ideas.

The formal statement on which yesterday's meeting was called declared that the appeal of foreign propaganda owes its power over youth "to the eager haste felt by generous natures to remedy wrongs, and to mistaken idealism."

Such propaganda, the statement added, profess a sure remedy for evils of poverty and economic insecurity, but it declared that the price paid in this "specious bargain" is slavery.

American Principles Upheld.

"We are no apologists for the inequalities of fortune that still mar our social order," it continued. "But we are deeply convinced that our American principle of social life offers a better opportunity of correcting what is amiss than any possible rival to it.

"Dictatorship in any form, irrespective of the different goals that different dictatorships profess to be seeking, is the denial and violation of the essential dignity which inheres in the nature of man."

Communism or other forms of statism, the statement explained, cannot exist without subjection of all to a centralized mind.

"Censorship of the press, reducing all newspapers and periodicals to the level of phonograph records which grind out 'their masters' voice,' monopoly of the radio—making it a criminal offense to listen to broadcasts from any other country," are among the results of a dictatorial "planned society," according to the statement.

War Against Communism Told.

Bishop Noll, a principal speaker at yesterday's meeting, expressed favor for the coming conference, told of the Catholic church's long battle against communism and Socialism and declared that pre-war propaganda against the church were badly disguised efforts to bring about strife between classes as advocated by Karl Marx.

Rabbi Goldman confirmed Bishop Noll's statement that Socialism as an American political party has waned since the war, and Dr. Bridges affirmed Bishop Noll's assertion that communistic ideals have failed.

The Rev. Miron A. Morrill of the Methodist board of education, 740 Rush street, praised the social program of the Catholic church.

The December conference, according to Dr. Gault, will replace earlier plans for a similar conference proposed for October.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

New Comfort for Those Who Wear FALSE TEETH

No longer does any wearer of false teeth need to be uncomfortable. FASTEETH, a new, greatly improved powder, sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds them firm and comfortable. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Deodorizes. Get FASTEETH today at Walgreen's or any other good drug store.

'COMMISSIONS' PAID TO COUNTY OFFICERS BARED

"Never Gave Me a Nickel."

"But Walton never gave me a nickel in return for any shorthand work," said Coroner Walsh, "and I told them so at the federal building. I coöperated with the agents, giving them permission to examine my bank account, stock market account, and all my financial records. Two weeks ago they told me they were satisfied with my story.

"When I became coroner in 1931 Mayor Cermak, then in office, called me in and asked me to give the shorthand business in the office to Walton. He said Walton had been a good friend of the organization and he [Cermak] wanted him taken care of."

The coroner, while he asserted he had no accurate information regarding any payments by Walton, suggested they might have been made as contributions to the Democratic party campaign fund rather than to county officials as individuals and that the county official who received the money got it not for his own use but for the party fund.

$52,000 for State's Attorney.

The next largest appropriation made by the county board this year for stenographic reporting for county offices after the coroner's $62,000 is $52,000 for State's Attorney Courtney in two different funds.

In the city hall the corporation counsel's office has an appropriation of $22,500 this year. Walton formerly had a monopoly on this work, but more recently it has been split between his agency and the General Court Reporting Service, Inc., operated by State Senator Francis J. Loughran. Corporation Counsel Hodes said yesterday he found this arrangement in force when he took office and has not altered it. All the court reporters have a standard charge of 55 cents a page.

BANDIT IS GIVEN LIFE IN PRISON; SHOT DOWN TWO

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 23.—(AP)—A life term in prison was decreed today for George Hall, 29, who held up and shot his former employer here Sept. 2 and later shot a La Crosse, Wis., business man and robbed a Rockford, Ill., gasoline filling station.

Ernest S. Gallagher, contractor, still stiffnecked from a wound inflicted by Hall near Detroit after a $30 office holdup, was in court as Recorder's Judge John V. Brennan passed sentence.

The young gunman, who pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery, displayed no emotion as Judge Brennan told him curtly, "Society is entitled to protection from such men as you."

BLAME IN COURT CALENDAR JAM PUT ON LAWYERS

Judge J. J. Kelly, head of the law division of the Superior court, yesterday laid the blame for jammed calendars of the court on "fourflushing lawyers," who, he said, renege on their promises to go to trial after their cases have been assigned to trial judges.

As a result of this practice, Judge Kelly said, seven of the twelve judges assigned to hear 6,526 cases, which were on the court callender prior to July 18, when the courts closed for the summer, are hearing only motions. The cases are largely personal injury suits.

"When the cases were called before me for assignment to a trial judge," said Judge Kelly, "a number of attorneys stepped forward and said they were ready to proceed to trial. When I obliged them with an immediate hearing they turned fourflusher and told the trial judge they were not ready and pleaded for more time to prepare their cases."

COUNTY BEGINS BELATED EFFORT TO STOP FRAUDS

Court Justices Move to Enforce Law.

Measures to force county fee officers to deposit funds which they receive with the county treasurer in compliance with a law enacted by the general assembly more than a year ago were under consideration at the county building yesterday.

The failure of the county officials to obey this law and of county judges to force their clerks to comply with it is held responsible in large part for the scandals which have resulted in the last year from the loose handling of public and court funds.

The 1935 law makes it mandatory for public officials to deposit with the treasurer each month all funds and moneys received by virtue of their offices, and specifies that the treasurer can pay out the funds only when a check or draft is countersigned by another public official.

Fisher to Investigate.

Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court said he wouldn conduct an investigation with a view to determining the propriety of requiring the clerk of the Circuit court to comply with the law. Chief Justice Joseph B. David of the Superior court said the judges of his court would go into the matter fully but he would make no further statement.

It was revealed that all of the public officials received opinions from the state's attorney's office that the law required them to turn over all their funds to the county treasurer. No attention was paid to the opinions nor to notices sent out by the county board.

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, said he received opinions from Hayden N. Bell, assistant state's attorney, that officials should comply with the act and that the county board forwarded copies to the officials.

Nobody Wants Enforcement Job.

However, there appears to be a lack of willingness on the part of county officials to accept responsibility for enforcement of the act. Smith said the county board does not have authority to enforce it; the judges said the burden is not theirs, and County Treasurer Joseph L. Gill denied responsibility.

Gill said that no funds, aside from fees, have been turned over to him. He denied a statement by County Clerk Michael J. Flynn that Flynn had offered to turn over the tax redemption fund to him soon after the law was adopted. Flynn said Tuesday that he had tendered the fund to Gill but the county treasurer refused to take it because it would require setting up a special department. Gill asserted that he has been "ready at all times to receive these funds."

SEEKS ORDINANCE TO BAR HOSTESSES FROM ALL TAVERNS

Ald. Edwin Meyer [45th] submitted a resolution to the city council yesterday calling for an ordinance to prohibit employment of all hostesses in taverns. It was referred to the committee on licenses.

"This class of people only mooch on the customers and the good tavern owners are in favor of their elimination," said Ald. Meyer. "The ordinance should provide that licenses be revoked if the owners continue to employ hostesses."

WHEN DAD IS UP AGAIN THIS LOOKS BAD FOR RICHARD

When James Ricci, 367 North Pulaski road, gets out of the Garfield Park hospital and gets the bandages off his hands, it will probably go badly with his son Richard, 10 years old.

Tuesday morning Richard found a purse belonging to his aunt, Miss Elizabeth Dutko of St. Louis, who was visiting his parents, took a $5 bill from it and vanished. In his search for the boy Ricci finally went early yesterday to 3734 Division street, where his mother lives, and found him asleep in a truck behind the elder Mrs. Ricci's home. His father carried him into the house and then returned to the truck in the hope that the boy might have dropped the $5 there.

Gasoline fumes which had accumulated in the truck body were ignited by a match which Ricci lit. He was burned about the hands and face. Later in the day Richard confessed to his mother that he had spent the $5 on meals, candy, ice cream, and movie shows.

OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING; WIFE'S PARENTS LIVING

Burt S. Davis, 70 years old, who retired last January after 56 years in the employ of Marshall Field & Co., and his wife, Carrie, 67 years old, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary tomorrow at their summer home at Wonder Lake in McHenry county. Mr. Davis' parents, Arthur Dawson, G. A. R. veteran, who is 92 years old, and his wife, 88 years old, reside at 321 Harvey avenue, Oak Park.

The Davises were married in Chicago at the site of the old criminal court building. They have resided for the most part in Oak Park and Elmhurst. Mr. Davis entered the service of the department store in 1880 as errand boy to Marshall Field.

They have two daughters, Mrs. George D. Kemler of Sycamore, Ill., and Mrs. Fred H. Bones of Parker, S. D., and five grandchildren.

Chinese Gunmen Kill One Marine, Wound Two.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 24.—[Thursday.]—A Japanese landing party in full war gear, more than 2,000 strong, streamed from their barracks and occupied much of the Hongkew section of the Shanghai international settlement last night in a swift answer to the killing of one Japanese blue jacket and the wounding of two other marines.

Rear Admiral Eijiro Kondo, commander of the landing party, declared:

"The Japanese were prepared for an emergency and are taking armed measures within and without the international settlement. Our indignation at this latest outrage against Japanese marines on top of recurring acts of violence knows no bounds."

4 Chinese Gunmen in Attack.

Four Chinese gunmen fired eight shots in the fray last night, which is viewed here as a climax to recent scattered anti-Japanese shooting incidents in which at least five Nipponese citizens have been killed and about twenty wounded.

Japanese marines already have landed at Hankow and Pakhoi, southern China, to promote the investigation of incidents in those two cities.

Japanese forces in Shanghai, backed by tanks, armored cars, military trucks, machine gun squads, and light artillery, were in the streets a few minutes after the Chinese had fired. They spread quickly into Chapei, the adjoining Chinese district.

The Japanese stopped buses and street cars and searched the occupants. Chinese and foreigners in one bus were made prisoners. Theaters, cabarets and restaurants near the scene of the shooting were emptied and closed. Private motor cars were searched. Foreigners who resisted were handled by Japanese marines using unsheathed bayonets.

Open House to House Search.

The Japanese started a house to house search for three of the Chinese gunmen. They claimed one was arrested while fleeing down an alley in the vicinity of the crime.

Japanese reservists, including hundreds of gunmen wearing civilian clothes, were mobilized. About 300 boys of high school age were armed. Japanese civilians walked the streets carrying flags. A cordon of blue jackets ringed the Japanese consulate.

Chinese and the occidental population of Shanghai were terrorized. Japanese officials excitedly warned Stirling Fessenden, American chairman of the international settlement, to protect the Japanese and settlement authorities mobilized the White Russian volunteer regiment and special police in the French concession.

Conditions were reminiscent of those in 1932 when, from January until March, the Japanese shelled Chapei and landing parties and battle to drive the Chinese 19th route army out of the city.

U. S. Marines Not Mobilized.

United States marines and the British defense forces had not yet been ordered to stand by early this morning.

Shigeru Kawagoe, Japanese ambassador to China, who is in Nanking conferring with Chang Chun, Chinese foreign minister, on the other recent anti-Japanese incidents at Chengtu, Hankow and Pakhoi, has threatened to break off the discussion and return to Shanghai.

"A dark shadow has been cast on future Chinese-Japanese negotiations," he said. "The sole responsibility rests with the national government. The new outrage makes the Nipponese more determined to eradicate anti-Japanese sentiment and thoughts in China, which is entirely lacking in good faith and is face to face with a grave situation.

"The killings render relations very critical."

Jap Transports Due.

On the day prior to the incident the Japanese maneuvered infantry, tanks and armored cars throughout the settlement, interfering with occidentals, who were angered.

Meanwhile, transports bearing reinforcements from Japan, ordered here because of the murder of a Japanese consular policeman at Hankow on Sept. 19, were scheduled to arrive later today. It was reported that Koki Hirota, Japanese prime minister, also had sanctioned the dispatching of further reinforcements.

Called "Last Straw" in Tokio.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Sept. 24.—[Thursday.]—Following an all night conference, high Japanese naval leaders acted today to punish China for the latest anti-Japanese incident in which one Japanese marine was killed and two were wounded in Shanghai. Admiral Osami Nagano, minister of the navy, meantime postponed his departure with Emperor Hirohito for the grand naval maneuvers in order to take charge of the situation.

Officials said a public statement clarifying the navy's stand will be issued later.

Public feeling is running high here and opinion generally is that the Shanghai killing is the last straw. It is regarded in many quarters as a serious war threat.

Even in moderate foreign office quarters hope was practically given up of settling the disputes without force. Most Japanese feel that China has been asking for trouble and is determined to continue insults until she is forcefully stopped.

NEW TAXATION PLAN WILL AFFECT UPPER JAPANESE CLASSES

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Sept. 23.—To raise 200,000,000 yen [about $67,000,000] additional each year in taxes and at the same time fulfill the government's promise to spread the burdens more fairly between industry and agriculture, finance Minister Eiichi Baba has introduced a new taxation scheme, which he describes as an epochal reform.

The income tax exemption point, now 1,200 yen a year, or $400, is lowered to 1,000 yen, it was revealed today. The inheritance tax, the maximum rate of which is now 21 per cent, is doubled, and corporate income taxes are increased by 30 to 80 per cent.

These increases are specifically intended to lay part of the extra taxation on the rich or comparatively rich. The general public is reached by a 60 per cent increase in the tax on beer, a 20 per cent increase in that on sake [rice wine] and higher prices for cigarets, a government monopoly. The government plans to make liquor also a state monopoly.

Coffee Boils Over; Couple Found Dead of Gas in Home

Dixon, Ill., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Michael Broman, 65, and his wife, Lena, were found dead in the bedroom of their home here tonight, victims of gas. A coffee pot which had boiled over was found over an open gas jet in the adjoining kitchen. The couple had been dead more than twenty-four hours when neighbors smelled the gas and called police.

SCHOOL OFFICIAL KIDNAPED AND ROBBED OF $1,463

Floyd Hummel, 247 South 20th avenue, Maywood, purchasing agent for the Proviso Township High school, was kidnaped and robbed of $1,463 in school funds shortly after noon yesterday when he stopped his automobile for a trafic light in Jackson boulevard at Peoria street.

Hummel was taking the money to a loop bank. As he stopped at the Jackson-Peoria intersection a sedan containing three young gunmen came alongside. Two of the robbers jumped into Hummel's automobile. One of them seized the wheel and drove away with his companion and Hummel. The man left in the robbers' car also speeded off. Witnesses summoned Park Policemen John H. Peterson and William Harrington who commandeered a passing automobile and pursued the robbers in Hummel's car, firing several shots.

The gunmen soon outdistanced the policemen. At Morgan and Van Buren streets they stopped beside the car containing the third man. The two men in Hummel's automobile seized the money, jumped out of his car and drove off with their companion.

PLAN ON SANITY TEST FOR SLAYER OF DAUGHTER

John Pavelka, 39 years old, 2709 South Ridgeway avenue, who strangled and beat his daughter, Catherine, 15 years old, to death in their home last Saturday, repeated his plea that he be sent to the electric chair when he was arraigned yesterday before Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley in Criminal court. Pavelka pleaded guilty to a charge of murder, but his plea was later withdrawn at the request of Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach, who indicated he would seek a mental examination for Pavelka. Judge McKinley continued the hearing until Sept. 30.

How Many Shoe Stores Can You Visit In A Day?

There are hundreds of shoe stores in Chicago and suburbs. It would be fine if you could shop them all daily. But to do so is a physical impossibility. It is much more simple to keep in touch with the values offered by the shoe stores by reading the advertising in the Chicago Tribune. You get all the important news about shoes in the Tribune because shoe retailers place more advertising in the Tribune than they place in any other Chicago newspaper. Some stores advertise only in the Tribune.

OPTIMISTIC G.O.P. AWAITS VOTE FOR ASSEMBLY SEATS

See Prospect of Breaking Democratic Control.

BY PARKE BROWN.

So sanguine are Republican leaders in Illinois about the outcome of the November election that they now see a prospect of smashing the present Democratic control of the state legislature.

They say they are certain first of all to break down the present Democratic two-thirds majority in the senate. They admit, because 16 of the 26 holdover senators are Democrats, that there is no substantial indication that the Republicans can win a full majority, or 26 of the 51 seats, but they do contend that they will come close to that mark.

Outlook in House Seats.

In the house of representatives they say the outlook is excellent to win back at least eight of the seats they lost in recent elections, and that would give them a clear constitutional majority of 77 in that chamber.

The Republican loss of power in the legislative branch at Springfield is shown by the lineup by parties in the last three general assemblies as follows:

SENATE.	1931.	1933.	1935.
Republicans	33	18	16
Democrats	18	33	35
HOUSE.	1931.	1933.	1935.
Democrats	72	80	84

The G. O. P. expectation of boosting its total in the senate is based on the fact that ten holdover senators are Republican, their feeling of certainty that the four Republicans whose terms expire will be reëlected, and their belief that they will recapture at least seven of the fifteen districts they lost in the Roosevelt landslide of 1932. That would give them a total of twenty-one, or four more than one-third. They say they have a chance to win in three other districts which would bring them up to twenty-four, or only two shy of a majority. A Landon landslide would give them those two.

Voted G. O. P. in Primary.

Their avowed certainty to recapture seven of the seats lost in 1932 lies in the fact that each of those seven districts cast more Republican votes than Democratic in the primary, despite the greater heat of the Democratic state battle. The G. O. P. contends that it has grown much stronger since last April.

A tabulation of the actual number of party ballots cast in those seven districts in April follows:

Dist.	Republican.	Democratic.
12	12,587	8,760
18	23,684	17,377
20	24,316	11,964
22	21,761	18,883
24	18,595	14,080
26	16,778	12,755
32	13,960	12,885

Until 1932 every one of these seven was for years a Republican stronghold. The three other districts which, although producing a few less Republican votes than Democratic last April, are listed as "probably" Republican this fall are the Twenty-eighth, Thirty-fourth, and Forty-sixth. Districts described as "possibly" Republican are the Fortieth and Forty-fourth.

How the Voting Works.

The mathematical accuracy used in analyzing the senate situation is not applicable to the house. While each district elects only one senator, it chooses three representatives and the voter has the right to vote for one, two, or three candidates. If he votes for only one that candidate is credited with three votes. If the ballot is marked for two candidates each of them receives 1½ votes. If three crosses are marked each of the three receives 1 vote.

This is known as the "plumping" system and its effect prohibits an accurate estimate based on party strength in a district. This year there are only twenty-eight districts in which there are contests for the house. In the other twenty-three only three nominees have been put up by the two major parties and such a "set-up" has not been broken by an independent or third party candidate for many years.

Battles for Only 84 Seats.

In other words, 69 of the 153 members of the house, or 45 per cent, are "as good as elected" right now. The battles on Nov. 3 affect only the remaining eighty-four seats.

In twenty-six of the contested districts [illegible] Republicans have nominated [illegible] and the Democrats have [illegible] two. Only eleven of those districts now have two Republican representatives. It is in the other fifteen now represented by two Democrats and one Republican that the G. O. P. hopes to make its house gains.

Three of these districts—the Fifth and Sixth in Cook county, and the Forty-third downstate—elected two Republicans as recently as 1932 and in spite of the Democratic landslide that year. The Thirteenth in Cook and the Twenty-eighth, Fortieth, and Forty-eighth downstate elected two Republicans in 1930.

Two Unusual Contests.

There are two districts in which the contest is unusual. The Tenth and the Thirty-ninth have each nominated three Republicans and one Democrat. In 1928 and again in 1930 the Tenth did do the unusual and elect three Republicans. And the Republicans can do it again this year if plumping does not prevent, say the party leaders. Such a clean sweep is shown possible by the fact that in the primary the Tenth cast 24,754 Republican ballots and only 13,905 Democratic ballots.

If the Republicans divide their votes evenly among their three nominees each will receive more than 8,000, and if the Democrats split theirs neither Democratic nominee will poll more than 7,000 on the basis of the primary returns.

Per-Albin Hansson Asked to Form Swedish Cabinet

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Per-Albin Hansson, former premier and leader of the Social Democrats, today accepted a call from King Gustav to form a new cabinet. The Social Democrats regained control of the Swedish parliamentary chamber in elections Sunday. Premier Axel Pehrsson resigned earlier today.

THE HOUSE

Each of the fifty-one senatorial districts in Illinois elects three state representatives for a term of two years. In each district the senatorial committees determine how many candidates each party shall nominate. Nomination of only three by the two major parties means no contest.

THE SENATE

While each one of the Illinois senatorial districts elects a state senator for a term of four years only the even numbered districts elect senators this year. The odd numbered districts will elect their senators in 1938. This method of election was established by the constitution of 1870.

"GRASS ROOTS" POLL RESULTS

New York, Sept. 23. [Special.]—Gov. Alfred M. Landon continues to hold a substantial lead over President Roosevelt in the "grass roots" poll being conducted by 3,000 country newspapers in coöperation with Publishers Autocaster Service and the American Press.

While the President cut his Republican opponent's lead in percentage from 59.5 per cent, the figure a week ago, to 58.3 per cent, Gov. Landon holds the lead in twenty-eight states against the lead in eight states enjoyed by President Roosevelt. Twelve states have not sent in a sufficient number of votes to warrant their being recorded.

The figures released today show that after five weeks' balloting Gov. Landon has 396,230 votes against the President's 241,868. Representative Lemke has 31,171 votes, and the remaining three candidates together have but 1.5 per cent of the 680,001 votes cast.

The complete tally by states follows:

State.	Roosevelt.	Landon.	Lemke.
Alabama	3,780	2,373	432
California	1,848	2,970	162
Colorado	2,323	2,356	183
Connecticut	459	[illegible]	[illegible]
Florida	9,366	5,561	373
Idaho	269	162	31
Illinois	15,120	26,946	918
Indiana	5,535	8,937	1,512
Iowa	11,124	18,360	2,808

TEXAS DEMOCRAT JOINS IN FIGHT TO DEFEAT NEW DEAL

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Opposition to the reëlection of President Roosevelt and the New Deal administration was voiced by W. P. Hamblen, prominent attorney of Houston, Tex., and a life long Democrat, in a statement issued here today by the National Jeffersonian Democrats.

Asserting his belief in the principles of the Democratic party and its 1932 platform, Hamblen charged that the present administration has "disregarded the rights of the states, has flouted the constitution and the oath of office of the President and has centralized powers in Washington to such an extent that if allowed to continue will inevitably result in dictatorship of either fascism or communism."

"Unemployment and other social problems must be met," Hamblen's statement declared, "but cannot be met by wasteful spending beyond our means and by paying the unemployed more for remaining idle than agriculture and business can pay for their labor.

"We cannot have plenty by producing less and by destroying our food products to raise prices. The system adopted by our present administration is not only economically unsound but absurd, and has resulted in the importation from foreign countries of foodstuffs to make up for our shortage at home caused by this wanton destruction."

5 New Infantile Paralysis Cases Are Reported in City

Five more cases of infantile paralysis were reported yesterday, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the city board of health, announced. The cases raised the number reported since Sept. 1 to 61, and the total for the year to 96. Ten deaths have resulted.

Ordered to Give His Wife New Auto or Go to Jail

Judge John Lewe of the Superior court yesterday ordered Roy Mason, a butcher, to turn his new automobile over to his estranged wife, Mary, 6808 Ridgeland avenue, or go to jail for contempt of court. Through her attorney, Norman Becker, Mrs. Mason, who is suing for separate maintenance, informed the court that her husband deserted her last March 29, taking with him $5,600 she had given him, and going to live with another woman. She asked no alimony, but demanded her money back. The judge directed that Mason should turn over the car as the first payment.

U. S. WAR JOB 'FUSSY MUDDLE' TO LLOYD GEORGE

Gen. Pershing Assailed by British Ex-Premier.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 24.—[Thursday.]—America's world war efforts were a "fussy muddle" and a "lamentable story of indecision and bustling inefficiency," David Lloyd George, wartime prime minister of Great Britain, declares in the fifth volume of his "War Memoirs," published today.

The fiery Welsh statesman, in a scathing attack on Gen. John J. Pershing, accuses the American expeditionary force leader of devoting his efforts to building up the American army as a separate unit rather than throwing infantry and machine gunners into the breach as the allied leaders begged him to do.

In March, 1918, when the British were feeling the full force of Gen. Erich Ludendorff's final offensive, Lloyd George charges, the Americans were slow in coming over and sent headquarters units ahead of fighting men. Though Generalissimo Foch personally begged him to send the fighters ahead, says Lloyd George, Pershing "dug in his high heels and refused to make any concessions."

Quivered with Suspicion."

Gen. Pershing was "quivering with suspicion that the French and British meant to rob him of his army," the former prime minister writes. "He could see no further than exaltation of his own command."

Lloyd George described Woodrow Wilson as "a man who was not cut out for a great war minister."

Wilson's neglect of timely preparations, he continues, was such that "no field gun of American pattern or manufacture fired a shot in the war, and the same thing applied to tanks." At the end of the war, he charges, half the airplanes used by Americans were of French or British make.

"It is one of the most inexplicable paradoxes of history," the account continues, "that the greatest machine producing nation on earth failed to turn out mechanism for war after 18 months of sweating, toiling, hustling. The men placed in charge all seemed to hustle each other—but never the job. The result was a fussy muddle."

Lloyd George praised, however, the courage of American soldiers. They were "superb," he says, and enabled France and Britain to hurl their last reserves against Germany.

Gen. Johnson Replies.

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Gen. Hugh Johnson, creator and head of the American army's supply and trafic organization in the world war, lashed back sharply today at David Lloyd George's criticism of Gen. Pershing and the American contributions to the allied cause.

"Mr. Lloyd George himself was involved in a conspiracy to have Gen. Pershing supplanted by Gen. Peyton March so that American soldiers might be treated as cannon fodder by the British and French," said Gen. Johnson. "Gen. March, who was chief of staf here, indicated in his own book that if he had gone over he would have broken up the United States army."

Commenting on the memoirs, Gen. Johnson said:

"It is true that direct supplies of tanks, planes and ammunition did not get fully under way in our 18 months but this was the policy and express desire of the allied powers. The French urged us, and we agreed, to use their 75 millimeter guns. The arrangements was that we would use facilities for manufacture in both France and England, furnishing them with steel and other elements. It worked out perfectly satisfactory to them. As for tanks, we furnished motors and other parts to be assembled abroad."

Up to March, 1918, Gen. Johnson said, "we were requested to confine our participation to furnishing of money and supplies. But after the defeat of Byng's fifth army, they appealed to us in a panic to increase our shipments of men."

KING OF ENGLAND KILLS VICTORIAN CASTLE CUSTOMS

Sheds Royal Pomp for Good Times.

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Sept. 23.—(AP)—King Edward VIII. of England, dressed in the gay plaids of a Scottish king, came down from the highlands tonight to meet his guests, who included the American Mrs. Ernest Simpson.

Mrs. Simpson motored to the royal castle at Balmoral, where the monarch is spending a three weeks holiday. Accompanying her were Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Rogers of New York.

Edward, described as having "swept away the last vestiges of Victorianism" at Balmoral, met his guests jovially and informally.

The new arrivals were escorted into the castle, where they joined other members of the royal house party, including the dukes and duchesses of York, Gloucester, Kent, and Marlborough. Queen Mary stayed in London.

Aberdeen Is Startled.

The king's unannounced visit to Aberdeen startled the populace. Old retainers at Balmoral castle have expressed surprise at the many changes King Edward has made in the Highland estate, where he sheds royal pomp and enters the life and pastimes of the countryside.

By royal command he discontinued the gathering of the clansmen for his arrivals, which were picturesque features of his late father's autumn trips to Scotland.

Instead of a carefully planned routine, King Edward on the spur of the moment takes to the hills and stalks stags.

Yesterday, for instance, he spent the day in the hills with the three dukes, while the duchesses picnicked on the moors.

Changes Royal Bedroom.

Some of the changes made at Balmoral have puzzled retainers, particularly when the king decided that he would not sleep in his dead father's bedroom. King Edward occupies a small and unpretentious chamber, reserving the master bedroom for guests.

Only about 75 servants of the royal household traveled for the king's visit instead of 150 King George was accustomed to keep in his retinue.

The Balmoral stables now house only a few horses instead of the customary 40.

The castle staf, however, takes heart from the perpetuation of at least one ancient ceremonial—Edward has let the bagpipe players stay on. He not only retains their services, the bagpipers report, but tells them what tunes he wants played and sometimes even takes the pipes himself and skirls a note or two.

Girl, 11, to Be Decorated for Saving a Child's Life

Charlotte, Mich., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Mona Casler, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon C. Dexter of Eaton Rapids, near here, will be decorated for heroism during the chapel hour of the Eaton High school Friday. Mona saved the life of Shirley Warfield, one of the small twins of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warfield, last May when the child, crossing a street, fell into the path of a truck.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Alfalfa Revives.

Sept. 23, 1936.

ESTABLISHED fields of alfalfa have made a remarkable comeback since the late summer rains at the Tribune Experimental farm near Wheaton. A few weeks ago the drouth had left the fields practically bare and only scattering green sprigs could be found. Today a third cutting of hay is being cut from about 35 acres of alfalfa on the Wheaton farm. This "surprise" hay crop has encouraged men at the farm to believe more than ever in the old saw that "as long as there's life, there is hope."

Alfalfa on the Yorkville farm has made similar excellent growth since it started raining about the middle of August. The farm manager may take a third cutting of hay from some of the alfalfa fields.

The Yorkville farm test field where twenty-two different varieties of alfalfa are being grown may be cut the third time this season.

Eight Best from the North.

A report of recent observations made by men at the farm indicates that the eight best varieties are from northern sections. These varieties seem to be able to resist the cold winter weather better than the other fourteen varieties growing in the same field.

It is the opinion of the observers that Minnesota Grimm tops the list of the twenty-two varieties, according to the condition of the plants at the present time. The other seven of the eight best varieties are: Dakota No. 12 [South Dakota grown], South Dakota Grimm, Blackfoot Brand [Idaho grown], Michigan Grimm, Certified Hardigan [Michigan grown], Canadian Variegated, and Cossack [Montana grown].

According to the report, the plot grown from a mixture of seeds of all the varieties being tested is producing a fairly good crop for the third cutting. The stand is good but the growth is uneven. Some of the plants started blossoming two weeks ago. The mixed alfalfa has the advantage of being on the lowest part of the field.

Taller on Low Ground.

In the low spots the alfalfa plants are several inches taller than they are on the higher ground, but the stands are about the same in most cases whether on high or low ground. The growth is better on low land perhaps because there the soil retained more moisture during the dry summer.

With the exception of varieties known as Oklahoma Common, Nebraska Hardy Common, Turkestan, Registered Chilean, [Arizona grown], and Registered Hairy Peru [Arizona grown], the varieties in the test are expected to pull through the winter and produce a crop next year provided weather conditions are normal after the third cutting this fall.

Hairy Peru All Dead.

The Registered Hairy Peru appears to be dead. Not a single plant is believed to have survived the drouth.

When most of the varieties started blooming about two weeks ago, the farm manager thought it would be necessary to delay the third cutting of hay until late. The test field will be ready to harvest soon. Varieties known as Ladok [Montana grown], Hardistan [Nebraska grown], and Turkestan are rather late in blooming compared with the other varieties.

NEED A FORMULA FOR

SENSIBLE LIVING

You will enjoy the "middle years" more if you watch your diet, exercise sensibly . . . and, if you drink, choose a form of whiskey that agrees with you

"Seagram's Crown Blended Whiskies are A MOST WHOLESOME FORM OF WHISKEY."

This conclusive verdict of our recent research is the answer of a group of trained, fact-finding men who for months investigated the question, "How does the human system respond to different forms of whiskey?"

As a guide to the sensible choice of whiskey, this plain statement has been invaluable to men who like fine whiskey and drink it in moderation.

It means that they have been able to be sure of getting, in Seagram's Crowns, not only fine-tasting whiskey, but a form of whiskey which is easy on most men, considerate, kind—and most likely to agree with them.

GOV. LANDON AT DES MOINES.

In his talk at Des Moines, Gov. Landon properly placed his emphasis upon the grand objective of his agricultural program, the preservation and promotion of the family type farm. This is to him no catch-phrase. He spoke with an obvious sincerity born of intimacy with a great multitude of farm families and an understanding of their aspirations. He believes their way of life over the years has been good for them and for the nation. He believes that the difficulties which have beset the family type of farm can be overcome and he offered a well-rounded program for doing so.

His approach is in striking contrast to that of the New Dealers. Their program represents a confusion of purposes.

The communists among them want the nation's agricultural plant run from Washington, with the individual farmer reduced to the rôle of a hired man taking orders. He may plant only what the burocrats tell him to plant and of that acreage he may harvest only what they let him. He may have only as many animals in his feed lot as they will permit him to have. And so on. They do not say it aloud, but they think of the American farmer precisely as their Russian brethren thought of the kulak who was Russia's family farmer before he was "liquidated," as they say when they mean shot or exiled.

If the communists in the New Deal have not gone the whole way toward liquidating our farmers, it was only because of a conflict of purpose with two other elements in the administration. The Tammany trained politicians decided to use tax money to buy farmer votes. And the plantation owners of the south, who have an enormous influence in the Democratic party, far out of proportion to their numbers, saw an opportunity to make some money for themselves. To be sure, the money they received for not producing threw hundreds of thousands of tenant farmers and farm laborers off the land; but as vast numbers of these unfortunate people in the south are illiterate and deprived of the right to vote they were in no position to make an effective protest.

The objectives of all three of these classes of New Dealers are hateful to Mr. Landon. He proposes to cut off the millions of dollars paid to plantation owners. He proposes to make it easier for the farm tenant to buy the land he cultivates. He proposes to give an equivalent of tarif protection to the family-type farmer, but to do so without dictating to him how he is to run his farm. He is hopeful of crop insurance.

Mr. Landon believes he can increase farm income in these ways and he knows he can increase it further by reducing the nation's crushing burden of debt and taxation. It was significant that when he touched on this point, as he did several times in the speech, the response of his huge audience was instantaneous. Of all the ways of increasing farm income this is assuredly the one about which there is least doubt and also the one which is most nearly within the powers of the government to bring about.

The Des Moines speech was sincere, thoughtful, and understanding. It appealed to all, whether in cities or on the land, who believe that patience and common sense can bring about an improvement in the condition of the men and women engaged in the most important of American industries.

MR. ROOSEVELT AT HARVARD.

Mr. Roosevelt at the Harvard tercentenary asked for tolerance. Memorial hall is a part of the older Harvard as it was before the houses were built along the Charles river. The great transept was a celebrated feature of the memorial. It was lined with the tablets of the Harvard men who died in battle, '61-'65. Harvard was intolerant. It was intolerant of involuntary servitude.

POLITICS AND THE CRIMINAL.

In August Sherif Toman discharged three bailifs responsible for the sensational escape of three prisoners charged with and later convicted of murder. We now learn that Chief Bailif Horan of the Municipal court has put two of these men on his pay roll. "Sure I hired Green," said Horan. "I've got Wing working for me too. I'll always take a good man wherever I can find him."

Good for what? Good for whom?

Horan says Green and Wing are not allowed to handle prisoners in the Municipal court. Why not? If they cannot be depended upon in that service they have no proper place anywhere in the public service.

Horan exposes his own unfitness. He thinks machine politics will save him. Decent citizens should remember this exposure the next time Horan comes up for election.

Both this incident and the release of the thief Swinberg by Municipal Judge Cecil Smith on an unsecured bail bond show why crime thrives in spite of the millions of dollars exacted from the public to suppress it. Unscrupulous politics is its ally. Whether an office holder is merely indifferent and inefficient in the performance of his duty or outright corrupt, the result is much the same. Spoils politics has the ethics of the underworld and coöperates with it.

THE RED BORER IN THE LEGION.

It's strange that the American Legion should have a soft spot for communist doctrins. The trouble is that the veterans are confused. Their orators have a talking point about war profits and profiteers. The Legionnaires are the natural enemies of the revolutionaries, but when they get on the subject of the conscription of wealth they have a blind side presented to the radicals and Reds. This blind side is a good boring surface and the enemy has taken advantage of the opportunity.

If the Legion were asked to indorse and support a plan of conscripted services in peace time they would throw the proposal and the proposers out of the window. They do not believe in the nationalization of resources, industries, commerce or land. They have no use for the commissars or for the Hitler bondage, but when they think of another war they drop their guard.

Conscription of wealth as well as of men may seem to be directed against a selfish class of people who find an occasional war desirable. The veterans reason that if all profit were taken out of war there would not be much enthusiasm for another one. The government would take charge of every one's activities and possessions. The steel maker would obey military command. The industrialists would take orders and if they were slackers they would be sent to the trenches.

Congress has not yet reached the point where it would seriously entertain a bill for socialization of everything and everybody in the country. It has made progress in that direction under the New Deal and there are ambitious programs waiting future developments. With the pretense of mobilizing for war, however, there has been a bold attack upon the American political and social structure. Bills with powerful backing are introduced in congress to establish an absolute dictatorship whenever a government could find a quarrel with another country, big or little, to serve its purpose. There would not be a free person in the United States if there were a war and such laws could be applied.

The promoters of this scheme are not thinking of war, but of social, political, and economic control. The American Legion is not in sympathy with such communistic purposes, but if misguided and misled it will become a great influence in advancing them.

The Legion does not as yet understand the underlying motives. When it does it will refuse to be duped.

FASTER SUBURBAN SERVICE.

Announcement of the Pennsylvania railroad that under the new time tables the Detroit Arrow will run at a speed of 75 miles per hour, for 141 miles, may be coupled with the somewhat startling disclosure that there are now 644 mile a minute runs on North American railroads. The aggregate trackage is something over 40,000 miles. Prior to A Century of Progress there were few, if any, such schedules in existence. THE TRIBUNE extends its congratulations. The public may also be reminded, however, that there are 246,000 miles of first track in the United States, so that there is still room for substantial improvement. It may further be recalled that the railway managements have left almost untouched the vast opportunities offered by suburban service. Unless the railways do something about it they are likely to lose a share of the public approbation that has been gained through their spectacular rejuvenation of long distance operations.

The phrase, "To serve the public," as frequently used by the carriers, should be more than an advertising slogan. Cities expand to move the worker farther and farther away from his place of business. Naturally the modern trend is toward shorter working hours with longer periods for relaxation and entertainment, but if rapid transit does not keep step humanity will gain nothing or be forced to provide private means of transportation. In the final analysis there is little difference between a ten hour day and eight hours of work plus two hours in transit.

A profitable enterprise is beckoning. Will railway managements respond?

THE DIFFERENCE.

[Sioux Falls, S. D., Argus-Leader.]

Campaign expenditures this year, according to the official reports filed at Washington, show that the Republicans have spent more than the Democrats.

The Democratic total is $1,520,658 while the Republican total is $1,787,811.

While the subject is being reviewed, however, it is well to remember that the Republicans are paying their way in full. When their candidates and their speakers travel, the costs must come out of the campaign budget. When they send matter through the mails, postage must be paid. When they prepare publicity in the form of pictures or articles, they pay the bills.

Not so, however, in the case of the Democrats, more accurately known this year as the New Dealers.

Most of their workers are on the government pay roll and their salaries are paid by the people as a whole. Such payments do not appear in the Democratic campaign expense report.

Various agencies in Washington are now compiling publicity that is being used by the New Dealers in the campaign. We have as an example the handouts being distributed through the Resettlement administration. This department also prepared and produced the motion picture, "The Plow that Broke the Plains." The costs were not taken from the Democratic campaign fund.

Acting Postmaster General Howes journeyed from Washington to Watertown recently to tell a meeting of postoffice employés that they should work energetically for the reëlection of President Roosevelt. But the government, not the Democratic committee, paid his traveling expenses.

Congressman Fred H. Hildebrandt flooded the district with literature a while ago purporting to show how good he was, but he did not pay the postage. Instead he sent the letters through the mail under a government frank and all of the people paid the bill.

When a political meeting is to be held somewhere, many of those now in the government employ conveniently arrange some business pretext and charge the expenses of attending to the government.

So don't be misled by campaign costs, as they are reported to Washington. The Republicans have no backstage aid to foot their bills. They must campaign on their own money. The New Dealers, however, are drawing freely upon the resources of the United States treasury.

STEAMBOAT DAYS.

In the flush days of steamboating, owner-captains attained wealth and became great figures along the Mississippi. Their dignity sometimes progressed to a lordliness bordering on hauteur. The river folk resented the airs, but used the great men's boats, which were fast and comparatively safe. . . . We tell here of one captain whose real name, unfortunately, we cannot use—he left too many robust descendants who revere his memory. One day his finest boat, with his initials as insignia between her towering stacks, was hailed from a country landing and veered in toward the bank. "What do you want?" bellowed the mate to the lone ruralite, sitting on a horse, who had given the hail. "Want to speak to Cap'n Pursell," was the reply. The mate, miffed but anxious to save time, sent word to the texas and the great man stepped out on the hurricane roof. "What can I do for you, my good fellow?" he asked. "Just wanted to ask you, cap'n, kin my hoss have a drink out of yoh river?" C. L.

TYPIST'S PRAYER.

Lord, let me not hear, from day to day,
The fretful words of those who say,
"What's this queer word, my dear, I pray?"

Check Thou the wand'ring fingertip,
Let there be no distressing slip,
That naughty words stain not my lip.

Give me an eye to read aright,
Those cryptic lines that jar my sight,
But have a meaning to the bright.

Grant me the speed the eagles find,
Mine be as keen as Einstein's mind,
Yet under fire still benign.

AMEN.

PLOWING GRANDMA UNDER.

Grandpap, as he grew old down on his Indiana farm, became hard of hearing, but always tried to conceal the defect. This led to his giving some strange answers to simple questions. One in particular I recall. To begin, Grandma's name was Polly; second, Grandpap owned an old gray mule named Sally, a rebellious critter who would jump any fence in the country. Once, when he was bringing the old mule home from one of her trips of exploration, he met a neighbor who asked: "How is Polly?" Grandpap, who was pretty mad at the old mule, yelled back: "Dern her hide, I can't keep her anywhere; I'm going to hitch her to the plow this afternoon." M. C. B.

Molded of clay, most imperfectly done,
Will I place my idol. Here will shine

EFFECTS OF HEAD BLOWS.

AMONG boxers—those who engage in the sport made famous by Mendoza, Gentleman Jackson, John Barty, and Natty Bell—there may be found a well recognized type of deterioration which is sometimes termed "slug nutty" or "punch drunk." The nature of the condition has been investigated through studies on a large number of athletes.

A typical case is thus related. A lad trains as an amateur boxer with a laudable desire to improve his physical prowess. He becomes reasonably expert and is opposed by good men—receiving considerable punishment during a score or so of matches. Because of his success he becomes a professional, engages in longer fights, and hence meets more formidable opposition.

During four years in the ring he is matched in forty or more bouts. At this time his friends observe that his tolerance for head blows has become reduced. Whenever he receives a hard punch on the jaw he remains dazed for a longer period. His legs become shaky and afterward he states that they felt numb. His offensive, therefore, is not as vigorous as it had been. Nevertheless, he insists that he is in A1 shape although he loses encounters which formerly would have been won with ease. Even his close associates notice that he had changed. In fact, memory, attention, and concentration are definitly decreased.

E. J. Carroll Jr., who has gone into the subject carefully, reports that some of these subjects—in the midst of a conversation—will lapse into a revery, reverse the train of thought, or ask the same question several times. In a few instances an impediment of speech will be noted. These symptoms will progress for a year or so when they become stationary. In severe cases the voice is thick, halting, and guttural; and headache, dizziness, roaring in the ears, etc., are complained of occasionally.

Despite all symptoms, the punch drunk individual rarely realizes that anything is wrong, although those who are wise will plan retirement as soon as early signs appear. Carroll cites Gene Tunney's experience in which he boxed several rounds with his sparring partner without the slightest recollection of the incident. His lapse of memory occurred after he had been struck heavily on the jaw. Carroll believes that 60 per cent of the fighters who remain in the ring for a period of five years or more will develop obvious mental and emotional changes.

Just what happens? As most of us know, the brain is composed of both gray and white material. Each has its own specific gravity. Therefore, each will move at a different rate of speed. Thus we can understand how cells may be torn. It would seem certain that a force sufficiently powerful to cause a knockout would result in some permanent damage. They need only to be repeated to bring on a lessening of the power of quick response. Apparently the force of a pugilist's glove may be tantamount to a concussion which is often followed by tiny hemorrhages into the brain substance.

It is difficult to conceive how a jar to the brain sufficient to cause unconsciousness—even for a few minutes—will not be followed by engorgement of the blood vessels. Let us assume that such jolts are received many times in the course of a year or two, and we have the explanation for the loss of nerve filaments which make for alertness.

All of which is of interest in connection with accidents involving the skull arising from any and all sources. Participants in sports where falls are frequent should realize that they are risking brain injury. Football players particularly should wear headguards so as to break the force of impacts.

We must not regard lightly any type of unconsciousness. While the bony covering of the brain is reasonably thick, contact with a hard object that comes suddenly may lead to bleeding from vessels within the brain. Complete rest is imperative for at least twenty-four hours.

2. Is it possible for cancer to develop years after a goiter operation?
3. What causes a bad taste in the throat?
4. What are the symptoms of cancer of the liver and of the gall bladder?

REPLY.

1. An early symptom of cancer of the larynx is hoarseness, which gradually increases and is unrelieved by the use of the usual remedies.
2. Cancer of the thyroid does occur. The malignant portion is usually removed at the time of operation. Nevertheless, recurrences have been reported.
3. Discharges from the nasal sinuses, foul tongue, diseased teeth, abscessed tonsils, etc.
4. Pain, jaundice, loss of weight, collection of fluid in the abdomen, increasing weakness.

ITCHING MOUTH.

L. M. writes: What causes the roof of the mouth to itch severely?

REPLY.

Most of us exhibit the symptom of itching somewhere on the body each day. As a rule, the cleaner the skin the less the itching. There is a condition known as Fordyce's disease which is characterized by the appearance of small whitish or yellowish bodies on the mucus membrane within the mouth. The symptoms are burning and itching. Irritating foods may be responsible, also.

SIMPSON.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Apropos of the case of the American seaman, Simpson, who has been reported rotting in a jail in Naziland for almost a year and a half without having been brought to trial:

I am not passing any judgment as to his guilt or innocence. Any civilized country that has any standing in the world at all would have insisted long before now that this poor fellow should have received a fair and impartial trial.

I realize that this is a presidential election year and, of course, the pay rollers in Washington do not have the time to render a service to a humble American citizen who is in such a desperate situation. It is more important for Washington to line up millions of voters now that the election is so near.

I suppose it would be asking too much of the secretary of state that he should request the fourth assistant secretary of state to instruct the seventh assistant office boy to ask Ambassador Dodd at Berlin to afford some aid to this unfortunate American. MORRIS AUGUSTUS.

INFLATION.

Boswell, Ind., Sept. 20.—Four more years of New Deal will see inflation in its extreme, I believe. The average voter knows almost nothing about what inflation means. I hope to see an editorial soon on the subject—especially as to its effect on life insurance. O. M. FLACK.

STOCK MARKET AND ELECTION.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Some days ago THE TRIBUNE carried a news article on the financial page to the effect that an anticipated Republican victory in Maine explained the upward trend of the stock market the day before.

The day following the Maine election the stock market slumped. THE TRIBUNE, however, failed to point out the relationship between victory and the downward trend.

The stock market has been steadily advancing for weeks and months because recovery is a real fact in Maine and 47 other states. H. L. WARREN.

ASK THE DEMOCRATS.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Can any one tell me what is wrong with the old age pension which was to go into effect Jan. 1, 1936?

I had to wait until April before I could file my application. The county approved it in May, the state approved it in June, to be effective July 1. I received a check for $15 from the state on Aug. 20 for the month of July, another check for $15 on Sept. 14 for the month of August. Now I wonder what happened to the other half the government is supposed to pay. I am not getting anything from the government. AN AMERICAN.

THINK IT OVER.

Oak Park, Ill., Sept. 19.—I think that the people who talk so airily of voting for Mr. Roosevelt do not realize that if they put him in again this is the last time they will have a chance to vote for anything. There will be no more elections. Dictators do not have them, as we know them. Read back over dispatches from Germany, Italy, Russia and think it over, people. M.

THE SHOWMAN.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—You and I know that Mr. Roosevelt knows the American people in large majority consider that he has given us a fine, constructive administration; that he would be reëlected even if he just sat on the White House porch and read THE TRIBUNE.

Yet, how dull would be the campaign without this masterful political showman. Just to relieve the deadly ennui of the situation he is willing to contribute his time and effort next month toward making scintillating drama out of a contest that would otherwise be a dumb display indeed.

And the resulting exposé of the mediocrity of the opposition will be pitiful to behold. Who in the lists against him could ever hope to match the brilliance, the adroitness, the fascinating artistry of this political tactician? C. M. T.

HE WANTS A MAP.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Please don't kid the public. Give them the facts. Show a map where all the accidents occur, and you may agree that in order to make the streets safe you would have to elevate practically all roads in the entire city, as no place is safe from the overgrown, egotistic, self-important potential murderers.

Give every pedestrian a shotgun and let them toy with speeders as speeders toy with them. HENRY P. BOFF.

A NEW SCHOOL ALREADY OUTGROWN.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The superintendent and the board of education to the contrary, the decline in birth rate is not entirely responsible for the drop in this year's public school enrollment.

Hundreds of parents throughout Chicago are being compelled to send their young ones to parochial or out of town schools because the Chicago school administration is incompetent to provide the necessary facilities for their education.

Here in the Oakland district, after seventeen years of portables, the marvelous new half million dollar Oakenwald school was opened with much ceremony and publicity in September, 1935. What did not appear in the newspapers, however, was the fact that the first day's enrollment was more than the new school could take care of. It was necessary to double up some of the lower classes, half of the pupils attending from 9 to 12 and the remainder from 12 to 3. This year, with a heavier enrollment, nothing has been done to relieve the crowded conditions, and all grades up to the fifth are being put on the half day basis. To have built a new school only large enough to accommodate the portable enrollment was worse than stupid.

O, yes, the P.-T. A. and local business men's association are "patiently and coöperatively" working with the school board for a five room addition. It was seventeen years before they got the school. God knows when they'll get the extra rooms! MRS. F. L. CRAWFORD.

CONTRIBUTORS.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—It is interesting, indeed, to note the names of the du Ponts, the Rockefellers, the Morgans, the Armours among the contributors to the huge G. O. P. campaign fund.

Of course the privileged class, Republican and Democrat alike, are all against the best President we have had since Theodore Roosevelt; they who never did a real day's work in their lives, who would be pleased if the wage earners never made more than 10 cents an hour; they with their yachts and servants, who are always squawking about liberty and the constitution.

I have always believed that the best servant of the common people could be found among those whom the disciples of Wall street are so set against.

So, one look at that millionaire list of contributors to the Landon campaign fund gives me the answer to the ludicrous and silly TRIBUNE question as to what I am doing to save my country. Franklin D. Roosevelt has already saved the nation, honestly and truly. That is why I am going to help reëlect him. JOHN METCALF.

WASTE ON THE MISSISSIPPI.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Deciding the argument between E. H. Prior of Waterloo and George W. O'Neill, I beg to say that I fly over the upper Mississippi and Missouri rivers constantly. This is what I find:

In the spring the dams back the water over the farms. After corn planting time the river recedes to its banks and remains there from one to four weeks, according to the season.

Then the swamps having been drained, the reservoirs all closed, and the streams from the mountains all used in irrigation, the rivers shrink to mere canoe creeks with great unsightly banks flanked with hideous fields of weeds. S. H.

BRIDGE UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Can't we do something to regulate this promiscuous burning of leaves? Now I love the smell of burning leaves in the fall, but when it goes on all day and way into the night my poetic sense takes another turn. The other day when I had my afternoon bridge club we choked all afternoon from the smoke of burning leaves. How our hay fever friends must suffer! So please, Mr. Neighbor, burn your leaves in the mornings and leave our afternoons and evenings free for us to breathe. ANNE JESTY ROGERS.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

TAX DEFAULT.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A house we wanted to buy was [1] taken over by the city for back taxes. This [2] same house was taken over by a real estate agent. This agent had paid up these back taxes and [3] now has this same house up for sale.

4. Did he get the deed to this house from the city when he paid the back taxes?

5. Would we be the sole owners when we paid for the house?

6. Would we get the deed or clear title to this house? Could the original owners sue us or claim this same property if they paid up the sum they owed the city at any time in the future? J. R.

1. A tax sale is a cloud on the title rather than a title in itself. It is not clear what you mean at this point.
2. It is not clear whether you mean that he has merely purchased the tax interests.
3. Has he taken court proceedings to clear the title?
4. Not without additional proceedings.
5. We suggest that you look up the records on the tract index in the recorder's office.
6. It is nearly always advisable for a purchaser of real estate to employ an attorney throughout, and we advise you to employ one now. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

RED PLANES RAIN 5,200 TROOPS TO EARTH IN 'BATTLE'

Soviets Test Parachute Defense of Moscow.

Vast fleets of planes converted the heavens into a veritable flying armory for mimic warfare between "Red" and "Blue" forces.

In the maneuvers, regarded by Russian army officers as battle tactics of the future, 5,200 troops floated to earth on parachutes behind "enemy" lines. The stratagem succeeded in halting a "Blue" attack on the Klaiazma river approach to the capital.

2,200 in Air at Once.

At one time 2,200 troops dropped to the earth on parachutes from a fleet of gigantic transports while a convoy of fast pursuit planes protected the maneuver. While the troops billowed earthward, the fighting planes raked "enemy" troops on the ground to cover their descent.

In the vanguard of the defending forces were parachutists equipped with machine guns who, covered by the pursuit planes, landed and seized the enemy airfield.

Meantime, from a distance of about 275 miles, the "Red" defending forces flew artillery and troops into the battle area. About 3,000 men, carrying light field pieces, dropped to the captured "enemy" airfield.

Reds Repel Attack.

Immediately they turned their guns on the "Blues'" rear, cutting them off from reinforcements, and repelling the "attack."

The demonstration was the largest aerial movement of troops ever seen in the Moscow area and military observers said they were favorably impressed with the feat, both by the distances involved and the number of troops and equipment landed.

At the height of the "battle" the air was black with fighting, scouting, observation and transport planes together with supply ships hurrying ammunition supplies to the front.

Germany to Continue Arming.

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Germany intends to continue arming until her needs are satisfied, the foreign office said tonight.

Squelching frequent talk abroad that the Nazis soon might be ready to call a halt, it said that rearming had only begun and there is no thought of stopping now.

Nazi Army Games Close.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—The biggest maneuvers the German army has held since pre-war days drew to a close today.

The efficiency with which the German recruits make use of terrain to hide their movements and create an "emptiness of modern battlefields" proved one of the most striking features of the maneuvers.

French observers centered their interest on motorization. They claim that Germany now has four fully motorized divisions and that when she has completed the motorization of eight divisions she will be able to break through the Maginot line of French forts.

Judge Refuses to Jail O'Brien for Contempt

Judge Joseph B. David of the Superior court refused yesterday to send Lawrence C. O'Brien, exconvict and former state representative, to jail for contempt of court because O'Brien paid only $40 of a $75 support payment he had been ordered to make to Mrs. Irene Loftus O'Brien, who is suing him for separate maintenance. "Would you send a man to jail for $35?" Judge David inquired of Attorney Robert A. Oakes, counsel for Mrs. O'Brien.

JAILS 10 UNSAFE MOTORISTS; GIRL WINS LENIENCY

Judge Gorman Vacates Her Sentence.

Judge Gibson E. Gorman in Safety court yesterday sentenced ten motorists to the county jail for trafic violations. He also vacated a ten day sentence he imposed Tuesday on Miss Patricia Davis, 19 years old, 4427 North Lawndale avenue, for reckless driving and placed the young woman on probation.

The ten day sentence had been imposed on the testimony of Park Policeman Raymond Earsman that Miss Davis "smelled of liquor" after she had rammed her automobile into a safety island at Michigan avenue and Adams street last Sept. 4. The young woman denied she had been drinking.

Loses Right to Drive.

Yesterday the policeman was unable to substantiate his charge, and Judge Gorman placed Miss Davis on probation, with the warning not to drive her car for one year.

The motorists jailed by Judge Gorman are:

WILLIAM BRIDGEFORTH, 22 years old, 4506 Indiana avenue, colored, two days for leaving the scene of an accident.

HERBERT MILTON, 28 years old, 4600 Calumet avenue, and Ted Carpenter, 34 years old, 4804 Vincennes avenue, both colored, one day each for racing each other on their motorcycles.

KENNETH HOWARD, 38 years old, 1806 Wabash avenue, two days for reckless driving.

GEORGE L. FLANAGAN, 56 years old, 6941 Woodlawn avenue, ten days for driving while intoxicated.

Youth Gets 30 Days.

In Boys' court Judge Stephen Adamowski sentenced William Bohn, 18 years old, 534 Belden avenue, to thirty days in the Bridewell on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Bohn pleaded guilty to driving through a stop light and injuring a woman pedestrian Tuesday at Ogden and North avenues. He was arrested after a chase.

DRIVER INJURED WHEN AUTO HITS FREIGHT TRAIN

Frederick Seidal, 26 years old, a WPA worker, living at 150th street and 50th avenue, Oak Forest, was critically injured early today when he drove his automobile into the tender of a freight train. The accident happened at the Cicero avenue crossing of the Indiana Harbor Belt Line railroad near 119th street.

Thomas Finn, 48 years old, 6109 South Honore street, died yesterday in the County hospital of a skull fracture incurred Tuesday when he fell off a truck on which he was stealing a ride at Paulina and Polk streets.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 708 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 547 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 13,653 were injured in Chicago trafic accidents.

ARREST DRIVERS OF UNTESTED AUTOS MONDAY

Motorists who fail to have their automobiles tested under the city's compulsory inspection law will be given court summonses starting next Monday, according to Edward J. Gorman, deputy vehicle license commissioner of the city.

"There are about 110,000 Chicago car owners who have not obtained approval stickers," Gorman said, "and about 60,000 of these have been rejected when tested. Approximately 400,000 automobiles have been approved.

Figures from the lanes show that only 20 per cent of the 56,000 trucks in the city have been inspected, according to Otto K. Jelinek, park district trafic engineer. The tests began July 1.

How Can You Get the Best Values in Shoes?

One way would be to shop every shoe store and department store in town. But few have the time or patience to go to such extremes. The best way is to check the advertisments which appear in the Chicago Tribune. Most fashion-wise women follow this method. Thus they save time and energy and often enough money to cover the cost of an extra pair. They have found that because the Tribune prints more advertising of women's shoes than any other Chicago newspaper it is their most reliable guide to shoe values.

FRENCH NIP RING SMUGGLING ARMS IN FASCIST PLOT

Rightists Trapped Near Swiss Border.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The breach between left and right wing factions widened tonight with an official report that smugglers had been intercepted bringing munitions into the country to arm a Fascistic league.

One arrested smuggler told an investigating magistrate at Annecy, near the Swiss border, the munitions were to have been relayed through Lyons and other points to extreme rightists in sections where there has been recent violence.

The Socialist government authorities investigated persons to whom the smuggler said his cargo of cartridges was consigned. A suspected accomplice was arrested and a close watch kept over the border to cut off any further flow from Switzerland.

Labor Rift Develops.

The arrest of the two rightists at Annecy was followed by an announcement a youth had been arrested at Lyons in connection with the bombing of a Young Communist ball at Vienne last week-end. The report said he was a member of the rightist organization. He was detained on a charge of illegal possession of firearms while police investigated his alibi.

A political rift worked deeper also within the ranks of labor when a rightist labor faction opposed the leftist Confederation of Labor in its strike call to 6,000 Paris chocolate workers. The workers occupied eighteen factories in the Paris district, demanding collective contracts. Employers threatened to close the factories unless the government achieved a quick settlement.

Compromise Group to Meet.

The committee assigned to draft a new text for presentation to signatories of the agreement, which settled the first wave of occupation strikes last spring, was called to meet tomorrow in an effort to effect general application of collective contracts.

The Paris Chamber of Commerce, meanwhile, in a general assembly, denounced "stay in" strikes and appealed to the government "to assure absolute respect for the right of property and effective protection of the freedom to work."

4 CITIES URGE ELEVATED AUTO ROAD BUILDING

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sterling, Ill., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Representative citizens of Sterling, Morrison, and Fulton, Ill., and of Clinton, Ia., met here at noon today at a Chicago Motor club luncheon and adopted a resolution calling for elevated highway construction in Chicago and for the widening of the Lincoln highway from Chicago to the Mississippi river.

Dennis J. Collins of De Kalb and Henry C. Allen of Lyndon, both members of the general assembly from this district, spoke in behalf of the measures. Mr. Allen has been a member of the house roads and bridges committee for fourteen years.

Mayor W. E. Long of Sterling remarked that the question was no longer whether we can afford these improvements, but whether we can afford to do without them.

James E. Bulger, a director of the motor clubs, as the main speaker at the luncheon, described the safety and economic advantages to all of Illinois to be gained from elevated highway construction. He said it could be financed with funds that are now being distributed on Chicago street projects of local benefit but of no life saving value.

South Ashland Ave. Bridge Contract Gets Council O. K.

The city council yesterday authorized Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt to let a contract to the Ketler-Elliott company for construction of the superstructure of the new South Ashland avenue bridge over the south branch of the Chicago river. The superstructure will cost $655,000. Action was necessary yesterday for the city to take advantage of a federal grant covering 45 per cent of the cost.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Capt. Charles Essig of the Rogers Park police yesterday ordered the release of John Patterson, owner of the Skyrocket club, a roadhouse at Skokie boulevard and Dundee road, near Glencoe, and Miss Mary Smith, 1705 Jonquil terrace. They were taken into custody early yesterday morning after Patterson reported to the Rogers Park hospital that Miss Smith had attempted to take poison in her room. She told Capt. Essig later that Patterson had mistaken whisky which she had spilled on the floor for poison, and had sought emergency treatment for her. Patterson formerly owned the Subway café, 507-09 North Wabash avenue, which was closed by police last year after it had been the scene of several brawls.

JOSE HAS 2 WIVES AND THINKS THEY ARE 2 TOO MANY

Jose Perez-Chica, 653 Grace street, wrapped all his marital troubles in one bundle yesterday and laid them at the door of the Superior court. In a single bill he asked divorce from one wife and an annulment of his marriage to a second.

His divorce bill is against Ona Wilson Perez-Chica, whom he married in 1926. In it he alleges that she deserted him a year later. In 1934, having been told that his first wife was dead, Perez-Chica married Patricia Furness, whose last known address was 929 Sunnyside avenue, according to his bill.

She deserted him thirteen months later, he charges. Shortly after that he found that his first wife was alive and she refused to return to him. Attorney Herman S. Waldstein, who filed the bill, said that his client cannot be held for bigamy because he contracted the second marriage in good faith, believing his first wife dead.

CHARGE REFUSAL TO FURNISH DATA FOR U. S. INQUIRY

Sabath Committee Hears New Evidence.

Congressmen A. J. Sabath of Chicago, Everett M. Dirksen of Peoria, and Thomas D. O'Malley of Milwaukee, sitting here as an investigating committee, were told yesterday by J. L. Tupy, their chief investigator, that every one connected with the 300 North Desplaines Street Building corporation had refused information regarding the proceedings through which the Yellow Cab company became owner of the building.

A. C. Hamilton, a director, and C. R. Morrow, secretary of the building corporation, said they were employés of the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green, Martin, and Ellis, and had accepted the appointments merely as a convenience to a client of the law firm. Hamilton said he had no knowledge that $120,000 of the bonds of the building corporation had been bought in his name.

Losses to Bondholders Told.

Attorney Benjamin Samuels, 5421 Parnell avenue, vice president of the Yellow Cab company, explained to the committee that the cab company had bought the building for $190,000, a sum that included purchase of many of the bonds at about 55 cents on the dollar. Investigator Tupy told the committee that after the foreclosure on the building other bondholders had lost from $180,000 to $200,000.

At one time the cab company was paying $3,000 a month rent for use of the building, title to which was then held by Sears, Roebuck and company, Tupy said. After the rent was reduced to $1,200 a month the building went into a receivership, he said, and after the Yellow Cab company became its owner no further rent was paid. Tupy said he wanted to have all the details of the litigation given the committee, and Samuels agreed to furnish all information in his possession.

Contempt Citation Withdrawn.

Samuel Leeds, lessee of the Garfield Arms hotel, 3260 Maypole avenue, was cited for contempt when he failed to appear before the committee, but later he and his attorney, Stephen Love, appeared and the citation was withdrawn.

"This is one of the worst cases before us," Congressman Sabath said when Leeds took the witness stand. "Mr. Leeds has obtained leases on five or six hotels for one-half or one-third of what the leases were worth. Records were said to have been falsified and money withheld which should have been accounted for, and thereby the bondholders were cheated. If half what we have been told about Leeds is true he should be indicted, and the courts should be advised that they have been imposed upon."

The committee, which is investigating bondholders' committees, reorganizations, receiverships and related subjects, then adjourned before Leeds was questioned. It will resume its session at 10 a. m. today in the United States courthouse.

Jailed for Beating Wife; Her Condition Is Critical

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Walter Hall, 38, was held in the county jail today on charges of beating his wife, Vernadeen, so severely that she gave premature birth to a child. Mrs. Hall, critically ill in a hospital, said her husband slashed her wrists and poured boiling water on her because she refused to punish one of their three children.

SENATORS VOTE TO VALIDATE 30c RELIEF TAX LEVY

Action Is Taken at Late Night Session.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 24 [Thursday]. —[Special.]—By a vote of 42 to 0 the state senate early this morning passed the program of seven bills validating the 30 cent township relief tax provided for in the Hickman-Lantz-Finn bills.

The way thus is paved for purchase of warants issued against the tax which the Chicago law firm of Chapman & Cutler, counselors to Chicago bankers, now is expected to advise. As originally passed the law was of doubtful constitutionality, the law firm stated, and the legislature took cognizance of its ruling.

Work Done Until Oct. 13.

Nothing now remains for the special session until Oct. 13 and that convening date is only for whatever matters in connection with relief which may arise rather than for consideration of specific bills.

Leaders felt that the session should not be adjourned sine die, but should be recessed so that any matters which would require the attention of the legislature could be attended to without the necessity of asking Gov. Horner to call another extraordinary meeting.

At 8 o'clock last night the senate advanced the validation program to third reading without objections and then recessed until one minute after midnight. Today, Thursday, is a new day on the legislative calendar and passage roll calls could be had.

The post-midnight roll call started with 37 members present, and this was the vote by which the first bill of the series was passed. Five more members appeared, however, and were permitted to be recorded.

Stick to 5 Per Cent "Peg."

Had the house passed the Holten bill to increase the allowed cost of administering relief by the township commissioners from 5 to 10 per cent for the downstate, the senate's work this morning would have been tumultuous, for a number of downstate members felt that the 5 per cent "peg" should be given a try before any increase was considered.

The house, however, took away any possibility of controversy by turning thumbs down on the measure of Representative Frank Holten [Dem., East St. Louis] on Tuesday. His bill got nowhere on third reading and Holten then amended it to make the limit per cent. Even this new figure may not become law, for Gov. Horner, after the house had refused to approve the proposed change, issued a belated statement opposing it, and it is not expected that he or the downstate members will experience a change of heart when the session reconvenes Oct. 13.

Double Taxation Threat.

The principal remedy effected by the senate tonight was to amend tne Hickman-Lantz-Finn bill so that the Cook county board will have permission to change township lines for even townships which lie both within and without the Chicago city limits.

Taxpayers in these townships were hreatened with double taxation, and his possibility was one reason why Chapman & Cutler advised bankers not to buy the tax warants. They eared that a suit to restrain collecion of the tax on the ground of unconstitutionality might be sustained.

Chicago members of the senate opposed the Hickman-Lantz-Finn bills s imposing an unwaranted additional elief load upon the taxpayers of Cook ounty, who already pay a majority of he sales tax.

But tonight they voted for the validating program as the only apparent neans of making money available for aring for the poor.

Senator Harold G. Ward [Dem., Chicago], Mayor Kelly's legislative pokesman, made this attitude clear n an interview today. Ward's bill or an appropriation of $10,000,000 rom the state's general revenue fund o care for any emergency which night arise in the relief situation is ending on third reading in the senate. Thus it could be approved and also passed by the house in short rder if it is found, between now and Oct. 13, that present needs are insufficient.

Criminal, 1936 Model, Is Vain City Youth, Say Police Chiefs

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Seasoned criminologists tonight constructed this composite "1936 model" of the typical American criminal:

A lazy, vain, moderately educated city youth whose parents have separated; shielding his laziness and an inferiority complex behind a false bravado that leads him into crime; motivated by a desire to impress "the girl friend" with a flashy appearance of wealth.

And he can be "rehabilitated."

This conception of the contemporary criminal was drawn by such men as Joseph A. Gerk, for 35 years a police official and for 10 years chief of police at St. Louis; George G. Henry, chief of police at Baltimore, Md., an officer for 48 years; George Smith, for 15 years chief constable of police at Winnipeg, Canada; S. C. Becker of Denver, chief of the Colorado auto theft bureau; William J. Quinn, chief of police at San Francisco; Don S. Leonard, Detroit area, captain of the Michigan state police.

Ages Range from 17 to 24.

They are attending the convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

The age of the typical modern felon ranges from 17 to 24 years. To illustrate this, Chief Quinn explained the large majority of the present 6,000 inmates of California's San Quentin prison are under 24 years of age.

"Broken homes" contribute the bulk of new recruits for crime's vast army, it was said.

"If they get proper home training that knocks the criminal tendency out," said Chief Henry.

Quinn said 98 per cent of his cases come from broken homes.

Lack of Money a Factor.

Homes where money is never too plentiful and where the father cannot afford an automobile also contribute many a son to the underworld, according to the chiefs.

"The boy wants to take his girl for a ride," said Chief Becker. "So he steals a car and leaves it on the street after the ride. He sees how easy it was, and steals another. Soon he steals a car to sell it."

Canada was said to be no different from the United States in respect to its young thief problem. "Kids start in at 17 or 18 stealing cars for joy rides," said Chief Smith.

The time to "rehabilitate" the young criminal is after his first arrest, said the San Francisco and Detroit officers.

Held for Fatal Shooting of Neighbor in Quarrel

Whitesburg, Ky., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Henry Greene, 34, was held at Greasy Creek in connection with the slaying yesterday of Marvin Murrell, his nearest neighbor. There had been previous trouble, and neighbors said they thought peace had been made between the men. A quarrel started at the home of a friend, and the men started shooting. The result was that Greene shot Murrell fatally. Greene was arrested shortly afterward by Officers John Henderson and Louis Marcum. His bond was fixed at $5,000. but being unable to execute bond he was taken to jail.

CALL FOR TROOPS BRINGS SPEEDY STRIKE PARLEYS

Minnesota Governor Waits to Hear Results.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Representatives of factions involved in two major strikes met in hurried conferences today as National Guard troops were mobilized and held in readiness for duty in the labor controversies which have harassed the city for more than a month.

Gov. Hjalmar Petersen withheld his decision on the use of the militia because of the conferences. The governor's call for a strikers' meeting at the St. Paul capitol this morning was delayed because of strike union conferences being held here.

The governor said he had been informed also that representatives of the department of labor were in conference with strike leaders and business men here and were hopeful that a basis would be found for an immediate settlement of the strikes of grain elevator workers and grocery truck drivers. The Pillsbury company announced its "A" mill would reopen tomorrow.

Criticize Call for Troops.

"The troops are being held in readiness for any emergency," said Gov. Petersen, "so we do not have to be concerned over postponement of the conference I called."

The governor's action in ordering mobilization of the National Guard, which his predecessor, the late Floyd Olson, called out so often, was criticized today by the Minnesota Federation of Labor delegates who met at Cloquet, Minn.

The troops were ordered mobilized after Sherif John Wall of Hennepin county declared that the city's milling strike was out of control. The sherif said "rioting has been rampant in Minneapolis, a number of business houses are closed, and a large number of citizens who desire to work are prevented from doing so by threats, and in some instances actual violence."

Lay Down Rock Barrage.

Striking elevator workers and sympathizers last night pelted with rocks the Archer-Daniels-Midland company plant, operating despite a walkout. A short time before the demonstration Elton Larson, a picket, was beaten by unidentified assailants and thrown from an automobile a block from the plant.

On Monday night a company employé was blinded in one eye by a bullet and two buildings were fired. Last week a crowd rushed and fired a Pullman car, carrying special policemen, near the plant.

10,000 Tire Men Idle.

Akron, O., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Ten thousand employés of the B. F. Goodrich company were idle today as company and union officials conferred concerning "sitdowns" which became so frequent the company finally decided to close its plant.

Both T. G. Graham, vice president of the company, and Sherman H. Dalrymple, president of the Rubber-worker's International union, denied it was either a lockout or a strike. They said the shutdown was the "only orderly way to handle the situation."

GRIEF-STRICKEN; IS SUICIDE. Grieving over the deaths of his wife and son in recent months, Charles Swanson, 77 years old, 7619 Rhodes avenue, a former employé of the south park district, hanged himself in the basement of his home yesterday.

BETTER LIGHT—BETTER SIGHT

THIS IS THE NEW I.E.S. LAMP

Designed especially to aid seeing. Attractive, scientifically correct, economical.

● The living habits of people have changed considerably during the past few generations. Our eyes once accustomed to the brilliance of natural daylight must now work, read and do many other tasks indoors . . . under artificial light. The effect of this change upon eyes and eyesight has been a matter for careful study. And the result has been the establishment of a new science . . . the Science of Seeing.

Eyes require sufficient light to provide keen seeing, yet they must be protected from glare, from sharp contrasts of light and shadow, from the straining effect of a constant change of focus. The Illuminating Engineering Society, from which the new Better Sight Lamps take their name, has prepared specifications for the design and construction of lamps and lighting fixtures, that meet the eye-saving requirements prescribed by scientists and eye specialists. They provide a new measure of eye comfort, a new safeguard for the protection of good sight. There are many models, designed for many uses, and their styling is approved by home making authorities. A few of the dozens of attractive new lamps are shown below. See the complete display at ELECTRIC SHOPS.

BY MARY MEADE.

Porcine laziness probably accounts for the fact that all cuts of pork are tender cuts. If every little pig which goes to market had busied himself galloping up and down the hog lot rather than wallowing in the mud all day long, his muscles might have gotten enough exercise to toughen them a bit. But this unadmirable indolence has simplified pork cookery. There need be no fussing to transform a tough cut of meat into a tender one.

Chunky cuts of fresh pork are roasted in a moderate oven [350 degrees] until well done. The flavor of the meat is brought out by this rather slow cooking at moderate heat. Thirty to forty minutes per pound usually are allowed for the roasting process. Chops and steaks are most successfully cooked by braising; that is, browning and then cooking covered in moist heat. Pork chops or steaks are juicier when cooked slowly for a long time than they are when cooked quickly over a hot fire, because this rapid cooking drives off the fat which contains much of the pork flavor.

Let the person who complains that spareribs haven't "enough eating" be reminded of their delicious flavor, and also that they may be baked with a savory dressing which will stretch them farther.

Spareribs with Dressing.

3 cups bread crums
3 tablespoons butter or bacon fat
2 tablespoons chopped onions
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sage
¼ teaspoon pepper
Spareribs.

Trim the ends of the ribs and crack them crosswise the entire length in two places. Fill the ribs with the stuffing, fold the ends over, and tie to hold in place. Place in a rack in an open roasting pan. Sear for twenty minutes at high heat, then reduce oven temperature to 325 degrees and roast for an hour longer. Make a brown gravy and serve with either baked sweet potatoes or white potatoes which have been browned with the ribs.

Dixie style pork chops are almost a full meal in themselves.

Pork Chops, Dixie Style.

4 pork chops
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons lard
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
½ tablespoon chopped pimiento
¼ cup whole kernel corn
¼ cup cream sauce
Salt, pepper

Flour and brown the chops, then remove them to a baking dish. In the skillet mix the rest of the ingredients, pour the mixture over the chops, and bake covered thirty to forty-five minutes in a moderate [350 degree] oven.

Apple rings or glazed whole cinnamon apples add much to pork, especially to "Frenched" pork chops.

Frenched Pork Chops with Apples.

4 pork chops, cut thick
Cut clove of garlic
Salt, pepper
4 apples
1 cup sugar
⅓ cup water
⅓ cup red cinnamon candies

Have chops "Frenched" at the market. Rub skillet with garlic. Season chops and brown on both sides in hot skillet. Add one or two tablespoons of water, cover, and cook slowly for forty-five minutes. Make a sirup of the sugar, cinnamon candies, and water, and cook apples in the sirup until they are bright red and tender. Slip paper frills over the ends of the rib bones and serve the chops on a platter with the apples.

Lionel Barrymore Calls Brother John an Ailing Pauper

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—John Barrymore, who was born with the Midas touch, is an ailing pauper without a nickel to his name, Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe was told today. The great lover of stage and screen, a millionaire twice over in his time, can't even call his home his own.

His older brother, Lionel, was quoted as authority for this statement in a telegram to Barrymore's former lawyers, Maurice Hotchner and John F. Finn Jr. They are suing Barrymore for $3,500 legal fees. Dubious over his inability to pay this sum, they demanded a $500 bond from him to pay the costs of the action. Judge Coxe set the figure at $250, but solely because Barrymore is a nonresident.

The genesis of this financial tangle was believed to be Barrymore's romance with Elaine Barrie. This romance caused Dolores Costello to divorce Barrymore, with an $850 per month cash settlement and a substantial amount in property involved.

Subsequently the lawyers with offices on both ends of the continent were kept busy unraveling the Ariel-Caliban case, which was a touch-and-go affair all the way through.

Unmanageable Child May Have Hostile Parent

A Friendly Attitude Is Far More Effective.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Sometimes it seems to me that all that is needed for a mother to get along with her small son or daughter is a large measure of "sweet reasonableness." Add to that a truly friendly attitude while in the presence of your young child, and it becomes a fairly simple matter to manage him.

On the other hand, if you're bored with your little child; if you chafe at the restrictions his existence imposes upon you [and it surely does]; if he interferes with other things you want to do, whether they're your career, or your social life, or just your housework, you're undoubtedly headed for trouble. Any person you live with and feel this way toward is not going to be receptive to you or what you try to put over, least of all your child who instinctively craves the warm outpouring of your loving interest, and who, quite subconsciously, feels cheated if he doesn't get it.

But, more concrete and to the point, these feelings of yours will color all your relations with your child. They will make you impatient. They will make you hurry him [something he hates and cannot do], and tact, sense of humor, and imagination will be sacrificed for far less important things. And these do more to oil the wheels of dry routine than almost anything of which I know.

Of course I can't say that a real enjoyment of your child is enough in itself to make things run smoothly, but it certainly helps to establish a rightness of feeling between you and him.

Parents and other grownups in a family often love children so much that they spoil them by overwhelming them with attention—a manifestation of love that leads to all sorts of trouble.

Prairie Rose.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The ancient "Prairie Rose" applique pattern has been identified in northern New England, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, and the far west by various names, according to the region in which the quilt was made. There are only 13 applique blocks required for a quilt which is set together with plain blocks. The finished applique block measures 17½ inches square. "Prairie Rose" is one of the few quilts which have an almost standard color scheme: In this case, two shades of rose, yellow, and green against a white ground.

Plan for Art Show to Rival Carnegie's Is Called 'Bunk'

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Guy Pene du Bois, of New York, bluntly termed a proposal for a "rival" exhibition of American paintings to compete with the Carnegie international, as "bunk" today.

Du Bois, a member of the jury of award for the international, said:

"I belonged to that American Society of Painters, Sculptors and Engravers, but I resigned when they went in for the rival show."

Several American artists have expressed intentions to display their canvases in a commercial gallery in Pittsburgh at the same time as the international.

They split with the international a year ago after the Carnegie institute division of fine arts declined to agree to their demands for payment of a rental fee on pictures placed on exhibit.

Edward Bruce, another of the international judges, also had an emphatic opinion upon arrival for a preview of the pictures to determine prize winners. His opinion was on changed trends in art—"the ladies-draped-in-cheese-cloth school of mural painting is on the wane in America," he said.

Other members of the jury are Albert Kingsley Lawrence, of London, making his first visit to the United States, and fascinated by New York's architecture, who said "Fifth avenue is the most beautiful thing I've ever seen," and Pierre Roy, of Paris, founder of the surrealist movement, who said his movement is passing away in France and artists are turning more to reality.

Six nations are represented in 323 paintings to be shown at the international which opens to the public Oct. 15. American artists lead the list with 95 canvases; England and France each have 55; Germany 33; Italy 37 and Spain 48.

MELTS IN YOUR MOUTH! THE FLAKIEST, TENDEREST PASTRY I EVER TASTED
MY WIFE SAYS ITS MADE WITH Spry, THE NEW ALL-VEGETABLE SHORTENING
MY WIFE USES Spry FOR CAKES, TOO – AND BOY, ARE THEY GOOD!
Spry's GREAT FOR FRYING, TOO. FOODS ARE CRISPER, TASTIER – DIGESTIBLE AS IF BAKED

CHICAGO MEN say: "This Apple Pie is Tops!"

—and its "Sprycrust" is as easy to digest as plain bread

Every man who tastes this pie says it's one in a million! Every woman begs for the recipe. Juicy amber apples with a marvelous spicy tang. And a golden brown crust that's sheer perfection, so tender and flaky, so light and delicate a breeze could blow it away!

Easy to make in a jiffy with Spry, the new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening.

Spry is smoother, whiter, creamier and so pure it stays fresh right on the pantry shelf. No need to keep in the ice-box. Thus Spry is always soft and easy to cream. It cuts into the flour so easily when you're making pastry. No wonder your pie crust is so tender and flaky—your cakes and biscuits far lighter and more delicate.

Spry is a grand improvement for frying, too. No smoke or unpleasant odor. Foods fry deliciously crisp and brown and tasty. And they're as easy to digest as if baked or boiled. Try Spry today.

SPICY APPLE PIE

8 large tart apples, sliced thin
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter
1 recipe Spry Pie Crust

Roll ½ of Spry dough ⅛-inch thick and line 9-inch pie plate. Fill with sliced apples. Mix sugar, spices, salt and lemon juice. Sprinkle over apples. Dot with butter. Moisten edge of pie crust with water. Roll top crust, cut a few gashes in center for steam to escape and fit over apples. Seal edge of pie. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 30 to 40 minutes.

SPRY PIE CRUST

Flaky, tender, digestible

2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup Spry (the digestible shortening)
5 tablespoons cold water (about)

Sift flour and salt together. Add ⅔ of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as corn meal (so much quicker and easier with ready-creamed Spry). Add remaining Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of a navy bean. Sprinkle water, 1 tablespoon at a time, over mixture. With a fork, work lightly together until a dough is formed.

The new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening

Miss Margot Reid, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan S. Reid, will be one of the seventy models in a fashion show to be given Saturday afternoon, Oct. 3, in the auditorium of the Skokie school in Winnetka by the Winnetka board of the Northwestern University settlement.

Dance Hosiery with Lace Toes Is Latest Find

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Revealing dance sandals, those very frivolous concoctions of silver brocade, lipstick red satin, kingfisher blue mixups of lether straps not any wider than a shoe string; daring gay green affairs equally wide open to the world go out of night and afternoons with stockings made expressly for them. Last winter everybody who could manage it wore the wickedly red toe-d hosiery, this fall they'll slide their toes into sheer films of sun-tan [darker than the shades worn this summer] with lovely, very feminine toes of colored lace.

It sounds a bit dizzy, but don't sniff till you see these new footnotes. The colors you will find are green, blue, silver, gold, red, and black—that is the toe sections of lace come in these shades. The rest of the stocking is, as usual, designed for sandal wear with extremely low almost invisible square shaped heels, and next to nothing at all in the way of reinforced panels in the soles. "Cassandra," a glowing, deep suntan, is the shade to ask for . . . the colored toes are all available in this slenderizing tone for evening.

The lace is delicate and decorative; the gold and silver tones are decidedly new, just what you need for the open silver and gold metal kidskin slippers or all the colorful metallic brocades already the pet of an evening slipper wardrobe.

Satin dancing slippers with high heels are giving the gold and silver slippers a good run for popularity and the colored toes to match your satin slippers are easy to find, whether you are trying a contrast or matching.

Nothing can equal the "Peter Pan" shade with toes of cobweb black lace for tall heeled black satin slippers to wear with cocktail or dinner clothes. They're really the most exciting finds of the month.

Woman's Finance Forum Opens 2d Season Today

The Woman's Finance forum will open its second season with an address by William L. Ayers, managing editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, at 6:15 o'clock today at the Hotel Sherman. Mr. Ayers will discuss "How to Interpret Financial Statements." Lorraine L. Blair is executive director of the forum.

Committee Meets

Eight members of the committee staging the Northwestern university settlement benefit fashion show and Miss Harriet Vittum, head resident at the settlement, lunched together yesterday at the final ladies' day of the season at the Indian Hill club to discuss plans for the benefit, which will be given on the afternoon of Oct. 3. The fashion show was not the only topic of conversation, however, for Mrs. John W. Hooker, cochairman with Mrs. Donald Defrees of the fashion show committee, also is running the Republican women's headquarters in Winnetka and working for THE VOLUNTEERS, so there had to be some political talk, of course.

Mrs. Warren W. Shoemaker as chairman of women's golf at the Indian Hill had to award the prizes after luncheon, and then rush to a meeting of the Winnetka Garden club at Mrs. Robert Cluett's, so the fashion show, politics, golf, gardening, and the trials of getting children off to school—almost every one at the table is the mother of one or more—each came in for a share in the conversation.

Any one going to the fashion show has the privilege of lunching at the Indian Hill club and reservations may be made through Mrs. Martin Lindsay or Mrs. Robert S. Laird, both of Winnetka. A feature of the show will be the inclusion in the parade of 1936 styles of a few of the costumes that were shown at the first show the board gave in 1926. Mrs. Ogden Coleman had with her yesterday the last four of the 120 posters that the committee had made by pasting paper dolls on lettered cards, and every one agreed that they were unusual and distinctive.

Mrs. Defrees' daughter, Jean, and her guest, Miss Sabiha al Hashimmy, daughter of the prime minister of Iraq, were Mrs. Coleman's chief assistants in making the posters. Miss Defrees and Miss Hashimmy both go to Smith college. Mrs. H. Austin Pardue, formerly Miss Dorothy Klotz, was awarded a handsome silver backed mirror, comb and brush yesterday for being the women's champion golfer at the Indian Hill club. Mrs. Edgar Stevens, Mrs. Roger D. Shaw, Miss Margaret Fisher, Mrs. Melvin Veeder, Mrs. Clark L. Keator, Mrs. W. C. Winton, Mrs. John D. Small, Miss Lois Truesdale, Miss Eleanor Sherman, Mrs. Grant Ridgway, Miss Marie Louise Gardner, and Mrs. Robert H. Ripley were the other prize winners in the golfing events. Mrs. Chester Sargent succeeds Mrs. Shoemaker as chairman of golf for next year and her assistants will be Mrs. Ridgway, Mrs. Charles Herrick Hammond, Miss Jean Milstead, Miss Sherman, and Miss Gardner.

High Tea Will Mark Trials at Mill Creek Hunt

Event Planned to Welcome Eliot S. Nichols.

BY JUDITH CASS.

As a special welcoming gesture to Eliot S. Nichols of Detroit, who is flying to Lake Forest Sunday morning, Oct. 4, to judge the Mill Creek Hunter trials, members of the hunt will meet at the clubhouse late that afternoon for a high tea at which such substantial food as kidneys and eggs will be served, in the English manner. Mr. Nichols, who is M. F. H. of a Detroit hunt, is a very old friend of Austin H. Niblack, joint master with S. Prentice Porter of the Mill Creek Hunt. If Mr. Nichols is able to spend the night in Lake Forest he will be the Porters' guest.

The trials will be held on Mr. Niblack's property about a half mile south of the clubhouse, but instead of awarding the prizes there they will be presented during tea at the clubhouse. A large silver bowl donated by Mr. Niblack several years ago is the only trophy awarded each year, although there are several prizes. Tradition exacts that the winner of the bowl shall fill it with champagne to make a loving cup for the less successful competitors. The bowl seldom is filled on the night it is won, however, but within a week or two it is brought to the clubhouse for a Sunday luncheon and it is filled then when only the regular hunt members are present. The cup is a challenge trophy, to be won by the best hunter, and held for one year by the winner. Mrs. Samuel J. Walker was awarded the bowl last year.

Selection of This Year's Prizes Near.

As soon as Mrs. Walker returns from the east she and Mrs. Kimball Salisbury will choose a prize, as they do each year, to be awarded to the best working hunter. Mrs. A. Watson Armour III. won this prize last year with her Field Marshal. Mrs. John Andrews King is giving a triplicate prize this year, one to each member of the winning hunt team. Mrs. Armour, Mrs. Salisbury, and Miss Gwendolyn Bowen, mounted on light bay horses, carried off the team honors last year, making of the trials a real "ladies' day" as far as prize winning went.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

KIND: Soviet propaganda in the chocolate coating of gypsy epic.

ACTING: Excellent.

PHOTOGRAPHY and SCENERY: Lovely!

DIRECTION: Painstaking and artistic.

STORY: A band of roving gypsies, under the thumb of a rascally chief, endures many hardships until persuaded by joyous kolkhoz farmers to cast in their lots with them and settle on gypsy collective farms. The old chief r'ars up, and even attempts murder—to be laid at the door of the Russians—in order to keep his people together. But villainy fails. The soviet triumphs and the film ends on a note of rejoicing.

REMARKS: English titles—crude but clear—make the action understandable. Gypsy interpretative music and insight into various gypsy rites and customs are interesting. The costumes are effective and types are arresting.

See you soon.

The other side reached, it hopped off again onto the sidewalk.

Lily Pons Will Sing, but Bars Tobacco Smoke

Agrees to Help Orchestra on Condition.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Lily Pons, now here to appear in a new film version of the story "Street Girl," was asked to appear at a public benefit performance in downtown Los Angeles. Because the benefit was to raise funds for continuation of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra, the little French actress said she would promise not only to sing but to give an encore, and possibly to make a speech, but would do so only on two conditions. One was that the audience wouldn't fill the air with cigar smoke, "because I cannot sing or talk in smoke without straining my voice and feeling miserable."

Her other proviso was that her audience shouldn't be too critical of her English if she made the promised speech.

"I cannot smoke. I cannot drink. There always are too many people to talk to, so I do not go to parties or agree to sing anywhere except on regular programs. But this time I go because it is for the orchestra," the coloratura said. Her film is being made at RKO-Radio studio. Gene Raymond is her leading man.

There is a strong chance that Thomas Eugene Breen, 11 years old, will be chosen as Tom Sawyer in the picture of that name for which Producer David Selznick has spent five weeks seeking a suitable lad for leading man. The Breen boy is a son of beaming, chubby Joe I. Breen, code administrator of the movies for the Hays office here, but the father's influence had nothing to do with the boy's screen tests. In fact, a talent scout who went to the Beverly Hills parochial school and asked Father Michael Mullins if he could look over the boys there was the "discoverer" of Tommy Eugene, and the youngster was afraid to tell his dad he had taken a screen test because the senior Breen had always declared that none of his family would ever become actors.

For the "swing" frocks and the season's first dances there must be a suitably youthful perfume. One for the young and charming is sweet, but not cloying, and subtly alluring.

It isn't often we're asked to find a sweet perfume, especially by what the genteel writers used to refer to as "a sweet young thing." Usually the younger and sweeter the girl the more she's inclined to yern for a scent that's heartily heavy and grown up. It's the same principle as wanting to wear slinky black satin when you're 17 and wishing to heaven you were again young enough to wear peach colored organdy when you're 37.

But the girl who sent us on the perfume hunt seems particularly wise in her generation. She'd have a delicate, sweet perfume, thank you—not colorless or cloying, but subtly sweet with no ultra-sophisticated nonsense about it.

She didn't want a straight floral scent for autumn and winter wear. A good blend was what she ordered, with plenty of youthful charm. Something that would be perfect with her "swing" frocks and the season's first dances.

We found it. In a sophisticated bottle, to be sure, and with a pretty sophisticated name, but it's a remarkably youthful and sweetly alluring perfume. Made by a famous French house, it isn't brand, spanking new, but it's perfect with this year's clothes and with this year's tempo.

And it's a good perfume, with quality as well as soft, sweet charm to recommend it. It lasts well and one little drop or one spraying with the atomizer does the trick. Since it's rather a romantic scent it's best worn with romantic or dress-up clothes. And we advise it for the young and charming rather than the worldly wise. It has that kind of lilt.

The Black Automatic

By William Byron Mowery

SYNOPSIS.

After 13 years with the Canadian Mounted, Inspector Noel Irving, at 33, finds himself without relative, friend, or career. Noel, in his Winnipeg apartment, receives a midnight call from an engaging young stranger, who will only give his name as Jimmy, and who is being pursued by a gang of desperadoes. Noel tells Jimmy of his discharge from the mounted because of dynamiting the hideout of Frank Rocco, master criminal, not knowing two women were with him. Rocco, as a result, becomes a glorified legend, while Noel is disgraced. Jimmy asks Noel to become his partner in a secret prosperous enterprise. Jimmy is shot and killed while telling his story to Noel.

INSTALMENT IV.
HOSTILE SUSPICION.

The thought of their escaping touched off a fury in Noel. Dropping his own empty gun, he stooped down and tore the automatic from Jimmy's hand, sprang to the window, brushed aside the curtains, flung the window high, kicked at the screen and broke it loose, and vaulted outside upon the gravel.

The patter of running feet had silenced. He listened intently, heard nothing. He ran out to the sidewalk and glanced up and down the misty boulevard. Nothing. Not a glimpse or sound or vanishing blur.

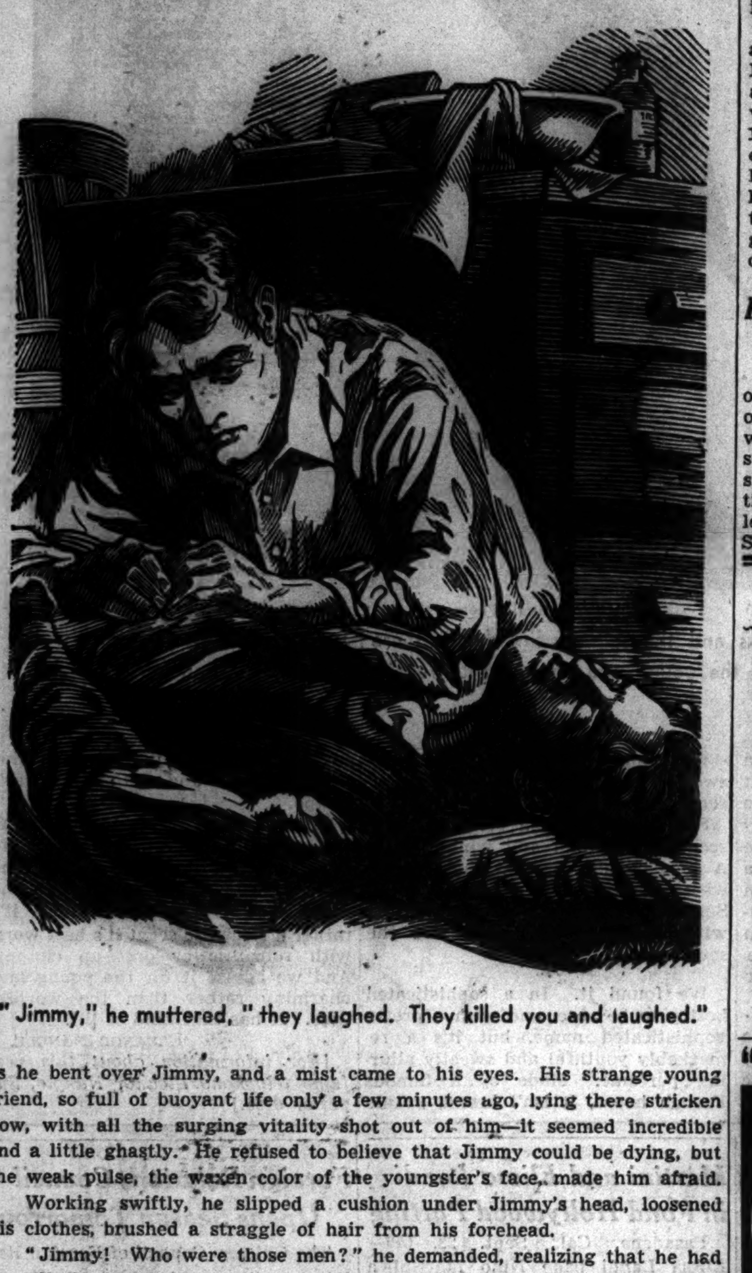
Unable to believe that those men could have disappeared so quickly, he hurried back, gun in hand, to the lilacs and rose arbor, and kicked into the black shadows. But the men were gone, as phantomlike as they had come. Without a wasted motion or second, they had appeared, struck, vanished. One of them had been wounded, badly; yet they had managed a clean get-away. That blur in the lilac shadow, the burst of fire, the dying patter of feet—that was all he had seen or heard.

He climbed back through the window, swearing savagely at himself for having taken Jimmy's assurance that those men had been shaken off. Throughout his talk with Jimmy he had been vaguely uneasy. Now he realized that he should have obeyed his own trained judgment.

He snapped on a light, gathered up his young guest and laid him on the couch.

Riddled by half a dozen bullets, Jimmy was pallid and limp; he was breathing in weak gasps; his shirt, where he had clutched at himself, was sodden with blood.

For all his experiences with crime and death, Noel was badly shaken as he bent over Jimmy, and a mist came to his eyes. His strange young friend, so full of buoyant life only a few minutes ago, lying there stricken now, with all the surging vitality shot out of him—it seemed incredible and a little ghastly. He refused to believe that Jimmy could be dying, but the weak pulse, the waxen color of the youngster's face, made him afraid.



"Jimmy," he muttered, "they laughed. They killed you and laughed."

Working swiftly, he slipped a cushion under Jimmy's head, loosened his clothes, brushed a straggle of hair from his forehead.

"Jimmy! Who were those men?" he demanded, realizing that he had to pull the youngster back to consciousness and pry a few words out of him or those words might never be spoken. "Where are they from? And you, Jimmy—who are you?"

Jimmy's eyes flickered open, and he stared up at Noel in the groping way of a person sinking into the dark of unconsciousness. His lips moved; he whispered, brokenly:

"The damned—slinkers! They—tagged me—all right—partner—"

At the door of the apartment somebody was pounding and hammering. "Irving! Irving! What the devil happened in there?"

Noel recognized the voice as an apartment neighbor's, a city policeman who lived across the corridor. "Come in, Yates," he bade. And when the man entered, with flashlight and service revolver, Noel jerked a thumb at the phone. "Get Mounted headquarters downtown. Talk to Sergt. Herm Spencer. Tell Spencer that I want him here on the jump. Then call a hospital ambulance. Tell 'em to make it fast. Come alive man!—don't stand there popeyed."

He turned again to the couch and tried desperately to rouse Jimmy. "Jimmy! What's your name, your last name? And those men—who are they?" He shook Jimmy's arm, roughly, for the precious seconds were fleeting. "Don't let go, partner. Talk to me!"

Jimmy did not answer or stir.

Yates came over to the couch. "I got Spencer. He's on the way. The ambulance too." He gazed down at the unconscious Jimmy. "Who is this fellow, Irving?"

"I don't know."

Yates picked up Noel's warm gun from the floor, turned it over in his palm, cleared his throat. "It, uh, wasn't you that shot him, was it?"

"For God's sake, didn't you hear that bang-wanging outside the window? And that laugh, when they saw him fall? I was shooting at those men out there. Bring me some water—a cold towel for his face. He mustn't slip away without talking."

Noel raised his head, listened to the screechy siren that was speeding up the boulevard. When he looked again at Jimmy, he suddenly started, bent closer, felt for a pulse beat, found none. . . .

Yates came back with the towel. "Here." But Noel shook his head, silently, without glancing up.

For a few moments longer he knelt there by the couch, his fingers tightening upon the limp hand of the brave young stranger who had come to him for help and had found death instead. "Jimmy," he muttered, once or twice. And: "They laughed. They killed you and laughed."

As the siren drew near and stopped in front of the apartment building, he stood up, slowly, and turned to Yates.

"Please go out to them," he said. "Tell them that they're not needed here—now."

At the coroner's inquest, the next morning, Noel found himself under suspicion and at bay. In the little courtroom, tense and hushed, he could feel this suspicion beating against him like a hostile wave.

Of the thirty odd people present—coroner, witnesses, jury, reporters, Supt. Ostrand of the mounted, and the curiosity mongers crowded around the walls—no one believed, indeed, that this unknown Jimmy had been killed by the hand of Noel Irving. But upon them all rested the conviction that the ex-inspector had known Jimmy and the actual killers and was more or less guiltily implicated in the murder of last night.

In the entire room Noel's one defender was the man sitting beside him, Sergt. Herm Spencer, his former subordinate and long time associate on the Secret Squad.

To the inquest and the hostile suspicion Noel paid little attention. As he sat there, cold and aloof, a battle was raging within him, a battle which not even Spencer knew anything about.

For hours last night he himself, with Spencer's expert help, had worked on the crime; had worked with infinite patience and in grim earnest; but of Jimmy's identity and secret and of clue to those uncanny shadows, he had discovered exactly nothing.

At the coroner's request Sergt. Spencer stood up to testify. He was brief and trenchant.

"I got there ten minutes after the shooting. Mr. Irving and I worked till morning on the case. For some reason this young fellow, Jimmy, had wanted to hide his identity. We don't know who he was, where he appeared from or what this 'pot of luck' was that he mentioned, or who those men are or why they hounded and killed him. I can't add one item to the account which Mr. Irving has already given you."

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—A self portrait which Hans Holbein the younger painted in 1542, a year before he died of the plague in London, arrived in New York last Monday on the Queen Mary, it became known today.

The small circular panel, about four inches in diameter, was brought across the Atlantic by its owner, Abris Silberman, president of the firm of E. & A. Silberman, art dealers, who acquired it during the summer in Switzerland.

With the picture, said to be valued at $100,000, came an authentication by Dr. Paul Canz of Basle, Switzerland, authority on the works of Holbein, who first published the picture in 1930 in the "Annuaire des Beaux Arts en Suisse." Heretofore the picture has been in private collections and has never been exhibited, according to Mr. Silberman, who declined to give the name of the most recent owner.

High Tea Will Mark Trials at Mill Creek Hunt

Hindes, the junior William E. Clows, he junior Edward A. Cudahys, and Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney are some of he many people who are not actively interested in hunting, but who like o buy parking space each year at the rials. They either bring picnic luncheons with them, or pay for the luncheon to which neighboring land owners re invited at 12:30 o'clock by members of the hunt. One of the real purposes of the day's program is to ntertain the landowners over whose roperty the hunt rides.

If Mr. Nichols does not have to unt in Detroit on the 3d, the Porers and the Niblacks hope that he nd Mrs. Nichols will come for the linner-dance to be given at the clubouse on the eve of the trials. Mrs. Salisbury, chairman of the house committee, and Mrs. John E. Hughes re in charge of the party which will e a Dutch treat. John F. Jelke is suervising the mile course over which he trials will be run. Hunt members re delighted that the trials are being eld early in the fall instead of in November as they usually are. For he last few years spectators and enrants alike have suffered from rain nd cold, and the early October date s expected to insure more clement weather.

Mme. Ivanenko Visiting Mrs. Robert R. McCormick.

Mme. Dmitri Ivanenko of Roslyn, N. Y. arrived yesterday for a visit vith Mrs. Robert R. McCormick but nless the weather turns cooler one bject of her visit will not be attained, or her hostess had hoped to give her ome good hunting with the Du Page Hunt. Having lost one hound already ecause of the heat, Mrs. McCormick, he M. F. H. of the Du Page Hunt, is ostponing any official drags until etter hunting weather.

Mme. Ivanenko will be very busy, owever, for all her good friends in hicago, where she and her husband ved for several years, want to enterain for her, and also she is going to age a fashion show at the Lake hore Drive hotel tomorrow. It will e given during luncheon, starting at o'clock. Wearing the costumes rought west by Mme. Ivanenko and ats designed by Irene Castle will be rs. Walter W. Crawford and her ster, Mrs. Frederick Spencer, Miss nne Bryant, Miss Mary Alice Bacon, iss Nancy Poole and her sister, Mrs. Murray Washburn Jr.

Mme. Ivanenko will be at the Mcormicks' town house in Astor street ntil tomorrow evening when she will o to their Wheaton home, Cantigny arm, for the week-end. Mrs. Mcormick waited until her guest arved to make definite plans for enertaining for her, but she already s planned a showing and sale of me. Ivanenko's costumes for next onday at the town house, 1519 Astor reet. Tonight Mrs. Henry Hooper giving a smaller dinner for Mme. anenko at The Tavern.

Miss Foltz will give a cocktail rty for Mme. Ivanenko some day xt week and Mrs. Chauncey Mcormick is another who is planning entertain for her.

The Longmeadow Hunt is postning its first formal hunt until ore seasonable weather, too, for last eek's heavy rains left the country est of Winnetka in such a wet contion that the land is in no shape r hunting, even if the temperature ere lower.

hicago Symphony ommittee to Meet.

The women's committee of the icago Symphony orchestra will ld its second meeting of the sean today at 2:30 o'clock in the dictors' room of Orchestra hall. All t seven of the boxes for the Tues- afternoon and Thursday night ies of concerts have been sold, so e committee is feeling justifiably oud of its work so far this year. rs. Kenath Sponsel, Mrs. Ralph ttman, and Mrs. Alan Lockard of e south side; Mrs. Gilbert Smith Evanston, and Mrs. E. V. L. Brown Winnetka are among those Mrs. rtholomay Osborne, chairman, will ngratulate especially today on their ccessful work.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Couch leanor Chance] are receiving conatulations on the birth of a daugh- , named Patricia Williamson for r mother's sister, Miss Patricia ance, on Saturday at the Evanston spital. Mrs. Couch's parents, Mr. d Mrs. George Chance, are here om Bryan, Tex., to welcome their anddaughter, staying with Charles illiamson in Evanston, uncle of s. Couch. The baby's paternal andparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ira Couch. Mr. and Mrs. Couch and ir infant daughter will make their me in Winnetka.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto A. Roth of the erry hotel announce the engageent of their daughter, Dorothy, to dney Edward Cohn, son of Mr. and s. Jessel Cohn of Clarksville, Tenn. ss Roth is a graduate of the Unirsity of Chicago. The wedding will ke place Oct. 10.

ld Friends Welcome rs. Stuart R. Ikeler.

Her many old friends in Chicago welcoming Mrs. Stuart R. Ikeler o has returned here to live because her husband, formerly headmaster of the Southampton branch of the Buckley schools of New York, has become assistant director of boys at the Harris schools. Mrs. Ikeler was Miss Rachel Abbott and is the daughter of Bishop H. P. Almon Abbott of Lexington, Ky., former rector of St. Chrysostom's church.

Mrs. William P. Martin and her sister, Mrs. . Allen Haines, will arrive in Lake Forest at the end of the week to spend a fortnight. They are coming from New York to close Mrs. Martin's home and she will go back east to spend the winter as usual in an apartment in New York.

Mrs. Martin spent several weeks in England this summer with Mrs. George D. McLaughlin and Mrs. Warren Salisbury, who went on a North Cape cruise before going to the British Isles. Mrs. Haines' husband's death called Mrs. Martin back to the United States. Mrs. McLaughlin and Mrs. Salisbury are expected home in a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Rogers have returned to Lake Forest from Harbor Point, Mich., where they spent the summer, and are at the Deerpath inn for several weeks. Carter H. Harrison Jr. and Miss Lucy and Miss Joan Harrison also are at the inn, having returned from their summer home in Spring Lake, N. J. Mrs. Harrison is expected in a few days after she has settled Miss Edith Harrison, the debutante of the family, and her next younger sister, Caryl, in eastern schools.

Miss Emily Larned is spending a few weeks at the inn on her way in town from Fish Creek, where she summered. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Troup also are guests there, and Alfred H. Granger spent a few days there last week on his way to visit his daughter, Mrs. Chester Shepard, in Neenah, Wis. He will be a guest at the inn again on his way back east.

Return of Travelers Increases as Fall Nears

Mrs. Charles F. Spalding and her niece, Miss Louise Clarke, are lingering on in Lake Forest, but will return to the Ambassador next month. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brunker have returned to the inn with their son, Bobby, after a three weeks' trip to California. Mrs. William H. Hubbard is expected at home the end of the week after attending the wedding near Boston last Saturday of her granddaughter, Susan Means, to Charles Loring Jackson Noble.

Mrs. Wilson Lampert and her twin daughters, Miss Lilian and Miss Myrtle Lampert, have returned to their Lake Shore drive apartment after spending the summer in Santa Barbara, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. David B. Gann are at home in the Drake Towers after a European trip. They visited the Scandinavian countries and England this summer, sailing home in the Queen Mary.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Grant and their young sons, Gerald Jr. and John Gallery Grant, returned yesterday to their apartment at 1320 North State parkway from their summer home near Petoskey, Mich., where they have been since July 1.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

THE APPROACH METHOD.

With suit bids higher than one, or with opening no trump bids of one, the bidding mounts up rapidly and becomes overcrowded, so that much valuable partnership information is usually shut out. The ideal strategical bid in contract is a one bid in a suit.

The following hands show the extreme range of opening suit bids of one. In the first hand the bid is one diamond; in the second, one spade; and in the third, one heart:

1. ♠532 ♥743 ♦AKJ65 ♣K2
2. ♠AK10876 ♥AQJ85 ♦K8 ♣none.
3. ♠A95 ♥AQ732 ♦AK ♣A83

To soothe the nervous player who might fear that with the powerful hands 2 and 3 he might lose a game if partner passes, I can assure him that no such thing would happen except once in a blue moon or with a moron as a partner. A bridge hand, like an individual in a community, is seldom strong enough to get along without help from the neighbors. These two hands will get nowhere unless partner has a modicum of strength in high cards or distribution, in which case he will respond to a suit bid of one. Any bid higher than an opening bid of one therefore would be useless or would end in disaster if partner held a blank hand.

Today's Hand.

In today's hand, North was a well known expert, believe it or not!

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
East-West, 90 part-score.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	1 heart	Pass	1 spade
Double	Pass	1 no tr'p	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

It is hard to choose the right adjective [or expletive] with which to describe North's takeout double. He had opened a hand on as near to minimum values as one could find. His partner, who undoubtedly knew the score as well as North did, could find no bid or raise over East's one heart.

West opened the spade king and followed up with the queen, after which he shifted to the king and then the six of hearts. East won the second heart lead and now, rather than concede dummy's ten of hearts by clearing the suit, led the club jack. With his only hope that of throwing the defenders on lead, declarer won with dummy's king and returned the ace and a low club. West overtook East's ten on the third round, cashed the fourth club and the ace of spades [the latter card compelling dummy to blank the king-queen of diamonds], and then led a diamond. East won with the ace and threw dummy back on lead with a diamond, to force a lead away from the 10-7 of hearts to East's overlying tenace. Thus, declarer [or more properly speaking, North, since the poor declarer had nothing to do with the matter] was held to three tricks, for an 1,100 point penalty.

And I have no doubt, since the North type of player dotes on blaming fate for 95 per cent of all adversity, that he cursed his "luck" when the opponents sailed out with the rubber on the very next hand!

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Is it not true that the world's best contract players are American?

Answer: Never conclusively proved. But in my opinion Americans are best.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

Being Frankly Forty Gives a Woman Charm

Trying to Be Flapper Is Unbecoming Practice.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Talking with a saleswoman the other day in a swanky salon, I garnered the information that women, to use her words, are becoming so frankly 40 that it's a joy to wait on them. This in contrast to the case ten years ago when looking like a flapper daughter seemed to be the main ambition.

It wasn't really the main ambition, because there always has been that solid group who bowed to their years with charming grace, lending far more charm to their years by so doing than by trying to emulate a style long past their usefulness. The number is only increasing, that's all. Once in a while you'll meet up with one of the old guard who refuses to admit, in looks, to having a daughter shopping for her first layette.

One, seen the other day, was wearing one of those new Pixie hats that only merry youth should tip atop curls. Skirts shorter than the new 14 inch length and accessory colors that were blindingly young. But the face wasn't quite up to the general effect. It was more than slightly ludicrous. However, the exceptional woman probably startled our Victorian forbears with her attempt to hide four decades or more behind a girlish dress mask.

The healthiest sign of the current day is the way women accept their years and brag about what they still can achieve, what opportunities there are for them, and what fun there is in being in on this grand age. They don't look or try to look 27 or 30 years old, but a grand, sprightly, active 40 years young. It's interesting to know how many of the up-and-coming forties visit their doctors twice a year for an examination, thereby saving not only periods of sickness but saving beautifully on their actual looks. They learn to eat wisely, what activities they may enjoy in the sports field, say, and what were better now left to deb daughters.

And just scads of them set up an exercise program, not too strenuous, mind you, but of sufficient value to keep them from getting the hefty hip, the protruding abdomen, the thick arm, and the slowed down tread of foot. Their hair still has its health and gloss, one of the best beauty assets, and skin is given such nightly care as will see one through for many a long day yet before the age signs lay an indelible finger thereon.

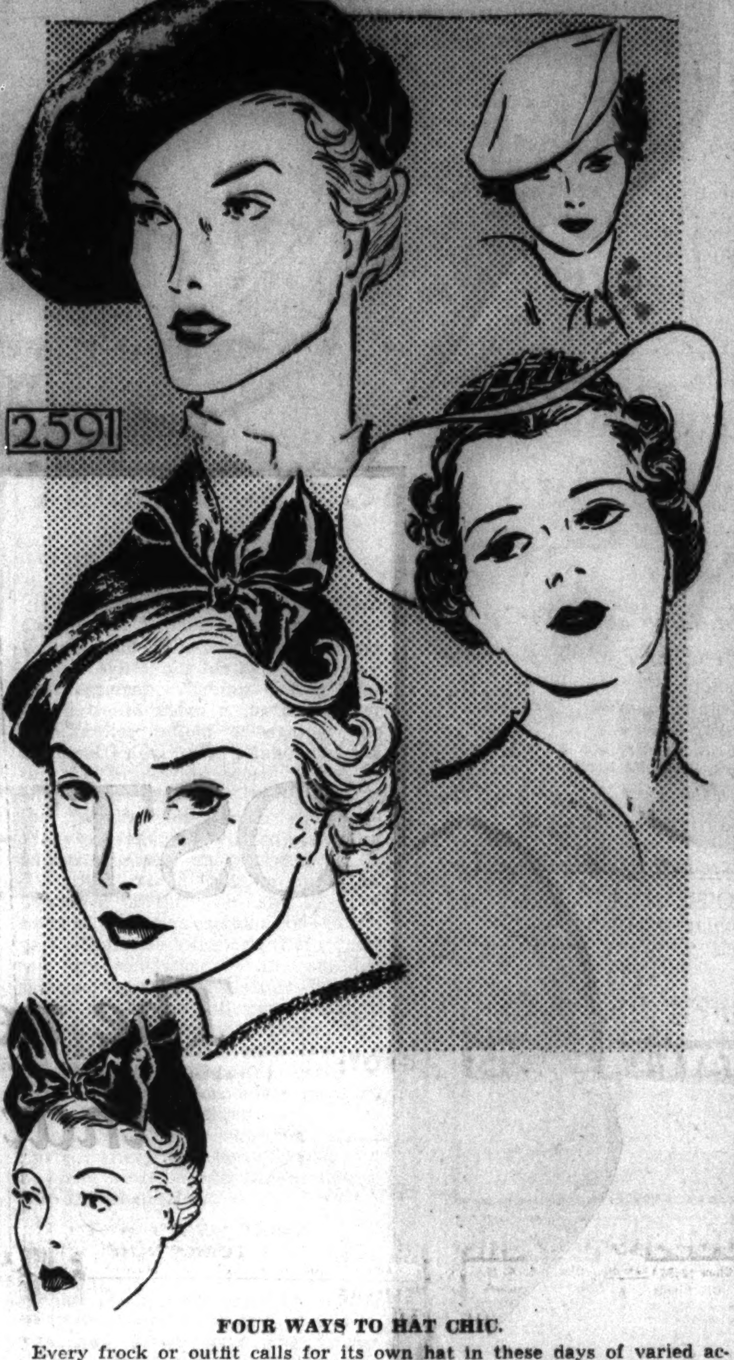
Four Versions of Hat Chic



FOUR WAYS TO HAT CHIC.

Every frock or outfit calls for its own hat in these days of varied accessories. The pattern illustrated today provides the means of creating four different versions of chapeau charm. There is no special prescription for hats this fall. Everything goes.

At the top of the illustration is a jaunty and generously flared beret, the original of which is fashioned of black velvet. The little hat fits the headline snugly in the back and flares out, brim fashion, over the right eye.

For conservative town wear a smaller beret is a necessity, especially with trim woolen frocks. The original made in this version is of dark green woolen.

Afternoon and cocktail costumes call for a frivolous bonnet. The snug little hat shown at the lower left takes to bows in a big way, and they may be placed either at the side front or right over the hairline. A tiny peak does clever things for the crown. The original is of velvet in jewel tones.

There are certain dresses which call for a brimmed hat, in which case the chapeau sketched at the lower right is just the number. The original takes to black felt and may be trimmed with either wings or a quill, or allowed to be plain, gaining chic on its own merits.

Style No. 2591 is designed for one size only [22 inches] and includes all four hats. For yardage requirements, see the pattern envelope.

Traveling Library Will Visit Schools of County

A traveling library, housed in an automobile trailer, will begin operating next week between schools in Cook county, outside of Chicago, Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, announced yesterday. Puffer's son, Dickie, 4 years old, will christen the trailer next Monday at the Hotel Sherman. The trailer will leave books at one school only long enough for the pupils to use them in preparing lessons, Puffer said.

Deliberate Use of Wiles Often Is Justifiable

Discreet Trickery May Win Apathetic Suitor.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What would you do if you loved a boy and he did not return your love? Would you keep on trying to win him over or try hard to forget him?—Pat."

Pat's heart murmur for the unresponsive boy has been an ailment of some three years now. He's been nice to her, as he has been to other girls. Takes her out now and then. Dances with her when they meet. Goes through all the pleasantries of a couple of old friends. But he won't flick a single green flame of jealousy when Pat pulls the Eve-old trick of trying to bestir such signs of heart interest. Indeed, he urges Pat to trot along with other boys. Nevertheless, she loves him, wants him for her very own, and none other.

Maybe you could win the chap yet, Patty. There doesn't seem to be any other live rival interest. You do not report one, anyway. And if that young man answer's your heart's description of the man whose name you'd love to bear, why not campaign for the future you want more than any other? You wouldn't be the first woman who earned her prize by a deliberate bombardment. If it matters so terribly to a woman that she gets the man she really loves, we can't see why more women don't deliberately set out to conquer every obstacle, little and big, that may stand in the way.

We've read, seen, and heard about women, with less encouragement to go on than you, Pat, who, sighting their prey, left nothing undone to bring him down. And why shouldn't they? We go after the business job we want armed with what it takes to get it or get ahead in it. A far less worthy cause, you'll agree, than getting the one man in the world you want for yours.

We don't know how you're to go about doing it, Pat. But that's where your woman's wit must come to the rescue. You know your man. You know his weak spots and his strong ones. It's possible that you've let the relationship drift into a friendship instead of the wanted romance through a too casual manner with the man. Whether you can go back now and play the rôle of uncertain, beguiling, alluring femme depends upon your own cleverness. But here's luck to you, for we do like to see women happy in the romance that sends them the gift for which they yearn most.

STATE BOXING COMMISSIONER DIES IN JOLIET

Succumbs After 2 Months' Illness.

Patrick F. [Packey] McFarland, member of the Illinois athletic commission, died at his home in Joliet yesterday, after a two months' illness, at the age of 48 years. His family physician, Dr. Arthur Fahrner, said death was due to a strange malady which caused high fevers and produced periodical attacks of coma. The former great lightweight boxer, whose weight had increased to nearly 200 pounds, lost about 50 pounds during his illness.

Surviving are his widow, Margaret Loughran McFarland; a son, Patrick Jr.; three daughters, Sarah Ann, Margaret Mary, and Miriam; three brothers, Thomas, James and John, and four sisters, Mrs. Edward Egan, Syracuse, N. Y., and Mrs. George Knolles, Mrs. Russell Jesse, and Miss Ann McFarland.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at St. Raymond Catholic church in Joliet. Burial will be at Mount Olivet cemetery. The Rev. Francis B. Scanlan, pastor at St. Raymond, will officiate at the requiem high mass.

Four Children Survive.

Men prominent in the political, business, sports and religious world, including Gov. Horner and Chairman Joe Triner and Commissioner George Getz, will be among the mourners. The pallbearers will be William Redmond, banker; George Clare, attorney; William D. Hickey, former president of the Joliet school board; Michael Conway, realtor; Francis Dunn, Eugene Dinet, James Cornwell, and William Murray. Cornwell resides in Springfield, Ill., and Murray in Chicago. The others are residents of Joliet.

STORY OF HIS LIFE

Patrick Francis [Packey] McFarland was born in the stockyards district of Chicago on Nov. 1, 1888. He attended St. Ann's grade school, 55th street and Wentworth avenue, until he was 14 years old when he obtained employment as a helper for Pat Nash, who was a sewer contractor. He started boxing in 1904, during which year he had seven bouts. He won six by knockouts and lost the other on a decision.

He engaged in 110 battles during an eleven year campaign. He scored 48 knockouts, 18 decisions, fought 5 draws, lost one decision, and had 38 no decision encounters. In his last scrap he battled ten no decision rounds with Mike Gibbons, the old St. Paul middleweight contender, at New York.

Made $40,000 on Bout.

McFarland got a $17,500 guarantee for the engagement. In all he earned about $40,000 from the fight, the balance being received from movie royalties and endorsement of sporting equipment. It was the largest sum he received from a single fight. His first big purse was $10,000, paid for a ten round battle with Matt Wells at the old Fairmont Athletic club in New York in 1912.

Packey went to Europe and fought Freddy Welsh, European lightweight champion, 25 rounds to a draw in 1908. He got $5,000 for the achievement. Each weighed 135 pounds for the match, two more than the lightweight limit of the time.

Why He Wasn't Champion.

Although McFarland was one of the greatest boxers in the history of the prize ring, he never became a champion, for a curious reason—he had too much sense. Too heavy to make the lightweight poundage without strain, he was too intelligent

ASKS LANDIS TO DECLARE FELLER A FREE AGENT

Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis said last night that he has under investigation a claim by the Des Moines club of the Western league that Bob Feller, brilliant young right handed pitcher who has won four games for the Cleveland Indians, should be declared a free agent.

E. Lee Keyser, president of the Des Moines club, has asked that Feller, only 17, who shares the major league record for strikeouts in one game with Dizzy Dean of the St. Louis Cardinals, be declared a free agent on the ground that Cleveland violated baseball law by signing the youngster directly from amateur ranks.

Giants Defeat Phils; Assure Tie for Flag

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The Giants assured themselves at least a tie for the National league pennant as they defeated the Phillies, 5 to 4, today behind Carl Hubbell, their crack southpaw and the major league's ranking hurler.

The victory mathematically eliminated the Chicago Cubs, 1935 champions, and left the Giants needing only one more victory to clinch the pennant. The Cardinals, who were rained out today, could only tie for the flag in the event that they won their remaining five games while New York was losing its last five. One triumph in those remaining five games will give the Giants the flag, no matter what St. Louis does the rest of the way in.

Today's victory was Hubbell's twenty-sixth of the season, the last sixteen of which have been achieved in succession. The Giant southpaw's unbroken string equals the best record made in the American league, sixteen straight held jointly by Joe Wood, Walter Johnson, Lefty Grove, and Schoolboy Rowe, but is three short of tying the nineteen in a row which Rube Marquard recorded in 1912 to set a modern National and major league mark.

SOX LOSE, 17-2, THEN DEFEAT INDIANS, 8-3

Second Game Called in Sixth Inning.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—The White Sox got word late this afternoon that the Cubs had challenged them for a city series. They revived immediately to show they were ready. After a week of grief, they polished off the Indians, 8 to 3, in six innings of the second half of a double header which was halted by darkness. But in the first game the Chicagoans' losing streak was stretched to six games as they crumpled 17 to 2.

The Sox victory, their second in eleven games here this season, just about established the Indians, one time pennant candidates, as second division occupants. It also assured the Sox, unless they curl up in their three remaining games, with at least fourth place and an excellent chance for third. And the second game came close to assuring Luke Appling the batting championship of the league.

That Opener—Phooey!

In the first game the Sox reached a new low in performances. They had their first glimpse of Bob Feller, the 17 year old phenom. Then Vernon Kennedy wasn't much of a pitcher while seeking his twenty-second victory. But the highlight of the struggle came in the seventh inning, when Kennedy flopped and John Whitehead was pitiful as a rescuer. Fourteen Indians hopped on the merry go round before it finally stopped. Eleven of them scored, and eleven of them hit safely.

The Sox saw enough of Feller's speed balling to convince them the youngster has possibilities. For several innings they waited him out and were rewarded with a flock of passes, but not much else. Then they decided they might as well enjoy their swings. This helped the young man to raise his day's strikeout total to ten, six of them in the last three innings.

Appling's hitting in the second game amounted to two singles, a double, and a homer in four appearances. He was more modest in the first, getting only one hit in three chances against Feller. Meanwhile Earl Averill, the Indian outfielder who is trying to dispute Appling's leadership, produced two hits in four attempts in the first game, but Dietrich held him helpless in the second.

FIRST GAME

Kennedy's gymnastics which produced three Indian runs in the opening inning of the first game began with a pass to Knickerbocker. Sullivan doubled to right and an intentional pass to Averill filled the bases with none out. Trosky singled to center, but only Knickerbocker scored. Sullivan scored on Weatherly's force of Trosky. The bases were repopulated on a pass to Hale. Heath flied to Rosenthal, Averill scoring after the catch.

The Sox nicked Feller for three hits in the third and scored twice but one of the runs was somewhat tainted. Radcliff and Rosenthal singled and Haas beat out a bunt, filling the bases. Bonura sent a fly to right, Radcliff scoring after the catch. Weatherly aimed the throw in toward third, but it sailed into the grandstand, Rosenthal scoring and Haas taking third. When Appling walked, a double steal was started but Haas was nipped off third. Hayes closed the inning with a foul to George.

Indians Get Three More.

The three scored by the Indians in the sixth resulted from another full house with none out. Weatherly singled, Appling fumbled Hale's double play grounder, and Heath beat out a bunt. George walked, forcing in Weatherly. Hale and Heath scored later on Knickerbocker's single.

Weatherly beat out a bunt in the seventh and that was the start of a

Giant Infield Is Slow but Sure; Yankees' Is Slow but Surer

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—Joe V. McCarthy, the Yankee boss, has his Lou Gehrig, and Bill Terry, as manager of the Giants, has his Bill Terry as a first baseman. Taking Gehrig over Terry would mean a preference for the Yankee infield as against the National league entry's inner defense for the impending world series at New York. These are the keymen of the two infields which otherwise shape up fairly even if both fielding and hitting skill are considered.

Neither infield can be rated as possessor of the snap and dash of some of the great combinations of the past. Both the Yank and Giant quartets are somewhat on the old age side, particularly the latter. There's a lack of speed in both cases. But in the way of steadiness at times when there's a lot at stake as in the case of the series games, the Yanks at least on past performances have an edge. They're entitled to this because the Giants' shortstop, Dick Bartell, always has been erratic, and a world series strain might aggravate this inclination.

Terry a Better Fielder.

In a series played in parks where short fences didn't have to be considered Terry easily could be conceded to have something as a first baseman and hitter over the sturdy Gehrig. Terry will carry more age than anybody active in the series, and that's not his only handicap. He has a bum knee which less determined fellows would have surrendered to long since.

Even with his infirmities Terry still stands out as a pretty good fielding first baseman. He'll flag a lot of trick ground balls Gehrig can't reach. When it comes to stabbing bad throws without leaving the bag and thus losing the runner he also is a specialist. And while Terry is the same great hitter he always has been he doesn't carry quite the home run threat of a Gehrig, and this is a threat the Giant pitchers can't laugh off. World series toil is nothing new for either, so that feature won't bother them. In four series Gehrig batted .422. Terry batted .429 against Washington in 1924 and .273 against the same club in 1933.

Bill's an Inspiration.

Terry has one other value to the team he manages. He's sort of an inspiration or steadying influence when he's at first base. That's why he has played as much as possible despite his bad knee and exactly why

Marquette Places Football Future in Backfield's Care

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 23.—Bo McMillin and Indiana university have a lot of fun with their so-called five man back field.

But for point of argument as well as results we nominate Marquette's five man back field, which helped win seven of last year's eight football games, and which opens a new bid a week from Saturday against the University of Wisconsin.

There's a joker, of course, in these five man back fields. Indiana sends one of its backs into the line and concentrates on the problem of when is a back not a back. Marquette's extra back, Al Guepe, starts the game on the bench. But at Marquette they play the joker wild and Al always winds up doing things on the field. He knows every position in the back field and plays them all well. Very conceivably he would be a regular except for such gents as Ward Cuff, Ray Sonnenberg, Ray Buivid, and Twin Brother Art Guepe, who looks so much like Al that the story about two peas in a pod undoubtedly was written for these Milwaukee twins.

Still Mix 'Em Up.

After three years, the coaches still ask which is Art and which is Al. Tarzan Taylor, the line coach, asserts he can tell 'em apart. One has a mole and one doesn't but Tarz still forgets whether Art or Al owns the mole.

The other reason for this five man back field idea besides parity of ability is that Marquette has only five big time backs. True, several other promising lads are practicing daily but so far they still are promising. What Marquette does this year in its eight game schedule, probably the most difficult array of opponents in Hilltopper history, will be done by five backs and a double set of lines.

This is sufficient material, barring injury, but when Frank Murray, who now is starting his fifteenth year as head coach [Bob Zuppke is the only mid-western coach with a longer tenure], looks ahead and thinks of Kansas State, Mississippi, Michigan State, St. Mary's, and Duquesne, not forgetting the Badgers, Creighton, and St. Louis, is there any wonder he worries about the health of his five backs?

Many coaches would like to worry about a back field which averages 180 pounds, which has excellent kicking, superior passing, and ball carriers who can block as well as run.

Fans Another Worry.

Milwaukee fans are another worry. With the Brewers now champions of the American association, the town has already named Marquette as undefeated contender for the national football title.

Number one man in Marquette's quintuplet back field is Capt. Ray Buivid of Port Washington, Wis., 193 pounds of energy, 6 feet 1 inch tall, a senior. This dark haired, quiet boy throws a football with the accuracy of a Dean and his hardest tosses are the kind which seemingly float into the receiver's hands. The pigskin comes sailing with point up, a regular handle. It's what the profession calls a "soft" ball.

Ward Cuff, versatile full back, and Art Guepe are Marquette's best kickers. Sonnenberg, at right half, specializes in blocking.

Buivid can run with the best of them. His change of pace is confusing, backed as it is by superior speed.

Myles Reiff, senior letter man, again will hold the center of the line. His experience and 190 pounds are invaluable. Supporting him are Edwin Niemi, towheaded Ironwood, Mich., sophomore and Leroy Schoemann, junior from South High, Milwaukee.

There are four guards, approxi-

CUBS CHALLENGE, SOX ACCEPT; CITY SERIES RENEWED

Feud Opens at Wrigley Feld Wednesday.

When the score keeper hung up on the score board at Wrigley field the figures that indicated the New York Giants had finally and totally disposed of any challenge the Cubs might make for the National league pennant, Charles Drake, assistant to P. K. Wrigley, president of the Cubs, left his box and dashed to the telephone.

Mr. Drake having established contact with Harry Grabiner, vice president of the White Sox, out at Comiskey park, ensued then a conversation which definitely decided that the Cubs and the White Sox will meet next week in the first formal city series between the two clubs since 1933.

"Harry," said Mr. Drake, "we've been wondering if you and your White Sox would like to play us and our Cubs in a city series?"

"Why, Charley," said Mr. Grabiner, when he had recovered from his momentary surprise, "we've been wondering the same thing. I'm glad you called to help us wonder. Now that we've thought it over let's play."

Start Arranging Details.

Having thus disposed of the formal challenge, Mr. Drake and Mr. Grabiner set to work arranging such minor details as playing dates, sites, divisions of proceeds, et cetera.

K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, has called a meeting of the officials of the two clubs at his office at 11 o'clock this morning, at which time prices and other details will be finally approved.

The city series, in all probability, will follow the schedule of the world series, which opens at the Polo grounds next Wednesday. The first two games of the city series will be played at Wrigley field on Wednesday and Thursday, with the third, fourth and fifth at Comiskey park. If further games are necessary the scene will shift back to Wrigley field.

Players of the two clubs will share in the gate receipts of only the first four games, as is the case in the world series. With interest in the relative merits of the two teams at a higher pitch than at any other time in recent years, the performers expect to cut themselves a much more palatable monetary morsel than in their 1933 meeting, when each individual White Sox carried off $637 as his winner's share and the losing Cubs took $456 per man.

Twenty-First Series.

The series will be the twenty-first in the long rivalry between the two clubs, not counting the informal spring meeting during the last three training trips, but including the 1906 world series which the American leaguers won. The Sox hold a wide margin, having exercised their traditional jinx over the north siders thirteen times. The Cubs have won six series. The first in 1903 ended in a tie.

The south siders won the last renewal in four straight games in 1933, shutting out the Cubs in the second and third games and giving them one run in the ninth inning of the fourth.

Sox Exercise Spell.

The Sox, no matter how atrocious their behavior in regular season play, have in the past always exercised some dire spell over the Cubs in postseason activities. This year, however, there is a sneaking suspicion among a good many impartial observers that the National leaguers may not look upon their White Stockinged adversaries with the customary awe. For one thing, in recent meetings between the clubs, the Cubs have gone into battle after a long hard season in which they had been in the thick of the pennant fight while the Sox, after six months of leisurely endeavor, have been relaxed and capable of exerting a little extraordinary effort. This time it is the Sox who have been battling for a high ranking.

The Cubs, on the other hand, have been relaxed for a long, long time and might be expected to put a little extra effort into a series wherein a sizable purse is to be had.

PIRATES BREAK TIE IN 10TH ON P. WANER'S HIT

Warneke Suffers 7 to 6 Defeat.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Paul Waner, the National league's batting leader, struck out his first three times up in yesterday's Cub-Pirate contest. Later he allowed two hits to bounce through him for errors. But the great little all around man from Oklahoma regained his usual sharp vision in time to sock a single with two out and Al Todd on third in the tenth inning, to give the Pirates a 7 to 6 victory over Lon Warneke, and definitly end the Cubs' chances for the National league pennant.

The Cubs had trailed 6 to 0, going into the home seventh. In the seventh they made four runs in an attack which featured a homer by Johnny Gill and doubles by Augie Galan and Phil Cavarretta. In the eighth they tied the score on a single by Gabby Hartnett, a pass to Bill Jurges and Ken O'Dea's pinch triple. Though there was only one out when O'Dea got to third, Ken was forced to perish there. "Red" Lucas replaced Big Jim Weaver after the triple and made easy work of Galan and Cavarretta.

Loss for Warneke.

Warneke entered the game at the start of the ninth. He suffered his second loss in three days in a relief rôle. In the Cardinal final he lost in the ninth on an error by one of his associates. But the loss was his fault yesterday. Todd opened the tenth with a robust single and L. Waner contributed a scratchy single, but a single just the same, before Brother Paul put on his big revival.

Roy Henshaw was the starting pitcher. He didn't last long, nor did Clay Bryant. Charley Root and Bill Lee were all right, but they gave way to pinch batters. After all these fellows had disappeared, Lon brought his chin in in time to get the sock it usually gets when he takes over somebody else's job.

Bill Swift started for the Pirates. Bill held the Cubs to two hits in the first inning, one in the fourth, and one, Bill Herman's No. 56 double, in the sixth. Then the Cubs drove him to cover in the seventh.

Pirates Bust Through.

The Pirates busted through in the second inning. Young doubled past Jurges and scored on Todd's single to center. Swift was called out on strikes, and L. Waner hit into a double play.

And here's the way they sent little Roy away in the third: Jensen opened with the second of his series of hits, then P. Waner came through with the second of his series of strikeouts. Vaughan tripled past Galan, Jensen scoring. Suhr flied to Galan, Vaughan scoring. Brubaker was hit by a pitched ball, and after Young had popped to Hartnett Henshaw was told his day's work was finished.

Bryant Tightens Up.

Bryant, who started pitching in the fourth, had an unusual record in the inning. After Todd had fanned, Swift, L. Waner, and Jensen loaded the bases on successive singles. Then P. Waner fanned for the third straight time, and Vaughan fouled to Hartnett.

Bryant was not able to halt the swatting in the fifth. Suhr walked and stopped at second on Brubaker's single. Young tripled to right center, scoring Suhr and Brubaker, and

NORMAN JOFFEE, MAROON GUARD, FRACTURES LEG

Team Scrimmages for 5th Consecutive Day.

Norman Joffee, 195 pound sophomore guard was lost to the University of Chicago football squad yesterday, probably for the season, when he suffered a leg fracture. The fibula of Joffee's right leg was cracked a few inches above the ankle as the result of a hard block by Ed Valorz, reserve back.

Joffee has had several sessions with the varsity, and was regarded as a promising prospect. Valorz, a former teammate of Joffee's at Hyde Park High school, made the finals of the Olympic wrestling tryouts. Other hurts and ailments afflict the Maroon squad. Four backs, Ned Bartlett, Morton Goodstein, Lew Hamity and Fred Lehnhardt, are ailing, though the latter two probably will be ready by Saturday, and Shaughnessy is counting on them as probable starters, along with Omar Fareed and Warren Skoning.

For the fifth consecutive day Coach Shaughnessy sent his men through scrimmage. This is an unusually great amount of contact work for the Maroons, but Shaughnessy must prepare not only for the season opener against Lawrence at the Midway Saturday, but also for the appearance of the strong Vanderbilt team at Stagg field next week.

Maroon coaches expect the Lawrence team, which is coached by Paul Derr, former Illinois player and coach, to display a fast back field and a passing attack that may embarrass the Chicago secondary. Lawrence lost only one game last year, but was tied, however, by the Carroll team which Chicago downed, 31 to 0.

LOIKO STAR AT END.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Michigan may be well fortified with ends, but the Wolverines apparently had another today, as Alex Loiko, husky sophomore, who gave promise last year of developing into a half back, added his name to the list.

With three leading end candidates out of the lineup, Loiko took part in scrimmage again today and made an impressive showing. He recovered two fumbles and was in numerous plays. The Hamtramck youth, an all state half back in high school, is not new at end as he was an all state end before he became a back.

Improved blocking and coördination of the line was apparent as a first team with Curran, Stanton, Cooper, and Smithers in the back field scored two touchdowns.

PURDUE POLISHES DEFENSE.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Purdue's preparations for the season's opener with Ohio university here Saturday were speeded up this afternoon as Coach Noble Kizer attempted to apply a little polish to defense in a long scrimmage session.

Frequent shifts continued in the makeup of both the forward wall and backfield in an effort to patch up the disrupted squad, but it was apparent that Bill Vergane, huge right end, is apt to be the only sophomore in the starting combination.

ILLINI DRILL FOR DE PAUL.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Illinois' football squad reverted to one daily practice a day with the beginning of university instruction today in preparation for the De Paul game Saturday.

Coaches Bob Zuppke and Jim Kelly have exchanged formations from which plays will start. From today's maneuvers it looks as if Zuppke will adhere to his plan of using a number of sophomores in the starting lineup. Left guard continued to be a debatable berth. Cramer, Bruder, Fay, Porter, Stotz and Morris are among the possibilities.

Ken Zimmerman seems to be leading his fellow sophomore, Jack Broady, in the race for full back.

TWO HAWKEYES IN HOSPITAL

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Dr. William Hayne, University of Iowa team physician, spread gloom in the Iowa football camp this afternoon with the announcement that two back field men will be lost to the Hawkeyes for "at least two weeks, and probably longer."

Paul Grange, Waterloo sophomore blocking back, is in the hospital with a streptococcus infection of the throat, Dr. Hayne announced, while Warren [Skeets] Haltom, back field letter winner from Creston, is in bed with a slight concussion of the brain.

John Hild, a third back field star, absent this week because of a bruised shoulder, is expected to be in shape for Carleton here Saturday, the doctor said.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

JOHNNY REVOLTA, national professional golf champion, will play in the Illinois P. G. A. tournament at Itasca Country club Sunday and Monday, after which he and Tony Manero, national open title holder, will leave for a month's tour of South America. . . . Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, defending champion, predicts that Dick Metz of Millroad Farm will be hard to beat at Itasca . . . Metz is an improved golfer since an operation was performed on his right wrist . . . Walsh says he could improve 90 per cent of his pupils by operating on their right wrist. . . . Wisconsin football players have had only three scrimmages so far this year as compared to 23 a year ago . . . Conditions, however, aren't quite the same . . . Coach Harry Stuhldreher invited only 50 to early practice and injuries and illness have reduced the roster to 37. . . . John Marsch of Chicago believes that any one of the three yearlings by Blue Larkspur he has on his Kentucky farm may develop into a 2 year old champion next year. . . .

While Potsy Clark, coach of the Detroit Lions, was scouting the Bears and Packers at Green Bay Sunday he was reminded of an encounter he had with Carl Brumbaugh, Bears' quarter back, when the Chicago club was playing the Lions two years ago. . . . Clark has a habit of wandering up and down the sidelines thinking out loud during a game . . . This day he was thinking loud enough for Brumbaugh to hear him. . . . "Sixty-one, Prez. Sixty-one, Prez," he was saying. . . . Everybody seemed to hear it except Presnell, the Lions' quarter back, to whom it was directed. . . . Clark kept getting more excited and thinking louder as the minutes went by. . . . "Sixty-one, Prez. O, Prez, sixty-one!" he shouted. . . . Finally Brumbaugh called time out and ran up to the Lions. . . . "For the love of Mike, Prez," he said, "call sixty-one before Potsy has a fit." . . . On the next play the Lions lost 12 yards. . . . "Was that sixty-one?" Brumbaugh yelled at Clark. . . . "Yes," admitted Clark reluctantly. . . . "Well, what do you suggest they do now?" asked Brumbaugh sarcastically. . . . "Tell me to keep my big mouth shut," replied Clark, returning to the bench. . . .

The late Augie Kieckhefer, Alfredo De Oro, and Charley Ellis rate as the outstanding left-handed billiard players of the last two decades. . . . Each of them held the world's three cushion championship. . . . Seventy-five thousand saw a recent soccer game in Russia and an equal number were on the outside of the stadium listening to the match by radio. . . . Jack Kaufman, left-handed pitcher on Northwestern's baseball team last spring, never played football until he reported for fall practice. . . . He immediately impressed the coaches with his natural ability and in the first scrimmage with the freshmen he scored twice on runs of 65 and 30 yards each. . . . Table tennis will be played in a new environment when Ruth Aarons and Sandor Glancz, champions of the world, open a series of exhibitions in the new fall revue at one of the loop's popular theater restaurants Oct. 1. . . . Harry Cooper and George Dawson of Glen Oak, who have won the pro-amateur championship of the Chicago District association three times, never have had a hole over par in their last 54. . . .

Bob Zuppke's nephew, Robert E., will not play for his uncle's Illini, after all. . . . Young Bob went home to Minneapolis a week ago. . . . The reason was scholastic trouble. . . . Line Coach Jus Lindgren considered him an outstanding prospect. . . . Larry Lutz, a tackle with the All-Stars who tied the Detroit Lions, turned down an offer to play with the Boston Redskins to serve as assistant coach at the University of California this fall. . . . Frank Shields, former Davis cup player and now a movie actor, says that if Errol Flynn, star of "Captain Blood," concentrated on his practice he could become a Davis cup prospect. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—The St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Giants, 6 to 4, and won their first National league pennant. . . . Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion of the world, announced that he wouldn't defend his title for a year. . . . Tunney slipped away from his new admirers to call on Jack Dempsey and he promised the former champion a return bout. . . . Walter Hagen and Leo Diegel were the finalists in the P. G. A. tournament at Garden City, N. Y.

Marquette Pins Hopes on Back Field

mately of equal ability, and all play both guard positions. Defensively Bill Jennings, senior, son of Marquette's director of athletics, Con Jennings, plays left guard, and Michael Czernecki, a junior from Kalamazoo, plays right guard. It's an often repeated joke on the squad that Tarz Taylor, line coach, keeps young Jennings in the lineup to hold his job with the father.

Joe Mososky, sophomore from North High, Milwaukee, and John Lauterbach, senior from Redwood Falls, Minn., are the other guards. These sets alternate starting games and they all see action. The guards average 185 pounds, if Ted Carpenter's figures are correct.

The bulk of the work at tackle will fall on three men, Carl Seifert, Roger Lumb, and Ralph Kuhn, a junior, who started every game last fall. Howard Hansen, 190 pounder from Racine, who was injured in last Saturday's scrimmage, but now has recovered, is another possibility. Hansen played on the Wisconsin varsity two years ago and now is ready to play against the Badgers Oct. 3.

Seifert is another transfer from Wisconsin, but Carl never played on anything other than Wisconsin's freshman eleven. Seifert weighs 215 pounds, while Lumb, his running mate, scales 203.

Leroy McMahon, left end, and Leroy Muth, right end, are the regular wingmen. Both are seniors. Herbert Anderson and William Higgins are number one substitutes, with James Finimore Cooper of Boston and West Allis a prospect.

Marquette doesn't play at home until Oct. 17. On Oct. 10 the Hilltoppers meet St. Louis university at Soldiers' field, Chicago. The high point of the schedule is expected to be the night game at Soldiers' field on the night of Oct. 30 against St. Mary's of San Francisco. The battle, which is expected to draw 50,000, will touch off the midwest's greatest football week-end, for on the next afternoon Minnesota meets Northwestern at Dyche stadium and Ohio State plays at Notre Dame.

DE PAUL USES VETERANS.

An inkling as to whom Coach Jim Kelly might start in De Paul's opener against Illinois at Champaign Saturday was shown in yesterday's practice of the Blue Demons.

All of the first stringers were veterans of last year's campaign; not one of the sophomores was able to break into the lineup. At ends Chuck Apolskis and Bill Muellner held sway.

At tackle Capt. Hal Carlson and Maurice [Moose] Washburne seem to have their spots assured. Burly Frank Lorge, who was injured most of last season, and Bruno Raffin probably will be the guard selections.

There is a hard battle, however, for these posts as Evy Eastlund and Frank Jenkevicius both have shown well in drills. Chester Chesney is receiving strong competition from Bill Casey.

Willie Phillips and Pat Howlett are still fighting it out for the starting left half position with the probability that the former will win out. At right half Wally Hehn and Julian Heim are waging an equally close battle. The full back seems to be Les [Jetter] Kein.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

HERE AND THERE.

NOW the ponies, heretofore neglected in that field, are to have an All-American classification. Edgar G. Horn of Baltimore, versatile editor of Turf and Sports Digest, has devised a plan to select annually the four "best" horses in the main divisions of the turf world.

Placques bearing a replica of the champion's head will be awarded to the owner of the horse selected by composite choice of 400 turf and sports writers. The divisions are 2 year old colt, 2 year old filly, 3 year olds, best horse of any age.

So far Friend Arch has launched no plan for these four All-Americans to race against a challenging quartet, but he may get around to that later in his successful promotions.

In Wisconsin there is an Anti-Carp association. No, friends, it is not a political organization to repress critics. It's an association of fishermen who want carp cleaned out of fishing waters of the Rock river and adjacent streams. Furthermore, the disciples of Izaak Walton are not satisfied with efforts in that direction made by the state conservation department, and purpose to do something about it.

White Sox and Cubs are playing their fight for position in their respective leagues right down to the last notch. Considering that both teams are out of the flag race, interest remains surprisingly keen in their ultimate finish. Meantime New York is preparing for its first intercity world series since 1923 when the Yankees won four of six games from the Giants.

De Paul football followers wish their eleven to be included among the teams which may furnish an upset Saturday when Coach Jim Kelly's boys go to Champaign for Illinois' opener. There is merit to this plea unless the Illini are materially improved. A fast, light De Paul eleven last year kept Northwestern from scoring until the fourth period. Final count of 14 to 0 for the Purple denoted greater superiority than actually occurred on the field of play. De Paul, which included Catholic U. among its victims, lost only one other game last season, that to St. Louis U., 0 to 6.

At "Trail's End."

The dune is lifted upward to the sky;
I finger stars, like strands of silver beads
That hang around my neck . . . the action feeds
A sense of intimacy; thoughts that lie
Upon the heart, and bring a fluttered sigh.
My sudden pulses leap like frightened steeds,
My breathing shallows while it madly speeds
As if my prisoned spirit yerned to fly.

The thread of silver moon is dipping fast,
A whippoorwill is calling, bats take flight.
Above the lake, so far below, is cast
The shadowed darkness, holding lines of white.
Such loveliness and wonder cannot last—
When stars and waves and birdsongs thread the night!

Geyer Hurt; Wildcats Are Shy on Backs

Northwestern's already depleted backfield force sustained another damaging blow yesterday when Don Geyer, veteran full back, turned up with a badly sprained ankle and will be out for two weeks. Trainer Carl Erickson said that it was doubtful if the hard hitting line plunger would be available for the Iowa game a week from Saturday.

Geyer received the injury in a scrimmage late Tuesday and by yesterday the ankle was badly swollen. Geyer will be kept on crutches for a week.

Was To Replace Duval.

Geyer was counted on to replace Hugh Duvall, last year's full back, and his loss serves to further upset Coach Lynn Waldorf's backfield plans. Injuries and ineligibilities have already deprived the Wildcats of Bob Swisher and Fred Flato, two outstanding backs.

"We have now reached a point where we don't dare scrimmage," Coach Waldorf said in commenting on Geyer's loss. "This is the first time in twelve years of coaching that I have ever faced such a situation. We now have fewer backfield candidates available than any team in the conference," he said.

Steve Toth, understudy to Geyer for the last two season's, moved up to the first team in yesterday's practice. Toth is the best kicker on the squad but has had limited experience as a ball carrier.

BADGERS LOSE POHL.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Neil Pohl, Milwaukee, first string center, was lost to the Badgers today for the opening game because of an attack of tonsilitis. He was taken to the university infirmary, where he will be confined for several days. His place in the lineup probably will go to Allen Mahnke.

With their heavy work out of the way, the players looked squarely to South Dakota State, their first foe, this afternoon as Coach Stuhldreher sent them through a long defensive drill against Jackrabbit plays.

Whatever overconfidence there might be was dispelled with the report of Assistant Coaches Frank Jordan and Bob Reagon, who scouted South Dakota State against Gustavus Adolphus last Saturday. The Jackrabbits made 18 first downs and gained 320 yards. South Dakota State beat the Badgers a year ago.

HOOSIERS DRILL INSIDE.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Indiana university's football squad drilled under the fieldhouse roof this afternoon because of rain, and Coach McMillin devoted most of the afternoon to timing of plays in a dummy scrimmage. The speed of the pony backs, Ken Gunning, Bill Anderson, Harry Cherry, C. W. Norton, and Ray Fox, was impressive. Today's first team included Kenderdine and Beasley, ends; Haak and Sholty, tackles; Szabo and Risher, guards; Miller, center; Huffman, quarter back, Eads and Cavacini, half backs, and Graham, full back.

GOPHERS SHOW IMPROVEMENT IN MONTANA DRILL

Uram Works Out; Throws Some Passes.

Missoula, Mont., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Working on the University of Montana field, nestled in the foothills of the Rockies, the Minnesota football squad today began to reveal some of the form Bernie Bierman says will be necessary to defeat Washington Saturday at Seattle.

Favored by ideal weather, the Gophers engaged in a three hour drill in which forward passing was stressed. Andy Uram, crippled for a week, participated in the drill and did some excellent passing to Spadaccini, King, Reed, and Wilkinson. Uram's stay was short because the coaches didn't want to take any chances with his injured knee.

Whitman Rork, the squad's other important casualty, confined his drill to running up and down the sidelines. As he has missed more than a week of work and Vic Spadaccini now appears to be the full back.

When Uram went to the sidelines Tuffy Thompson went to left half to team up with Alfonse, Wilkinson, and Spadaccini. The line was composed of Reed and King at the ends, Widseth and Midler at the tackles, Weld and Twedell, guards, and Svendsen center.

A chalk talk was held this morning and another was planned for tonight. The squad will work out here again tomorrow and then head for Seattle Friday night.

IRISH REGULARS WIN, 27-0.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Four Notre Dame varsity teams rolled over four teams from the B squad today, piling up a 27 to 0 victory.

The open field running of Bill Horan of Chicago, left half back prospect, featured the drill. He made 36 and 23 yards respectively on two successive runs. Ennio Arboit, right half, scored from the 11 yard stripe on the next play to complete a 70 yard march.

Vic Wojchihovski, right half, tossed a lateral to Larry Danhom, full back, for a 45 yard gain and the first varsity touchdown. Bob Wilke, left half, intercepted a pass on the reserve team 45 yard line and then dominated a march which ended with Danbom's one yard plunge to score. Andy Puplis added both extra points for the regulars from placement.

SENATORS WHIP RED SOX, 3 TO 2; TAKE 3D PLACE

Bluege's Lucky Single Wins Game.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—(AP)—A lucky bounce on Ossie Bluege's grounder with the bases loaded in the ninth inning brought Washington a 3 to 2 triumph over Boston today and sent the Senators into third place in the American league. The victory was Washington's second straight over the Red Sox.

reign of terror. Rosenthal dropped Hale's fly after a long run. Heath tripled the two runs home and scored on George's scratch single past Kennedy's feet. Feller also pushed a dinky single past Kennedy. Whitehead strutted onto the stage at this point and the fun really started. Knickerbocker walked, filling the bases. Sullivan doubled two of the runners home. Averill's single scored Knickerbocker and Sullivan. Trosky blooped his 42d homer over the wall in right and this completed the first nine runs, one scored by each member of the Indians' ensemble.

Ah! An Out!

The first out finally appeared when Weatherly, who started the rumpus, popped to Appling. If Whitehead accepted this as a sign his troubles were over, he soon learned he was in error. Hale followed with a triple and scored when Heath singled. Much cheering when George fanned. Feller singled and Knickerbocker doubled off the fence, Heath scoring the eleventh and final run. Sullivan grounded to Bonura for the third out.

SECOND GAME

The Sox started the second game as if they had forgotten all about the unpleasantness of an hour previous. They scored a run off Harder in the first inning on a single by Rosenthal, single by Bonura and double by Appling. The Indians tied it up in the same inning, Knickerbocker singling and scoring on Sullivan's double.

Appling's robust smack dissolved the tie in the third. With two out Bonura singled to center. Appling then got the jump on one of Harder's speed balls and rode into the left field bleachers. When Luke reached the plate an hilarious legionnaire was there to escort him to the dugout.

Harder hit Dykes with a pitched ball in the fourth inning and the mishap touched off a pleasing five run rally. Shea double past Trosky and Dietrich singled, Dykes scoring. Radcliff singled to score Shea and knock Harder out of action. Rescuer Hildebrand fanned Rosenthal, but a single by Haas scored Dietrich and Radcliff was caught between bases. Bonura doubled and Haas scored. Hits by Appling and Hayes shoved Zeke home with the fifth run of the inning.

The Indians picked up two runs in the sixth just before darkness settled down. Hayes fumbled Weatherly's drive and this became a run when Hale doubled. Hale assisted the Sox by overrunning second and being retired. Heath tripled to center and scored on Becker's single which Appling heaved into the grandstand. Dietrich then retired the next two batters, one of them Pinchhitter Campbell.

Giant Infield Slow but Sure; Yankees Surer

he'll be in the series even if he has to have the help of a crutch. With him out of there the Giants act differently. Sam Leslie, understudy to Terry, isn't the same sort of fielder and the infielders have to keep this in mind whenever they are turning loose a throw in Sam's direction.

At second base the Giants have a skilled youngster in Burgess Whitehead against that veteran Yankee, Tony Lazzeri. Lazzeri is just another old fellow who for the last couple of springs has been written out of the picture, but he's kept pushing his way back in. He's been remarkably steady as a fielder this season, invariably producing a defensive gem when it hurt the enemy the most. Whitehead is consistent, but even with his age advantage can't be conceded anything over the 32 year old Italian. As a hitter Lazzeri probably is the more dangerous of the pair. He's no novice in the home run art.

Crosetti Ahead of Bartell.

Frank Crosetti, the Yankee shortstop is rounding out the best season of his career. He's not especially powerful as a hitter, but covers a lot of ground at his chosen position. If he hadn't been injured for the last third of the 1935 season the Yanks might never have been headed by the Tigers. He was in the 1932 series in which the Yanks slaughtered the Cubs in four straight. He didn't hit then, but his mates certainly did enough of it to more than balance his feebleness on offense.

Bartell still is regarded as "one of those Philly ball players," a term used because so many graduates of that outfield proved flops. The Giants purchased Bartell for work last season and the expectation was that he would revive a disintegrating infield. He was terrible as a fielder and didn't hit. But this season he settled down. He continued to remain on both feet during the period in which the Giants catapulted themselves into a pennant while the two other contenders were playing bean bag. It is possible of course, that Bartell finally has found himself, but he'll have to prove it. He's a scrappy little devil and you can bet the Yanks will give him a hard ride in hopes of arousing his goat.

Age vs. Mediocrity.

The Giants have one of baseball's patriarchs at third base. He's Travis Jackson, now on the hot corner because a bum leg halted his career at shortstop where for years he was one of the best in the business. Jackson no longer rates as a star. His ground covering ability is limited although this isn't of vast importance at third base where the chances are few. But he's a fairly tough man to pitch to in a pinch.

Bob Rolfe, the Yankee third baseman, is only an average performer on defense. Although he can run like a deer he never has been much at charging in and scooping up slow bounders. He's also a little weak moving to his left for batted balls, but this isn't important because the agile Crosetti frequently gobbles up hoppers that have eluded Rolfe.

For infield replacements the Yanks probably are better fortified than the Giants. If something should happen to one of Terry's regulars he'd be forced to summon Mark Koenig, who, if he gets into even one game, will be able to boast that he was in two series against the same team he helped to win three pennants. His previous effort against the Yanks was as a Cub in 1932.

ran home himself on Todd's single. Bryant was excused at this juncture. Root took over the pitching, fanned Swift, threw out L. Waner, and made Jensen fly to Galan.

Gill's homer, which set off the fireworks in the Cub seventh, was a shot high into the right field bleachers, the fifth Chicago hit off Swift. Jurges followed with a single to center, then there was a lull while Stainback fanned for Root. Galan doubled to right, Jurges stopping at third and Cavarretta doubled to the same terrain, Jurges and Galan scoring. Weaver replaced Swift and, while he was holding the ball preparatory to going to work, Vavarretta stole third. Herman grounded to Vaughan, Cavarretta scoring. Hack walked, but Young made a fine back handed pick-up of Demaree's grounder and threw him out.

The Cubs tied the score and had the potential winning run on third with one out in the eighth. Hartnett opened with a single to right and went on to second when the ball got away from P. Waner. Gabby reached third while Young was tossing out Gill. Jurges walked, then O'Dea batted for Lee and tripled to left center, scoring Hartnett and Jurges. Lucas replaced Weaver. Galan popped to Suhr, and Cavarretta flied to P. Waner.

Todd opened the tenth with a single to right and reached second while Hack was throwing out Lucas. L. Waner beat out a bouncer to Herman, Todd taking third. Herman made a great one-handed leaping catch of Jensen's liner. P. Waner then smacked a single over third, scoring Todd. Warneke threw out Vaughan.

HERE'S THE process*
HERE'S THE cigar

THAT STOPPED MILLIONS OF MEN FROM THROWING AWAY CIGARS HALF SMOKED

When you find bitter, bitey, raspy taste in a cigar—don't blame the tobacco. Blame it on the method used for curing the tobacco.

All cigar tobaccos—even the finest—contain certain bitter oils and harsh elements. These must be taken out if a cigar is to be mild, mellow and yet full of rich, satisfying tobacco flavor.

Ordinary curing methods fail to take them out. The result—many cigars so harsh, bitter and bitey that you men throw them away half smoked.

BAYUK SOLVED THIS PROBLEM

Bayuk invented a process that does two all-important things to cigar tobacco. 1—It removes the harsh, bitter elements. 2—It mellows and brings out the true tobacco flavor.

This process is covered by patent protection. No other cigar manufacturer has it. It enables Bayuk to give you a cigar like PHILLIES—mild, mellow and full of true tobacco taste.

TEST PHILLIES YOURSELF

Disregard mere claims about cigars—because you can't smoke claims. Try PHILLIES and compare it to any cigar you've ever smoked—in mildness—in smoothness—in rich, satisfying tobacco flavor.

Millions of smokers have done this—and then switched to PHILLIES. Proof? More men smoke PHILLIES than any other cigar in America.

FAVORITES WIN AS JAMES STARS ON WILD TURKEY

Five Public Choices Are First to Wire.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Favorites finally have come into their own at Lincoln Fields. Resenting all the mean things that have been said about them lately, the public choices started proving to the customers yesterday afternoon why they are public choices.

The Crete meeting reaches the half way mark today. With the running of the first 100 races, exactly 37 choices managed to reach the winning post on time and ahead of their rivals. This .37 percentage compares favorably with the figures at any track in the land, but it took a concerted drive on the part of the favorites yesterday to achieve this high figure.

The percentage was only 34 1-3 when the afternoon got under way. In bang bang order, Trinchera, Amateur Girl, Margaret G., Prum, and Wild Turkey galloped to victory. Their prices were $3.20, $4.80, $4.00, $5.40, and $6.80, respectively. The five favorites not only won, but they all won with something to spare. The backers of the long shots indeed were skirmishing around looking for fresh money.

Wild Turkey's triumph came in the Goodnow handicap which was one of the day's features. Only a well judged ride by Jocky Basil James made her victory possible.

In the early stages the daughter of Hourless-Martin Bird, which races for Henry H. Cross' Tranquility Farm stable, appeared to be hopelessly beaten. Col. Ed and Fanfern, coupled as an entry in the silks of Paul Kelly of Aurora, were far out in front of all the others. Master Piece tried to keep pace with them but made a bad job of it.

Wild Turkey had been plodding along in seventh place. James called on her for a rally on the lower bend. She responded readily and moved forward rapidly. Soon she raced Fanfern into defeat. Only Col. Ed stood between her and victory.

She took after the colonel and eventually whipped him. The finish was so close, however, that the camera eye had to be called upon to separate them before the numbers could go up. Fra Diavolo moved up from last place in time to take down third money.

Wild Turkey's race was brilliant. She stepped the mile over the lightning fast course in 1:36 2-5.

In the Sevens Hotel handicap, also at a mile, Crowning Glory, a castoff from the Whitney stable, romped a mile in 1:36 1-5 to win easily from the favorite Yantis by the wide margin of two and one-half lengths.

Favorite Victories Streaky.

The favorites have been streaky in their performances at Lincoln Fields, but on the whole they have done well enough. Four won on the first day of the meeting, and three the next. A few lean days followed. On one afternoon not a single choice got home in front. Then on the eighth day of the meeting while running over a bad track six races out of eight went to the favorites. After that they dropped off again until yesterday.

James Rides 21 Winners in Twelve Days

Louis Severson's Margaret G. in the third race yesterday gave Basil James his twentieth victory of the meeting. All these were accomplished without the apprentice allowance. It established the youngster with a big lead over all his rivals, with Dotter and South closest with eleven winners each. Later James rolled up his 21st victory in the Goodnow handicap on Wild Turkey.

A checkup on the trainers during the first twelve days of the Lincoln Fields meeting reveals that R. T. Watts has saddled five winners and leads them all. Second is Paul Kelly of Aurora with four, but for the most part the victories have been well distributed. A total of 62 trainers had one winner or more.

Advantage, which won the Hawthorne Juvenile stakes two years ago for Ald. John Coughlin, was reported sold to J. R. Gregory after his losing race on Tuesday. Advantage broke down during the event, but it is the plan to use him for breeding purposes. Advantage is a well bred son of Carlaris-Betty Ames.

A race at a mile and a quarter has been carded for this afternoon by Racing Secretary Shelley. The third edition of the condition book, just distributed, reveals a mile and a half event for the stout hearted fellows on next Wednesday afternoon.

GRANVILLE PREPS FOR LAWRENCE STAKE SATURDAY

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—William Woodward's Granville, conqueror of Discovery in the Saratoga cup, is being carefully prepared for the Lawrence Realization, in which he will meet a field of three year olds at Belmont Park Saturday. His latest training move, a mile and a quarter in 2:06 at Aqueduct, indicated that the son of Gallant Fox is on edge and ready to defend the championship for his age.

Other likely starters in the Realization which have been training well are the Greentree stable's Memory Book, which stepped a mile and a half in 2:35 2-5, and Walter M. Jefford's Giant Killer, which covered the same distance in 2:38.

TRINCHERA took command easily, was rated under restraint to the stretch, increased his advantage when shaken up and, opening up a safe margin, won in hand. UNKIE TOM, placed to strong pressure after three-eighths and forced to race wide, closed resolutely. HARPEN BELLE, in hand early and saving much ground, held on well in an even effort.

AMATEUR GIRL, much the best and away fast, easily opened up a good lead before reaching the turn, came away in the stretch and swerved out in the final eighth, but had speed in reserve. INCOGNITO, well up from the start, was under strong riding the final five-sixteenths and held on well to the lost sixteenth, where he weakened. FRONTIER, away slowly and forced to lose much ground, was slow to respond, but came with improved speed in final quarter and was going strongly at the close.

MARGARET G., under a confident and daring ride, was taken under light restraint before going a quarter, came between horses when beginning to move up fast after entering the stretch, came out in the final eighth and, overtaking the leaders, drew out rapidly. MISS FLICKER had the most speed from the start, saved ground, and held on fairly well, though no match for the winner. AU MAN, forced wide early but taken to inside on the turn, squeezed through a small opening in the stretch and, closing with determination, outfinished ITO.

Went to post at 4:15. At post 4¼ minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

WILD TURKEY, fractious at the post but away well, was allowed to drop out of it, began to improve her position after five-eighths and, coming to outside in stretch, wore down the leaders in a hard drive. COLONEL ED, saving ground throughout and having speed from the start, was under light restraint for three-quarters, stood a drive gamely, but was not good enough. FRA DIAVOLO, badly outrun for three-quarters, came through on the inside when closing much ground in the stretch.

CROWNING GLORY, rated under snug restraint for five-eighths, began to increase his advantage after reaching the final quarter, was vigorously shaken up when nearing the final eighth, then continued well to win handily. YANTIS, close up from the start and under energetic riding after a half mile, could not threaten the winner, yet held on well. SONGMAKER, under steady reserve for about five-eighths, also held on with good courage.

DEETS CAMPFIRE [Arnold]	109	10	5	10	9^{2}	9^{2}	9^{1}	ChappelBros.	47.40-1
DIANE S. [R.McClellan]	107	8	7	$9^{½}$	10	10	10	Mrs.A.Sabath	11.60-1

Time, :23 4-5, :47 4-5, 1:12 2-5, 1:39 1-5, 1:46 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Dark Mist, $9.00 straight, $5.60 place, $3.80 show; Honest Susan, $17.00 place, $7.80 show; Regards, $9.40 show. Winner trained by R. T. Watts. Went to post at 5:42.

DARK MIST, joustled about early, began to move up after reaching the final three-eighths, came between horses when entering stretch and, continuing strongly when getting through on inside in final eighth, was up at the end. HONEST SUSAN, on inside for five-eighths, swerved out badly when entering stretch and closed with determination when straight. REGARDS showed the most speed from the start, saved ground to the stretch, swerved out when drawing into a good lead, and gave way slightly near the end.

HUNT PHEASANT FOR RARE SPORT; SEASON IS NEAR

Open in Two States in October.

Bob Becker's "The Hunter's Guide" is a pocket encyclopedia of everything the hunter wants to know. On sale at Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 25 cents; by mail, 30 cents.

BY BOB BECKER.

With the South Dakota pheasant season starting at noon on Oct. 10, the pheasant season on Wisconsin preserves opening early in October, and Wisconsin's regular pheasant season also getting under way the middle of the month, upland game hunters will have a chance to swing into the fields behind their dogs before long. The snipe hunters also can try their skill next month in Wisconsin inasmuch as the season on this tricky game bird starts on Oct. 10.

Pheasant shooters who want to go into South Dakota where they can kill four cocks per day and purchase shipping tags to send home a fair number of birds, can choose from several different shooting places in that state.

Tough on Cheaters.

The license in South Dakota is $15.50 for a nonresident. And are they tough out there on the visitors who try to get away with a shooting trip without buying a license! Last year this unsuccessful trick cost hunters hundreds of dollars in fines and, in some cases, jail sentences.

We have found South Dakota pheasant hunting a combination of an upland game shoot and a rodeo, with so many birds flying around and jackrabbits running all over the place that you couldn't keep up with the show.

Midwest sportsmen wanting information on conditions and shooting places may write Gene Denning at Huron, S. D., who will be glad to answer questions. You can also write K. G. A. Springer of Aberdeen or Ole Hagen, warden, at Madison.

To Hunt on Preserves.

More and more hunters are now going to Wisconsin to hunt on licensed preserves for their pheasant shooting. And many a shooter who thought this kind of hunting was a setup has had his eyes opened. We never have seen such tough cover or wilder birds than we have shot at while on a preserve near Portage, where you pay for what you shoot . . . the usual procedure on all preserves in Wisconsin, New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, and in other states that have a preserve law.

But the preserve owners sing the blues all the time, because of the birds that leave the preserve, most of them flying out of the boundaries, where John Doe and his pals enjoy them. At Portage they recover less than half of the birds known to be on the preserve, which means no income from these birds and a consequent loss to the owner.

EGAN'S 82 WINS OVER SAYRE IN SENIORS' GOLF

Pope Is Named President of Association.

W. Bradshaw Egan of Exmoor, brother of the late H. Chandler Egan, won the championship of the 14th annual fall meeting of the Illinois Seniors Golf association at Exmoor yesterday. He had 41—41—82 for low gross in all classes, but, it was his three years' seniority over Homer D. Sayre of Riverside, last year's champion, that really won. Sayre, too, shot 41—41—82, but lost out because all ties are decided by the age of the contestants.

George J. Pope of Skokie, new president of the association, lost the low gross for class B, by two months to E. L. Essley of Westmoreland, after they tied at 86.

The second best award, that of senior of seniors, was won by Richard E. Williams of Ridgemoor with 45—46—91. The following new officers were elected last night:

President—George J. Pope, Skokie; first vice president—John T. Llewellyn, Flossmoor; second vice president—Arthur D. Mackie, Springfield; third vice president—James C. Murray, Barrington; secretary—Frederick W. Hill, Skokie, and treasurer—William V. O'Brien, Exmoor.

H. S. Burpee of Rockford, retiring president after three terms, was made a member of the board together with William F. Bode, Walter S. Carr, Robert E. Peacock, Fred S. Cuscaden, E. A. Eulass, all of Chicago, and R. S. Chapman and Ray Wantz, Rockford.

The North Shore league wound up its competitive season yesterday at the North Shore course, with Glen View maintaining its hold on first place although losing to Evanston, 16 to 11. Glen View finished with a total of 142½ for the year as against 135½ for Sunset Ridge, runners up. The Sunset Ridge team won 15½ to 11½ from North Shore; Exmoor defeated Ridgemoor 15 to 12; Park Ridge beat Edgewater 18 to 9 and Skokie won 15 to 12 from Westmoreland. Bill Rodomer of Glen View was the individual star with a 75. The final standing:

Sunset Ridge	135½	Westmoreland	111
Park Ridge	132½	Ridgemoor	110
North Shore	131	Exmoor	91½
Evanston	117½	Edgewater	82

LOUIS RECEIVES $60,148.89 FOR ETTORE VICTORY

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Joe Louis, Detroit colored heavyweight, added $60,148.89 to his bank roll by knocking out Al Ettore, Philadelphia Italian, in the fifth round last night. Ettore's share was $36,765.26. The figures include their share of the radio and picture receipts. The financial statistics, announced by the Pennsylvania athletic commission, follow:

Paid attendance, 40,407; gross receipts, $215,279.80; net receipts, $176,326.29; Louis' share, $57,897.89; Ettore's share, $35,265.26; radio receipts, $5,000; picture rights receipts, $2,500. Out of the radio and picture receipts Louis received $2,250, and Ettore, $1,500.

McFarland Is Dead After a Long Illness

to sacrifice his health and earning capacity. Consequently he engaged in many matches against welterweight and middleweight opponents.

Even so, before he went to Europe McFarland accepted a lightweight title bout with Ad Wolgast at Milwaukee, but on the day of the contest the sherif interfered, holding that the bout was a prizefight and not a boxing exhibition. That was the closest Packey got to a crown. His friends said that Tom Jones, manager of Wolgast, who had signed for the match against Jones' wishes, had asked the sherif to step in, fearing Ad would come out of the match without his title.

Knocked Down Twice.

Only twice in his career was he knocked down, the first time by Cyclone Johnny Thompson of Sycamore, Ill., and later by Ray Bronson in 1909. The only mark Packey received during his fighting days was a black eye, suffered at the hands of Kid Burns at Philadelphia in 1912.

Packey was married in 1914 to Miss Margaret Loughran, daughter of a Joliet financier. His father-in-law was head of the Porter Brewery company, was director of Joliet National bank, and owned the Loughran building, one of the biggest in Joliet. The couple started a honeymoon around the world, but went only as far as Japan and then returned when the world war started. Packey joined the army in 1917. He was stationed at Camp Taylor in Louisville, Ky.

Retires to Enter Business.

After his retirement from the ring the boxer moved to Joliet where he invested his ring earnings, estimated at a quarter of a million dollars, in a paving contracting business and his father-in-law's brewery and bank. He rose to the vice presidency of the bank. He netted approximately $750,000 in the business world, but he lost half a million when the bank went into receivership during the bank holiday. In addition the brewery went bankrupt and was placed in the hands of reorganizers. His only tangible assets remaining were an apartment building, said to be worth $75,000, and several blocks of stock.

Packey was a factor in the success of the Catholic Youth organization, organized in 1931 by the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago. Last July 15 Packey announced his withdrawal from the C. Y. O. to give more attention to his business interests. He took up his duties as a member of the Illinois athletic commission Jan. 30, 1933, replacing Fred Gardner. He was chairman of the Will county Democratic committee.

Jenkins Sets 48 Hr. World Speed Record

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Ab Jenkins won the 48 hour world motor car speed record from Great Britain tonight after smashing a series of other marks in two days of driving over the Bonneville Salt Flats.

Aided by Relief Driver Babe Stapp, veteran Los Angeles race pilot who twice escaped unscathed when tires were thrown, Jenkins averaged 148.626 miles an hour, far surpassing the old record of 136.34 miles an hour established by Capt. George Eyston of Great Britain.

The triumph in the 7,134.082 mile grind marked the end of a big parade of speed and endurance records of lesser importance brought back to the United States.

The finish of the run that started Monday at 5:52.32 p. m. [8:52.32 Chicago time] came at dusk.

Tumbled by a convincing margin was the coveted 24 hour record of 150.162 miles an hour set three months ago by John Cobb of England. Jenkins' average was 153.76 miles per hour.

LUKE APPLING IS VOTED CHICAGO'S MOST VALUABLE

Luke Appling, White Sox shortstop, has been chosen Chicago's most valuable baseball player.

Final figures in the four weeks' poll sponsored by Albert J. Pixley, president of a chain of restaurants, announced yesterday showed Appling leading Billy Herman, Cubs second baseman, by 1,493 votes. Out of a total of 264,000 votes cast in the contest Luke garnered 61,279 against 59,786 for Herman.

SHIKINA THROWS RASPUTIN; HOLD UP TWO PURSES

Oki Shikina threw Ivan Rasputin in 26 minutes 21 seconds with a Japanese arm lock last night at Arcadia Gardens. The match climaxed an evening of rough wrestling which was highly entertaining to the 2,200 fans.

The exhibitions failed to win the admiration of Commissioner George Getz, however, and he ordered the purses of George Mansor and Danny Lentz held up on the ground that they exceeded the bounds of good clean sportsmanship and fun in their preliminary matches. Referee Tony Hajdich disqualified Lentz and gave his opponent Faro Renaldi the verdict on a foul after 4:41. Hajdich gave Dutch Heffner the decision over Mansor after 30 minutes because of violation of rules.

PIRATES ELEVEN BEATS BROOKLYN DODGERS, 10 TO 6

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 23.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10 to 6, tonight in the opening game of the National Professional Football league at Ebbets field.

Red Franklin saved the Dodgers from a shut out when he entered the game with only two minutes to play and in two dashes from the 35 yard line scored a touchdown.

The game was won in the first period when Arthur Strutt, former Duquesne back, ripped the Brooklyn defense with five successive sorties through the Dodgers' right side from the 35 yard line to the goal. His former college teammate, Arnold Niccolai place kicked the point. Niccolai gave the Pirates three more points in the second period. Strutt crashed his way to the 20 yard mark and with seven to go on fourth down, Niccolai dropped back and kicked a field goal.

RUSS MARTIN'S 147 WINS FROLIC AT FLOSSMOOR

Third Straight Victory in Tournament.

Russ Martin, quarter finalist in the recent national amateur golf championship at Garden City, N. Y., shot a 36 hole score of 74—73—147 to win his third straight victory in Flossmoor's twentieth annual Frolic yesterday. The invitational tournament, one of the largest in the Chicago district this year, attracted 225 members and guests.

Martin was three over par for 36 holes. Tricky winds and a light rain late in the day caused him to go over on several holes, but he managed to recover with the aid of sub-par shooting with five birdies.

M. J. Bransfield of Flossmoor trailed in second place with 76—81—157. J. M. Hall of Beverly captured low net for 36 holes with 180—36—144.

The prize list follows:

Low gross, 36 holes—Russell W. Martin, Flossmoor, 73—74—147, first; M. J. Bransfield, Flossmoor, 76—81—157, second.

Rodak Meets Sicilia at White City

Leo Rodak, former Chicago Golden Gloves champion, tonight will make his second appearance in his new campaign to regain recognition as a leading featherweight in a ten round bout with Armand Sicilia, Springfield, Ill., at White City. Rodak knocked out Frankie Wolfram in two rounds at the same arena recently. Sicilia, a former national A. A. U. champion, is expected to give Rodak strong opposition.

Gene Higgins, Catholic Youth organization junior welterweight, and Lou Naseef, Indianapolis, Ind., will be opponents in a five round semifinal. Other matches involve Chet La Vere and Ambrose Geohagen [5], light heavyweights; Mickey O'Shea and Mike Krismis [4], welterweights; Rolla Taylor and Frankie White [4], middleweights.

Clarence [Red] Burman, Jack Dempsey's heavyweight protégé, will arrive at Union station at 9 o'clock this morning to finisn preparations for a scheduled ten round contest with John Henry Lewis at Chicago Stadium a week from tomorrow. He will be accompanied by Trainers John [Stretch] Pallore and Heinie Blaustein. Red will open workouts at Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon. He is expected to do only light loosening up exercises following a ten round victory over Billy Ketchell at Brooklyn Tuesday.

Edwin Waling, Detroit featherweight, whose undefeated record of 27 engagements was broken by Lenny Cohen Monday, and Pat Robertson, New York, yesterday were matched for an eight round attraction at Marigold Gardens Monday. . . . Ralph Waharado and Frankie Agnes, rival north side lightweights, have been paired in a five round semi-final to the headliner involving Tony Musto and Scotty Withers at Northwest stadium tomorrow. . . . King Levinsky will return Saturday from Portland, Ore., where he whipped Leo Lomski in ten rounds.

AND MY LOW-PRICED DODGE IS THE BEST LOOKING TRUCK OF THEM ALL!

BUYERS EVERYWHERE AMAZED AT TODAY'S LOW DODGE TRUCK PRICES!

HAVE YOU checked Dodge truck prices lately? Have you compared prices of all three lowest-priced trucks? If not, you will be amazed to find that Dodge is now priced with the lowest—and you can get Dodge trucks in all models...stakes, panels, chassis, whatever type of truck you want.

Truck buyers know that Dodge has always built quality trucks. In the lowest-priced field Dodge pioneered such extra-quality features as valve seat inserts, safety-steel cab, full-floating rear axle, genuine hydraulic brakes, and many more. By actual count—easily verified by yourself in five minutes time with a copy of the "Show-Down" score card—Dodge is today far ahead of the others in known, recognized features that save money.

When you go to buy a truck, here's another thing to remember. Dodge is the only truck of the lowest-priced three that gives you a 6-cylinder "L"-head engine with six special gas and oil-saving features. Your Dodge dealer does not ask you merely to take his word for it that this Dodge engine is setting economy records from coast to coast. He wants to lend you a little mileage testing machine, called a gasometer. The gasometer will show you exactly how far a Dodge, or any other truck, new or old, goes on a gallon of gas.

Before you buy, make the free gas test. Then get a "Show-Down" score card and compare features of all three lowest-priced trucks. See your Dodge dealer today!

Son and Daughter Share Extract Fortune.

Russell C. Price, president of the Price Flavoring Extract company, 237 East Superior street, who died Feb. 16 at the age of 82, left an estate valued at $329,945, according to an inventory approved yesterday by August G. Urbanski, assistant to the probate judge.

Mr. Price's will, admitted to probate on March 23, divided his estate equally between a son, Edwin P. Price, 920 Hill road, Winnetka, and a daughter, Mrs. Blanche E. Swearingen of Pasadena, Cal.

Items Listed in Inventory.

The inventory lists cash of $11,445, bonds of a par value of $24,000, and stocks of a current market value of $294,500. An additional block of 2,525 shares of stock in the Price Flavoring Extract company was marked "doubtful."

The will of Miss Sophia C. Hutchinson, who died Sept. 7 at the age of 75, was admitted to probate by Oscar S. Caplin, assistant to the probate judge. The estate, estimated at $100,000, is bequeathed to a sister, Mrs. Katherine M. Wells, 1721 Wesley avenue, Evanston, with whom Miss Hutchinson lived, and to Terry Hutchinson Wells and Harry Wells, son and husband, respectively, of Mrs. Wells.

Mrs. Jessie Thornton Will.

The will of Mrs. Jessie Benton Thornton, who died July 6 at the age of 72, left an estate valued at $45,000 to three children, Chancellor B. Thornton, 7600 Stewart avenue; Mrs. Hattie Douglas, 7601 Stewart avenue, and Mrs. Mabel Walbridge, 650 Sunrise avenue, Lake Bluff.

Mrs. Thornton was the widow of Charles Solon Thornton, attorney and corporation counsel of Chicago from 1897 to 1899, who died four years ago.

Abram Van Etten, who died July 23, left an estate valued at $40,000 to his widow, Mrs. Marie Van Etten, 425 West 118th street, under the terms of his will admitted to probate. Mr. Van Etten, a cut stone contractor, was 58 years old.

MOTHER'S FAITH FREES HER SON, HELD AS ROBBER

Mrs. Myrtle Kirkey's persistent belief that her son, Ben, 29 years old, was innocent of robbery charges, resulted in their dismissal yesterday by the Cook county grand jury.

Kirkey was identified as one of five men who obtained $1,150 and some jewelry in the holdup of a laundry at 21 East 110th place on Aug. 8 and on Aug. 14 he was held to the grand jury in bonds of $25,000.

His mother, who lives at 418 West 117th street, made daily trips to the state's attorney's office, insisting her son was the victim of mistaken identity and offered to provide an alibi for him. Finally First Assistant State's Attorney Crowley heard her story and assigned his assistant, Mal Coghlan, to investigate the case.

Yesterday Mrs. Kirkey brought thirteen witnesses who provided an alibi that her son was busy in the sale of a pet bulldog when the robbery occurred. Coghlan took the witnesses as well as the robbery victims before the grand jury. After all evidence had been heard Kirkey was freed.

GIANT OF ALTON TO GO ON STAGE AT $300 A WEEK

Alton, Ill., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Robert Wadlow, the Alton giant who at the age of 18 has reached the height of 8 feet 5½ inches, has turned professional and will sign a theatrical contract at a salary of $300 a week, his father revealed today.

The youth, who rates the title of the world's tallest human, will begin his tour in the east in October.

David Edelson, Chicago theatrical man, negotiated the contract with Herbert Wadlow, the giant youth's father. The elder Wadlow said his son will make appearances in theaters, lecture halls, and schools.

Hold Funeral Tomorrow for Count Tamburini

Funeral services for Count Arnalda C. Tamburini, noted Italian painter, will be at 10 a. m. tomorrow in St. Celestine's church, Elmwood Park. The body will be placed in a vault in St. Joseph's cemetery, River Grove, until the widow, Countess Dolio Tamburini, can take it to Florence, Italy, for burial. Count Tamburini, a friend of Premier Mussolini, plunged to his death Sept. 12 from a window of St. Luke's hospital, where he was a patient.

CANADIAN WAR CHIEF CHECKS UP ON DEFENSES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 23.—Though Ian Mackenzie, minister of national defense, dubbed Viscount Elibank a peregrinating imperialist when the latter recently suggested Canada might well ponder its vulnerability to air attack in the next war, apparently he has taken the tip seriously.

Mackenzie has just returned from a trip to the maritime provinces and announces that he will leave in a day or two for Vancouver, the two extreme borders of Canada, and the two likely to be first attacked by air. Mackenzie admits that he is checking up the military forces of the country.

"Our central purpose," he said, "is to reduce the paper strength of our military establishment and place it upon a sounder basis. Our paper strength was about 90,000 and our real strength about 39,000. Obviously that disparity must be removed. It is evident, too, that a great portion of the organization must be mechanized."

MONKEY GLAND EXPERT REVEALS GOAL; 'SUPERMAN'

VIENNA, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Envisioning the time when "millions of persons" will have submitted to monkey gland operations, Dr. Serge Voronoff today announced his next goal as "a race of superhuman men."

"My biggest plan now," he said, "is the development of a superhuman type by operating on a 10 year old boy—that is, if any mother would entrust her child to me.

"Why, my first rejuvenation operation sixteen years ago on a 74 year old man lasted about forty minutes and made my patient have the mental and physical alertness of one 40 years old.

"One should import chimpanzees to Europe," the gland specialist said, "for the express purpose of 'youthifying' operations, because some time they'll be used by many millions of persons. At my Mentone villa I am conducting further researches."

Dr. Voronoff, now slightly bald at 69, made his statement while visiting relatives in Vienna with his attractive 22 year old wife.

HOLD RITES FOR WM. H. SHUEY, 92, TOMORROW

Funeral services for William H. Shuey, 92 years old, 120 North Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, who died on Tuesday in the Mercyville sanitarium west of Aurora, will be held at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow in the First Congregational church in Oak Park. Until his retirement in 1908 Mr. Shuey was general manger of Railway Age, a trade publication.

Mr. Shuey was born in Hamilton, O., and had lived in the Chicago area since 1902. Before joining the staf of Railway Age he was vice president of the Douglas Shuey Photo Supply company, which had offices on the present site of the Stevens hotel. His hobby was the designing of church organs. Instruments of his design are in use in 22 churches in Chicago and its suburbs.

Widow of Former School Head in Ottawa, O., Dies

Mrs. Mary Anne Rauh, 70 years old, 6936 Crandon avenue, died yesterday in St. Joseph's hospital in South Bend, Ind. Mrs. Rauh was the widow of Henry F. Rauh, former superintendent of schools at Ottawa, O., and publisher of the Putnam County Democrat there. Surviving are three daughters and two sons. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m. in St. Patrick's church in South Bend.

Infantile Paralysis Victim Ends 5 Years in 'Iron Lung'

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Birsdall Sweet, 18 years old, completed five years' use of the "iron lung" at Vassar hospital today. The lad, a victim of infantile paralysis which caused the partial collapse of his lungs, lived entirely within the metal "lung" for many months. Now he spends his days in a wheel chair, returning to the machine only at night.

Mrs. Addie J. Hollowell of South Bend Dies Here

Mrs. Addie J. Hollowell, 61 years old, of South Bend, Ind., died yesterday of a heart ailment in the home of her son, Knowles B. Hollowell, 718 Hinman avenue, Evanston. Mrs. Hollowell was the sister of Dr. Knowles B. Smith, dean of the school of mining engineers at the University of Notre Dame. She also is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Theodore McCullough of Beardstown, Ill.

SEN. HUEY LONG'S ESTATE PUT AT $153,588 TOTAL

New Orleans, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—The late Senator Huey P. Long left an estate valued at $153,588.53, including insurance policies payable to his children, an inventory filed today in Civil District court here by Charles J. Rivet, attorney for the estate, showed.

The insurance policies totaled $30,499.97. The inventory stated that the property of the late senator was located in the parishes of Orleans, Caddo, and East Baton Rouge.

It showed that in Orleans parish property of Senator Long and Mrs. Long was valued at $100,045.56. Bank deposits in the Guaranty Bank and Trust company, Alexandria, La., totaled $50,454.24.

The property in East Baton Rouge was said to consist chiefly of Long's law library valued at $20,190. Among the New Orleans holdings were his interest in his home, $4,945.75. It was stated that there was a mortgage of $18,054.25 on it.

BURNS GREATEST DEATH CAUSE FOR CHILDREN UNDER 6

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Burns cause one-third more deaths among children of pre-school age than automobile accidents, according to statistics made public by the United States public health service today.

Burns were the leading causes of accidental deaths of children under 6 years of age. This did not include conflagrations, but chiefly burns received in and around the home. At the ages of one, two, three and five, deaths from burns per 100,000 children were 22, 20, 18, and 17, respectively.

Figures showed a steady decline in child deaths by accidental burnings since 1925. They also indicated that there were more deaths from this cause in the southeast than in any other part of the country, while in the western area deaths of this type were lowest.

OPEN MOTORIST'S TRIAL FOR DEATH OF PEDESTRIAN

A jury in the Criminal court of Judge John Prystalski began hearing evidence yesterday in the trial of George Ader, 33 years old, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Henry Nelson, 21 years old, 815 Newport avenue. Nelson was fatally injured while walking at Roscoe street and Lake Shore drive on May 8 when he was struck by an automobile driven by Municipal Judge Jay A. Schiller, which was rammed by Ader's machine.

Ader's attorney, Emerson C. Whitney, declared in his opening statement that he would show that his client's automobile was struck by an automobile driven by Attorney William R. Seibert, 111 West Washington street, before it struck Judge Schiller's car, which was stopped for a trafic light.

Judge Schiller, questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Robert Donigan, testified that in his opinion Ader had been drinking.

HALT FEDERAL SPENDING, URGES INSURANCE MAN

Burden Too Heavy, Bankers Are Told.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 23.—Pointing out that total governmental expenditures now amount to nearly a third of the national income, Le Roy A. Lincoln, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company of New York, today urged that political spending be stemmed before it proceeds to a point where the citizens of the United States will have no reserves to meet future emergencies.

Lincoln addressed the annual convention of the American Bankers' association. As the head of an institution with twenty-seven and a half million policy holders he spoke sympathetically of the sentiment which prompts attempts to provide a greater measure of "security" for the needy. But he issued a warning that the capacity of the whole people to provide for the demands of self-seeking minorities was limited, and that further increases in government spending might result in less security for everybody.

Day of Reckoning Ahead.

"The huge increase of all governmental expenditures in the last quarter century," he said, "has occasioned such prodigious increases in governmental debts as to emphasize the importance of making haste slowly in placing new obligations on the people.

"Because of the borrowing the increase in the burden of this heavy government expenditure has not so far been fully appreciated. But the day of reckoning comes ultimately. There must necessarily be a limit to the percentage of the citizens' earnings which can be taken by the government. When we reach that maximum what reserve capacity shall we have left for later emergency? Whence will come the ability to pay even the interest on the debt, if the cost of the running expenses of government shall already have reached the limit which its citizens can bear?"

Another Insurance Man Warns.

Lincoln thus became the second important life insurance company executive to break the silence that has for several years characterized the attitude of the insurance companies toward government extravagance. President M. A. Linton of the Provident Mutual Life of Philadelphia recently started the criticism with a warning that government spending and consequent expansion of bank deposit money was leading toward inflation.

Lincoln avoided reference to the inflation issue, concentrating on a warning that government extravagance in the direction of a reduced standard of living for everybody, because of the growing tax burden.

"We are faced today with many schemes to add permanent charges to governmental budgets—charges that in the natural course of events will inevitably grow rather than diminish," he said. "We must all sympathize with and support reasonable forms of public aid to needy old people. But before we impose an unbearable and permanent burden on the future national income, it behooves us to think soberly not only for the sake of those who must pay the tax, but for the sake of those very individuals who should be its beneficiaries.

Plan May Injure Needy.

"Is there not a danger that, by too lavish generosity now, we may add a future burden of taxation which may entirely destroy our ability to take reasonably good care even of those who may be in direst need?"

Without direct reference either to the federal social security act or to

[Acme Photo.]

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Philip A. Benson, president of the Dime Savings bank of Brooklyn, N. Y., today was elected to the key position of second vice president of the American Bankers' association. Under the rules of succession, followed for many years, Benson will become head of the association two years hence. Tom K. Smith, president of the Boatman's National bank, St. Louis, was elected president of the association, moving up from his position of first vice president. Orval W. Adams, Salt Lake City, was named first vice president. Adams has been an outspoken critic of New Deal extravagance.

CELOTEX OFFERS PLAN TO CONVERT BONDS FOR STOCK

The Celotex corporation last night announced details of an exchange offer to holders of the concern's outstanding $821,500 6½ per cent first mortgage bonds and $1,707,000 6 per cent cumulative income debentures. According to Bror G. Dahlberg, president, the present capital structure, as reorganized, is too complicated to permit the acquisition of additional working funds when needed.

The plan provides for a new issue of $4,000,000 in 4½ per cent 15 year debentures, convertible into common stock until maturity at the rate of two shares of common stock for each $100 principal amount of debentures.

Holders of present first mortgage bonds would receive new debentures on a par-for-par basis, together with a premium of 5 per cent and accrued interest to Nov. 1, 1936. Present income debenture holders would receive a $1,000 new debenture, one share of 5 per cent preferred stock, a warant for the purchase of two common shares, and $15 cash.

It is expected that if the exchange plan becomes operative a banking group will offer publicly the unexchanged balance of the new 4½ per cent convertible debentures.

Newspaper Advertising in August 8% Above 1935

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Newspaper advertising during August gained 8 per cent over August, 1935, the advertising index of Printer's Ink showed today. The index weighted for seasonal variations, shows a decline off from July of this year of 2.5 per cent, though the actual linage was slightly larger than in July. August this year had five Sundays.

NEW TAX SUITS TEST LEGALITY OF REVENUE ACT

Packer Processing Levies Involved.

What are said to be the first suits attacking the constitutionality of the revenue act of 1936 were filed in the United States District court here yesterday by two Louisville, Ky., food concerns. The validity of the revenue act is questioned in suits filed against three Chicago packing companies in which the return of $113,640,652 of processing taxes is sought.

The suits were filed by the Major Taylor Market House, a corporation, and Abe Cohen, doing business as the New Deal Food Market. Greenberry Simmons, Louisville attorney, represented both parties.

Wilson and Armour Sued.

The Taylor action was directed at Wilson & Co., and four subsidiaries. The Cohen action was directed at Armour & Co. and four subsidiaries. Swift & Co. was sued by both. The petitions said that the suits were filed in behalf of the Taylor company, Cohen, and all others similarly situated.

Each of the petitions asks the return of all processing taxes which they paid to the companies under the old agricultural adjustment act, declared unconstitutional early this year.

The petitions attack the validity of the revenue act of 1936, which went into effect on June 22, asserting that the federal government is seeking to get amounts collected by the packers as processing taxes and returned to them by the government by imposing an 80 per cent assessment against such sums as income tax.

Arguments of Petitions.

The petition asserted that the "so-called income tax provision" known as the "windfall tax" is not an income tax but is merely a scheme to obtain an illegal exaction, which scheme is not within the powers vested in congress by the constitution.

Second, congress did not have the power to collect these funds as processing taxes and it does not have the power to collect the same funds merely by changing the name of the exaction and calling it an income tax.

Third, that the revenue act violates the 16th amendment to the constitution, as it is not an income tax within the purview of the income tax amendment.

Fourth, that the act violates the 5th amendment to the constitution, as it permits deprivation of property without due process of law; that it amounts to confircation.

The total amounts involved, as stated in the petitions, are: Swift & Co., $43,981,677; Armour & Co., $51,598,629 and Wilson & Co., $18,060,346. The Louisville concerns ask a pro rata share of the returns.

NATION'S RAIL LEADERS MEET HERE TOMORROW

Railroad executives from all parts of the country will meet in Chicago tomorrow at a session of the Association of American Railroads at the Blackstone hotel. J. J. Pelley, president of the association, will preside.

Although the subjects to be taken up have not been made public, it was said the executives will discuss a reported settlement of the long controversy between the managements and the unions over the installation of power reverse gears in locomotives. It is also said that the executives may receive a report from the trafic officials of the roads who have been meeting all week at the Stevens hotel to consider what course to take regarding freight rates when the emergency surcharges expire at the end of the year.

Report France Asks British Aid in Revaluing of Franc

Following by one day the report of the league of nations' economic committee urging "readjustment" of exchange rates, it was reported from London that representatives of the Blum government have approached the British on the subject of "realigning" the franc.

France is said to be anxious to obtain a promise from the British to refrain from further depreciation of the pound if the franc is revalued.

Franc Is Steadier.

Meanwhile the franc was steadier in the foreign exchange market, although the discount on future francs again widened after the sharp break of Tuesday.

Engagements of French gold for movement to New York amounted to $12,455,000 yesterday. A new high record for a single day since the current movement began Aug. 7. This brought total engagements since that date from France to $134,000,000, and the total from all sources, including France, to $175,000,000. The only other gold contracted for was a lot of $769,000 taken in India.

Dispatches from Paris said that Premier Leon Blum conferred with Finance Minister Vincent Auriol and other cabinet members on the currency situation. It was estimated that the weekly statement of the Bank of France, to be released today, will show a gold loss for the week of around 700,000,000 francs [about $46,000,000]. Since the beginning of August the bank's reserves have been reduced by more than $85,000,000, bringing the present gold stock to the lowest figure in the last five years.

Spot Price Higher.

In the New York market the spot quotation on the franc was slightly higher. The closing price was 6.58 and five-sixteenths cents, compared with Tuesday's quotation of 6.58¼ cents. Francs deliverable in 90 days were quoted at a discount of .58 of a cent under the spot rate, compared with a discount of .53½ of a cent on Tuesday. In Paris the franc closed at the equivalent of 6.583 cents.

After its advance Tuesday to the highest price it has commanded since the devaluation of the dollar in January, 1934, the British pound yesterday declined in terms of American funds, closing at $5.06 and fifteen-sixteenths, off three-sixteenths of a cent.

Other foreign currencies were easier in terms of American funds. The Dutch guilder dropped 3 points to 67.66 cents and the Swiss franc lost 1½ points to 32.56½ cents.

U. S. OFFICIALS SILENT.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Treasury officials were silent tonight on the reported French move for "realignment" of the franc, in the absence of Secretary Morgenthau. In an address last year, Morgenthau said this country was willing to coöperate in the adjustment of currencies of gold nations but inferred that some other country must take the initiative in any such move.

LIBBEY-OWENS GETS $120,000,000 GLASS CONTRACT

Toledo, O., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—A new five year contract covering all General Motors corporation glass requirements—a $120,000,000 contract—was obtained by the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company today, according to G. P. MacNichol Jr., vice president.

The new contract, extending the original agreement to September, 1941, was signed by John D. Biggers, president of Libbey-Owens company, Tuesday just before he sailed on a business trip to Belgium.

Libbey-Owens today acquired the Columbia Flat Glass plant at Blairsville, Pa., from General Motors. The Blairsville plant is not now in operation, but was acquired as a reserve plant to provide additional facilities in case demand for plate glass exceeds combined facilities at the Libby-Owens-Ford plants at Toledo, Rossford, O., and Ottawa, Ill. Biggers said that $1,000,000 would be spent in plant improvements.

Quicksilver Price Rises $3 to Five Year High Mark

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Quicksilver today advanced $3 per flask [76 pounds] to the highest price in five years. The spot rate ranged from $89 to $93 per flask, compared with $88 to $90 yesterday. Trade circles said the upturn reflected scarcity and continued active demand.

FOUR CONCERNS VOTE BACK DIVIDENDS ON PREFERRED SHARES

Four corporations yesterday authorized back dividend payments on preferred stock. Extra disbursements and higher rates were ordered by other firms.

Chicago Railway Equipment corporation declared a dividend of 87½ cents a share on preferred to cover unpaid accumulations for the last quarter of 1932 and the first quarter of 1933. Disbursement of $6 a share on the preferred stock of the General Outdoor Advertising corporation was ordered by the directors to apply on accumulations. Of the total $3 was directed to be paid Oct. 15 to stockholders of record Oct. 2 and the balance to be paid Nov. 15 to holders of record Nov. 2. The payments are the first authorized since the $1.50 paid Sept. 5, 1933.

Nehi corporation authorized the payment of $5.25 to clear up all accumulations on the $5.25 preferred stock. Two dividends of $1.62½ on the preferred stock of the New Haven Clock company was ordered paid on accumulations.

An extra dividend of 15 cents a share was declared by the Link Belt company. Superheater corporation voted 20 cents a share, against a previous payment of 12½ cents.

An initial quarterly dividend of 62¾ cents a share was voted by the United States Hoffman Machinery corporation on its new $50 preferred stock.

Ayres' Assistant Becomes Stock Exchange Economist

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The governing committee of the New York Stock exchange today appointed Bradford Bixby Smith, assistant vice president of the Cleveland Trust company, economist to the exchange. The office has been vacant since the death in 1934 of J. Edward Meeker. Smith, who will begin his work in October, has been since 1928 statistical assistant to Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice president and economist of the Cleveland bank.

Steel ingot production advanced this week to 73½ per cent of the country's capacity, the highest rate of the year thus far, Iron Age reported yesterday.

Further gains in output are likely to be limited by physical factors at the mills and not by the volume of business, Iron Age said. Because of restricted supplies of pig iron, scrap, and coke and the fact that many open hearth furnaces are still in disrepair, the magazine asserted that there is a scarcity of raw steel that is retarding operations of finishing mills.

"However," Iron Age continued, "steel companies are straining to eliminate production bottlenecks. A Buffalo steel plant has started its only idle blast furnace and one at Pittsburgh will also soon be in full pig iron production. Makers of refractories are busy supplying fire brick for the rebuilding of open hearth furnaces and new construction is being rushed.

Two Furnaces Fired Here.

"Two new 150 open hearth units have been started at a Chicago plant and two more are scheduled for initial operation in October."

Iron Age said the scarcity of scrap has forced a large Pittsburgh district company to resort to use of Bessemer steel ingots as part of its scrap charge. A number of steel companies are expanding their shipping department in an effort to eradicate complaints of customers on deliveries.

In reporting on the heavy volume of buying last week, the publication said that buying has been brought about partly by the desire of users to protect themselves as far ahead as possible on those products which are to be $2 a ton higher in price as of Oct. 1, but there has also been substantial buying of other products not affected by price advances, notably wire products, which were recently reduced but may be advanced again for the fourth quarter.

Sheet Mills Well Booked.

A substantial amount of buying of sheets by the automobile industry, coupled with good miscellaneous demand, has given some sheet mills virtually full bookings through November, and in some cases for the entire last quarter, according to Iron Age.

"With the completion by the Ford Motor company of its 1936 run, the automobile industry probably has reached its low point," the magazine said.

An advance of 50 cents at Pittsburgh and 25 cents at Philadelphia has raised the Iron Age composite price for heavy melting scrap to $16.75, where it is only $1.93 below the pig iron composite price, the narrowest differential that has existed between these two basic commodities in more than 20 years.

Packard Sets New Record in Sales for September

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—M. M. Gilman, vice president and general manager of the Packard Motor Car company, said today the company sold 8,008 cars to customers during the first 20 days of September, establishing a record for that period. For the entire month of September last year deliveries were 3,043 units and in the first 20 days the total was 1,563.

A. T. & T. TO SELL 175 MILLIONS OF FUNDING BONDS

Deal to Be Filed with SEC Today.

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The largest piece of corporation financing in seven years was announced today when American Telephone and Telegraph corporation revealed it would offer $175,000,000 of 3¼ per cent 25 year debentures in the near future. The corporation announced it would file a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission tomorrow.

W. S. GIFFORD.

This financing is the first step in the company's program to refund all of its coupon issues outstanding.

Of the proposed issue $150,000,000 will be sold to the public by a group of underwriters headed by Morgan Stanley & Co. The remaining $25,000,000 will be withheld for sale to the pension trust funds of Bell system companies. Proceeds of this financing will be used to redeem outstanding issues bearing higher coupons.

Approve Redemption Call.

Directors also authorized the redemption at 105 on Dec. 1 of $64,865,200 collateral trust 5 per cent due in 1946. Subject to the sale of the new issue before November the board likewise approved the call and redemption at 110 on Jan. 1, 1937, of $117,981,700 of 5 per cent debentures of 1960.

It was figured holders would receive a premium of about $15,000,000 for the repayment before maturity. But annual interest savings of $3,062,500 are expected to make the operation profitable for the company in the long run, saving an equivalent of 15 cents a share on the 18,000,000 shares of stock outstanding.

The last large piece of financing by American Telephone was in February, 1930, when the company offered $149,899,000 of 35 year 5 per cent debentures. The depression was only beginning and money rates were high, accounting for the coupon attached to the issue. It is expected that the company in coming months will announce plans to refund this issue with lower coupon bonds.

Walter S. Gifford, president, is known to be in favor of placing the debt structure of the company on a low interest basis.

Part of Big Program.

The refunding operation just announced is part of a comprehensive undertaking which the corporation has had in progress since April, 1935. During that period $137,625,800 of various issues of subsidiary operating companies, mostly mortgage bonds, have been refunded.

The two most important refundings were $48,726,000 of Illinois Bell Telephone company 5s of 1956 and South-

STOCK MARKET DIP CAUSED BY PROFIT TAKING

Farm and Motor Groups Are Buoyant.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 23.—Slight losses in stocks were numerous at the close of trading today as an early effort toward a bullish demonstration all but disappeared when light profit taking sales appeared. Farm implement and motor shares managed to retain a part of their early gains. Sales amounted to 1,483,670 shares.

From a purely technical standpoint traders professed to be encouraged by the action of the market. Meanwhile the flow of outside news was interpreted as favorable, especially advices from the steel and utilities industries.

Motor Group Gains.

Motor shares picked up some ground on the return of the industry to high production levels and the approach of the automobile show. Chrysler stood 2 points higher at one time but subsequently ran into a spell of profit taking that reduced its margin considerably. General Motors registered the biggest turnover of the day and finished with a gain of less than a point. Mack Truck posted a new peak before reacting.

Despite reports of continued gains in transportation and car loadings the railroad group tended to decline. In most cases losses did not exceed fractions.

Steel issues did not reflect bullish trade advices, however. Youngstown slipped more than a point, while "Big Steel" and Bethlehem received fractional setbacks. Utilities declined small fractions.

Farm Group Buoyant.

With both candidates of the major political parties assuring the farm population that it will be taken care of, farm implement shares staged a buoyant performance. Case annexed a net gain of 1¼ after rising 3 at one time and Deere was bid up more than 2 points. Harvester rose more than a point. Sears-Roebuck lost a little in the mail orders, while Montgomery Ward was steady.

United States Smelting chalked up a gain on estimates of good earnings. International Nickel and Douglas Aircraft suffered a bit from profit taking.

Rail equipments moved into new high ground before reacting.

Production 17.2 Per Cent Above Last Year.

Electric power production in the United States soared to a new all time peak of 2,170,807,000 kilowatt hours last week, it was announced yesterday by the Edison Electric Institute. The week's output was 17.2 per cent ahead of the corresponding week a year ago, when the figure was 1,851,541,000 kilowatt hours.

In the preceding week, which included the Labor day holiday, electricity generated throughout the nation amounted to 2,028,583,000 kilowatt hours. Last week's outturn eclipsed the former peak of 2,135,598,000 kilowatt hours, established in the week ended Aug. 29.

Sharp Gain Shown Here.

In the Chicago district electricity output of the four companies serving the area for the week ended Sept. 19 was 121,780,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 105,713,000 kilowatt hours in the corresponding period a year ago, an increase of 15.2 per cent.

Output in kilowatt hours and percentage comparisons with last year for the Chicago district follow:

Central Region Reports Rise.

The national advance reflected continued business improvement and the increase in steel operations. Output in the central industrial region, which contains a large number of heavy industries, was 19.5 per cent over the corresponding week a year ago. The southern states region showed a gain of 23.3 per cent over the 1935 week, a result of the unusually heavy movement of the cotton crop and the sharp ginning operations increase.

All other major geographical districts last week registered substantial increases over the similar week a year ago. Rocky Mountain district had a gain of 16.7 per cent, middle Atlantic 16.4, New England 16.1, west central, 13, and Pacific coast 8.9.

BUTTER, EGGS UNCHANGED; POTATOES DECLINE 4 CENTS

While further offerings of foreign butter were made yesterday, New York receiving approximately 100,000 pounds from northern European countries and Cuba, November contracts on the Chicago Mercantile exchange closed unchanged. The close was at 32¼ cents per pound, or the same as Tuesday's finish. Sales of futures totaled 124 cars.

New purchases of more than a million pounds of Siberian butter were reported late yesterday at 32 cents per pound, port of New York, duty paid.

Egg futures closed unchanged, with October at 25⅛ cents per dozen; sales, 141 cars. Potato futures declined 4 cents, with January at $2.26 per 100 pounds; sales, 12 cars. Prices follow:

UPHOLD DOUBLE ASSESSMENT ON LAND BANK STOCK

Appeals Court Backs Ruling of Judge Barnes.

The United States Court of Appeals in a decision yesterday upheld the ruling of Federal Judge John P. Barnes assessing stockholders of the Chicago Joint Stock Land bank $4,000,000 under the "double liability" clause of the Illinois constitution. The bank went into receivership in 1932. The $4,000,000 liability of the stockholders represents the full face value of the stock.

Stock of the bank is held by 2,500 persons and corporations. The bank was organized in 1917 under terms of the federal farm loan act which was enacted to encourage the organization of such banks throughout the country as a means of improving the credit facilities of farmers.

Liabilities 42 Millions.

When the bank was placed in receivership in 1932 its liabilities amounted to $42,000,000 with assets consisting of 5,300 notes and mortgage loans on farms in Illinois and Iowa. The bank had foreclosed on many of its loans but realized only a small part of its investment.

The bank quit making loans in 1926 and a receiver was appointed by the federal farm board in 1932 for the purpose of liquidating the assets.

The suit against stockholders of the bank was referred to Master in Chancery Thomas J. Peden after the institution had been placed in receivership.

Find Bank Insolvent.

The master's report found that the bank was insolvent at the time the receiver was appointed and that proceeds of the liquidation of assets would fall $12,000,000 short of meeting outstanding liabilities.

Acting on the report Judge Barnes issued a decree assessing stockholders 100 per cent on their holdings under the Illinois law. Yesterday's opinion affirming the Barnes ruling was written by Judge Samuel Alschuler and concurred in by Judge Will M. Sparks and Charles G. Briggle.

ESTIMATE RAIL TRAFIC FOR WEEK AT 790,000 CARS

Additional car loading reports released yesterday by major railroads tended to confirm earlier estimates that trafic last week reached 790,000 cars, an increase of 12.9 per cent over the Labor day week's total of 699,859 cars and a gain of 11.6 per cent over last year's loadings of 707,644 cars.

This would mark the first time that the high point of 1931, which was 777,712 cars in the last week of September, had been exceeded.

BAYER COMPANY LEASES SPACE AS BUSINESS GROWS

Increase of business and the need of more space led to the signing of leases yesterday by the Bayer Company, Inc., a subsidiary of Sterling Products, Inc., for 25,000 square feet on the third floor of the North Pier Terminal company's east building at 445 Lake Shore drive.

The Bayer concern will use approximately a third of the space leased, the remainder being apportioned to four other subsidiaries of Sterling Products: General Drug company, Knowlton Danderine company, Charles H. Phillips Chemical company, and the California Syrup of Figs company.

BUSINESS BITS

"What Can We Do About Taxes?" is the subject of a talk to be given by Walter D. Fuller, president of the Curtis Publishing company, Philadelphia, to the Illinois Manufacturers' association at the Hotel La Salle, Tuesday noon, Sept. 29. Fuller will discuss concealed and direct taxes and the practical relation of excessive taxes to the welfare of the individual in industry.

Lloyd S. Tenny, business manager of the Chicago Mercantile exchange, will be one of the principal speakers at the annual convention of the Northwest Creamery Owners' association to be held today and tomorrow at St. Paul, Minn. He will discuss butter marketing problems.

The University of Chicago this autumn will offer courses in its downtown University college by members of the school of business faculty that usually are given only on the Midway quadrangle, Dean Carl Huth announced yesterday. Prof. Garfield V. Cox on Monday evenings will give a course on "Economics of Public Policy, which will apply price and distribution theory to current economic policies of the government. Carl H. Henrickson, assistant professor, will repeat his course on "Stock Exchange Mechanisms and Brokerage House Procedures."

A membership on the Chicago Stock exchange was transferred yesterday by Fred W. Fairman to his son, Fred W. Fairman Jr. The father retains his original membership, which he has held since 1913.

Albert S. Hecht Jr., 27 year old chairman of the board of directors of the Hotel Credit Men's Association of Chicago, resigned last night at the group's opening fall meeting. Hecht was recently appointed general credit manager of General Outdoor Advertising company, Inc.

ILLINOIS TRUCKERS, DRIVERS' UNION SIGN WORKING AGREEMENT

An agreement, providing a fixed wage scale and protecting employers from certain phases of strike activity, was signed yesterday by the wage scale committee of the Illinois Motor Truck Operators' association, with the Truck Drivers' union, local 705, Chicago Teamsters and Chauffeurs' union. The agreement affects 150 highway truck contractors, employing about 2,500 members of the union.

The pact provides that the employers provide liability insurance giving the drivers protection against accidents and that they make provision for compensation insurance. The union agrees not to involve itself in strikes of any organization not affiliated with the truck drivers' union. Disputes are to be submitted to a committee of three, two representing each of the two groups, and a third person mutually agreeable to each.

Signers of the agreement were J. L. Keeshin, head of the big trucking company bearing his name; Walter Mullady of the Decatur Cartage company; William Fullerton of the William Fullerton company; Barney Cushman of Cushman Motor service; Edward Arkin of All-American Terminals, and Thomas Conly, president; Michael J. Galvin, secretary-treasurer, and Patrick La Velle, business agent of the union.

UNITED AIR LINES BOOST IN CAPITAL GIVEN APPROVAL

New Stock Issue to Provide $3,800,000.

Stockholders of the United Air Lines Transport corporation at a special meeting yesterday approved a proposal to increase the authorized number of shares of the company from 1,200,000 to 2,000,000, W. A. Patterson, president, announced.

Under the plan stockholders are given the right to subscribe at $11 per share for one new share of stock for each three held. This will provide approximately $3,800,000 of new capital before deducting expenses of underwriting and issuance.

Funds to Buy New Planes.

Officials of the company announced that the additional capital will be used for purchasing new flying equipment, improvement of ground facilities that will be necessary to accommodate larger planes and for other corporate purposes.

The company has already contracted for the purchase of twenty of the larger and latest type Douglas DC-3 passenger transports at an approximate cost of $2,200,000. Delivery will be started next month. It is planned that ten of these planes will have cabin accommodations for twenty-one passengers, and that the other ten will have accommodations for fourteen passengers each, with larger space for cargoes.

Plan 40 Seat Ship.

United Air Lines, in coöperation with four other major air lines, is participating in the development of an experimental four engined forty passenger transport. Should the ship work out satisfactorily the company is considering the purchase of airplanes of this type for delivery late in 1937.

In announcing the plan to issue stock to finance the expansion program, officials of United said that subscription rights, exercisable on or before Oct. 29, 1936, will be provided to all stockholders of record Oct. 7, 1936, as well as to holders of certificates for shares of capital stock of National Air Transport, Inc.

A registration covering the shares to be issued has been filed with the securities and exchange commission in Washington.

New York Central Reduces RFC Debt to $9,478,737

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP) The New York Central railroad has reduced its debt to the Reconstruction Finance corporation to $9,478,737 by paying off $2,420,262 in notes maturing next June, the carrier announced today. Last December the road repaid $15,000,000. The remaining debt matures in 1941.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Fresh butter was offered freely yesterday, but there was little change in prices; receipts, 9,581 tubs. Fresh egg prices were unchanged; receipts, 4,627 cases. Live heavy hens and Leghorn hens sold steady to ½c lower, and geese were unchanged to 1c per lb higher; arrivals, 3 cars and 53 trucks. Numerous cars of Idaho potatoes received yesterday showed considerable immature stock. The market was weak; receipts, 97 cars, with 333 cars on team track. Quotations follow: the Townsend plan, Lincoln presented figures which his company has prepared showing how proposals for old age pensions would boost the tax load on the producing workers of the nation.

HALT FEDERAL SPENDING, URGES INSURANCE MAN

Warns Bankers' Burden Is Too Heavy.

Based on 1934 figures, he said, the cost of paying $50 monthly to all individuals over 65 of age would add 4 billion 422 million dollars to the annual tax bill of the nation. A hundred dollar monthly pension would add double that amount, and a two hundred dollar pension would bring the annual tax cost to 17 billion 688 million dollars.

Fifty dollar pensions for all individuals over 55 would cost the producing public 10 billions yearly, and two hundred dollar pensions would cost more than 40 billions.

Demands Tend to Increase.

"It behooves us," Lincoln continued, "to remember that, when certain groups are singled out as special beneficiaries of the public treasury, not only do their own demands increase as time goes on, but there is a natural tendency toward the formation of new groups demanding to be included among those to whom public funds are to be distributed.

"The danger in any democratic system of government is that these various groups of special beneficiaries may organize, become politically powerful and, without appreciation of the ultimate possibilities for their own group, to say nothing of the public, may compel the expansion of such obligations far beyond the power of the nation to assume without destructive influence upon our whole economy.

"Even to provide a monthly pension to those 65 years of age and over in amounts, which have been suggested in some quarters, would require more money per year than all of our governmental bodies—federal, state, and local—are estimated to be spending for all purposes combined in 1936. In fact, this increased expenditure, added to our present burden, would be equivalent to more than half the total present national income of the American people.

"Nothing could be more unfortunate than to tax the young of today so heavily to meet the burdens of today and tomorrow as to destroy the potential capacity to care for them when they in turn may be among the needy.

Jobs Termed Real Need.

"It is not safe to assume that a permanent solution of these problems that are besetting today can be had merely by resort to the use of the taxing power of the government. The answer lies, as has been said on all sides, in restoring opportunity to work to those who would work.

"We must not plunge headlong into rash commitments. We cannot bring a millenium into full bloom by statutory enactment. There has never been, there never will be, a millenium."

Mr. Lincoln presented figures showing that estimated government expenditures—federal, state, and local—in 1936 amounted to 17 billion 300 million dollars, but that tax collections for the year are estimated at only 10 billions, indicating a more painful tax load later on when the bill for present government borrowing has to be paid.

Tax collections this year, he said, amount to an estimated 16.7 per cent of national income, but government expenditures amount to 28.8 per cent of national income.

"So much of our taxation today is indirect and invisible that we may not always appreciate the full weight of all our governmental expenditures," he concluded.

The report of the resolutions committee, scheduled for today, was postponed until tomorrow because of a crowded program.

COTTON CLOSES IRREGULAR AFTER AN EARLY ADVANCE

Cotton markets showed a strong undertone in the early trading yesterday due to better cables from Liverpool, short covering and buying of October contracts by the trade. Prices advanced 10 points.

Late in the session southern hedging pressure increased and with a more favorable government weekly weather crop summary than expected, a reaction got under way. The close was at the bottom. Chicago closed 3 points higher to 3 points lower. Other markets were unchanged to 5 points lower [a point is equal to 1-100 cent per pound, or 5 cents per bale].

Ginnings of cotton from Aug. 1 to Sept. 16 as given by the bureau of the census aggregated 3,707,000 bales. This compared with 2,316,000 bales for the same period in 1935 and 3,130,000 bales in 1934.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to 5 points lower. New Orleans and New York were quoted at 12.25 cents; Galveston, 11.95 cents, and Houston at 12 cents per pound. Prices follow:

FEDERAL RULE OF INVESTMENT TRUSTS ASKED

Control Plan Advocated by Head of One.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—The first set of proposals for federal control over investment trusts, embodying their segregation from banks and brokerage houses, was presented to the Securities and Exchange commission today by Paul C. Cabot, president of the State Street Investment corporation of Boston.

Cabot heads what is generally regarded as the most successful of the "open end" or Boston type trusts, which provides for redemption on demand of shareholders. The net value per share of State Street stock was $12.50 in 1924 and at the end of 1935 was $88.66. The net value of all assets was more than 42 million dollars.

Cabot Is Not "Badgered."

In this enviable position Cabot was not badgered and quizzed as were some of his less successful investment trust colleagues who have appeared at the public hearings the SEC is conducting for the purpose of recommending legislation to the incoming congress. Cabot ran the show when he was on the stand.

"We are inclined to believe that legislation severing the control and affiliation between banking houses, banks and brokerage houses and investment trusts would be advisable for two reasons," said Cabot. "These are, first, the use of an investment trust as a dumping ground for unmarketable underwritings participated in by the bank or banking house that controls or is affiliated with the investment trust; and the second is the excessive market activity in the underlying portfolio for the purpose of creating stock exchange business on which the banking house obtains a commission."

Admits Some Well Managed.

The type of trust referred to by Cabot would be a competitor of his and he admitted that some affiliates of banks and brokerage houses had been run with honesty and ability. His recommendation recalled the testimony last week of officials of Central Illinois Securities corporation, which had taken over stocks and loans from its affiliated Central Trust Company of Illinois, the old Dawes bank.

Cabot proposed that standard accounting procedures be imposed on investment trusts and that they also have standard methods of making disclosures to shareholders. This would obviate, he declared, any periodic federal examinations along the lines of national bank examinations.

Opposes Limiting Profits.

He opposed any legislation limiting loans and management fees.

"I do not believe in the theory of limiting profits other than in the case of monopolies except by the method of free and open competition," he asserted, "and with required standardized accounting and required publicity the competitive situation, as it always does, will take care of excesses in this direction."

Cabot declared that it would be a mistake to legislate or tamper with the diversification of securities in investment trust portfolios. This would be putting the government in the position of managing the business, he said. A trust also should be permitted to trade freely, Cabot said, in "the rapidly changing economic conditions both world-wide and nationally."

Oil Consultant Named Official of Chase Bank

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Joseph E. Pogue, consulting petroleum engineer of New York, has been appointed a vice president of the Chase National Bank of New York, it was announced today. He formerly was a professor at Northwestern university, Chicago and was connected with the geologic division of the Smithsonian institution. His duties at the bank will be concerned particularly with the oil industry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 23.—Secondary railroad issues continued the center of buying attraction in today's bond market. Low priced liens still pushed ahead on a broad front, making even sharper advances than those of yesterday in many instances.

Total transactions were the heaviest of the week, amounting to $15,987,000, par value, compared with $15,734,000 on Tuesday.

New Haven Issues Rise.

New Haven bonds developed an enlarged following and gained from 1 to more than 3 points. St. Louis Southwestern issues were among other spectacular performers. North Western 4¾s gained ⅝ to 15⅞, Rock Island general 4s added ⅞ to 40½ and Lehigh Valley 4½s rose 1¾ to 76¼, a new 1936 high. "Katy," Southern Pacific and Erie loans also advanced.

In contrast with the strength in rails, liens of public utilities and some industrial corporations either stood still or dropped back slightly, largely because of dullness.

Convertibles Sell Lower.

Convertible issues sold off with the stock market late in the day, Studebaker 6s losing 1 to 114, Youngstown Sheet and Tube 3½s dropping 1 to 128, and Chesapeake 5s declining 1⅛ to 153⅝.

United States governments were dull until the last hour, when a wave of selling dropped both treasury and guaranteed loans one-thirty-second to five-thirty-seconds of a point.

Foreign bonds were quiet and irregular. Some of the German issues showed strength on a moderate scale. Polish 6s lost 3⅜ to 57⅛, but the 7s and 8s fluctuated minor fractions in contrast to recent sharp setbacks.

McLellan Stores.

Investors' Guide: Please advise me regarding McLellan 5 and 10 cent stores.—E. W. M.

Answer: The McLellan Stores company, originally established in 1913, operates approximately 225 stores in southern, New England, central, and middle western states. It sells variety merchandise at prices ranging from 5 cents to $1. The company is controled by United Stores corporation.

Giving full effect to the recapitalization approved by stockholders on Nov. 20, 1935, there are 30,000 shares of new 6 per cent $100 par cumulative convertible preferred stock and 733,205 shares of new $1 par common stock. Accumulations of $21 a share on the preferred were eliminated and the company's position materially improved.

Sales for the 7 months to Aug. 31, 1936, were $11,142,000 or 8.2 per cent more than in the corresponding 1935 period. For the 12 months ended July 31, 1936, sales were $19,456,000 and net income after preferred dividends was $1,225,000 or $1.48 per common share.

The fiscal year now ends Jan. 31, net sales being $21,001,000 and net income $1,177,000, or $1.34 per common share, for the 13 months ended Jan. 31, 1936, compared with $19,645,000 sales and net income of $1,344,000, or $1.86 a share, in 1934.

A loss of $605,000 was reported in 1933 before federal taxes.

Dividends are being paid regularly on the new preferred, but it still should be rated somewhat speculative. The common is a speculation at present.

Brooklyn Edison.

Investors' Guide: Please send me your opinion and report on Brooklyn Edison company 3¼ per cent bonds due in 1966.—H. J. C.

Answer: Earnings of the Brooklyn Edison company, a wholly owned subsidiary of Consolidated Edison company of New York, have covered fixed charges consistently by a wide margin. The smallest coverage was in 1934 when charges were earned 3.82 times.

A $55,000,000 issue of 3¼s of 1966 was sold early this summer. Proceeds were used to retire a like amount of 5 per cent bonds, reducing interest requirements. The new bonds are sound.

While there is no reason to question the company's ability to meet interest and pay off the bonds at maturity, the investor who may wish to sell before maturity should bear in mind the probability that these low interest bearing bonds may sell at less than par during a period when money rates are higher.

A. T. & T. TO SELL 175 MILLIONS OF REFUNDING BONDS

Offering to Be Filed with SEC Today.

western Bell Telephone company 5s of 1954 in an approximately equal amount.

Also since April last year the company has redeemed $59,756,700 of bonds prior to maturity, but has not replaced them with refunding issues. Bonds paid at maturity during the period were $6,268,400. The chief issue which was paid off prior to maturity was the Western Electric company debenture 5s of 1944 which totaled $35,000,000.

Funded Debt Decreased.

The net decrease in funded debt for the corporation from April 1, 1935, until the present operation was undertaken was $70,442,800.

A $110,000,000 issue filed by the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit corporation last spring and a recent $100,000,000 financing by the General Motors Acceptance corporation, have previously held the record for size of offerings under the Securities act.

The telephone announcement was taken in bond circles as a signal of an active autumn continuation of the movement. Retirement of old issues carrying relatively high interest rates has been encouraged by a further advance in the bond market lately and abundance of investment funds seeking outlet.

Earnings of A. T. & T. in the first seven months of this year, the latest available figures, showed gross revenues of $61,767,133, against $53,583,864 in the corresponding 1935 period, while net operating income totaled $12,504,431 in contrast with $8,291,349. July gross was $8,996,648, against $7,592,207, and net operating income amounted to $1,779,243, in contrast to $1,121,691.

OFFER TELEPHONE BONDS

A $2,750,000 issue of 30 year 4 per cent bonds of the Commonwealth Telephone company will be offered today by a banking group headed by Bonbright & Co. at par and accrued interest. The company, controled by the General Telephone corporation, operates in Wisconsin. Proceeds will be used to redeem $1,639,000 of 5 per cent first mortgage bonds, to pay off $916,000 of first mortgage 5 per cent bonds of the Consolidated Telephone company, and for additional working capital.

Roxborough Knitting Mills, Inc., of Philadelphia, is doing its first public financing today through an offering of 75,484 shares of participating preferred stock through Reichart, De Witt & Co. The stock will be offered at $4 a share. It is entitled to a dividend preference of 32 cents annually.

Public offering of 40,000 shares of 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock with warants and 100,000 shares of common stock of Hunter Steel company, formerly the Independent Bridge company, Pittsburgh, will be made today by G. L. Ohrstrom & Co. The preferred is priced at $19.25 a share and the common at $6 a share. The offering does not represent new financing, the stock having been acquired from individual stockholders.

CHICAGO STOCKS MIXED; ZENITH HITS NEW PEAK

Chicago stocks were featured yesterday by fairly active trading in Zenith Radio, which touched a new high for the year at 40⅛ and closed at 39¼, only ⅝ under its previous high.

The whole list was irregular, with gains and losses about evenly distributed. Middle West was the most active issue traded, advancing ¼ on a turnover of 8,250 shares to close at 12⅝. Midland United convertible preferred A stock sprang into prominence by advancing ⅞ to close at 7⅝ on a turnover of 3,400 shares.

Despite the irregular trend there were ten new 1936 highs reached during the session, including Advance Aluminum, Associated Investment, Central and South West preferred, Dayton, the A and common, North West Utilities, 7 per cent preferred and the prior lien, and Sunstrand.

On the down side, Chicago corporation, Iron Fireman, Jarvis, Katz Drug, Kellogg Switchboard, Noblitt Sparks, and Utah Radio all suffered fractional losses.

RFC'S SECOND QUARTER LOANS TOTAL $77,493,369

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The Reconstruction Finance corporation reported today that during the June quarter loans and advances disbursed by the government corporation, exclusive of advances made to other government agencies and for direct relief, aggregated $77,493,369, while repayments were $305,740,323.

During the quarter the RFC made 1,096 authorizations under this category, only a part of which had been disbursed on June 30, and these together with increases in authorizations previously made, aggregated $169,098,967. Of these $15,889,464 were canceled by prospective borrowers who found that they would not require the funds.

A summary of loans and advances of the same type for the period from Feb. 2, 1932, to June 30, 1936, showed disbursements of $6,012,771,180, of which $3,591,166,719 had been repaid.

McCALL CORPORATION

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was easier today and prices declined 5 points to the basis of 3.40c per lb for spots. At this level there were sales of 58,500 bags of Cubas for October shipment to local refiners, while an operator bought 21,000 bags of over-quota Cubas for January shipment at 3.35c. Futures were active. After declining 2 to 4 points under renewed liquidation and hedge selling in the more distant deliveries promoted by the easier tone of the spot market, prices rallied on covering and buying by trade and Cuban interest. Final prices were 3 points higher to 1 net lower. Sales, 41,200 tons, of which about three-quarters was in new crop positions.

Raw sugar prices in cents per pound:

WHEAT CANCELS EARLY GAIN AND CLOSES LOWER

Loss Here Held to Minor Fractions.

Wheat prices closed lower on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday as the result of heavy profit taking which more than erased an early advance. Losses here were confined to minor fractions. In Winnipeg the finish was irregular while Liverpool turned in a gain of more than a cent a bushel.

Sharp advances were registered in the three markets during early trading in response to a broader European demand for North American cash wheat and speculative buying of futures. Winnipeg and Liverpool touched the highest levels for the season while the Chicago September future moved to the best level for this season of the year since 1929 at $1.17⅛. In the British market October wheat rose to $1.23⅛ per bushel, highest since 1930.

Corn Action Erratic.

Corn futures fluctuated in an erratic manner, with the close ⅝ cent higher on September and a major fraction lower on deferred deliveries. Oats declined fractionally, with September leading, and rye was practically unchanged.

Italy, it was disclosed, has bought approximately 175,000 bushels of soft white wheat on the American Pacific coast, the first business with that country in many months.

Winnipeg reported one million bushels or more Canadian cash wheat was sold for export, with Canadian and American mills joining shippers as aggressive buyers of wheat futures.

Continued demand for North American wheat is due in part to the large amount of the 1936 European wheat harvest which is unfit for milling purposes.

	Yest.	Tuesday	Wk. ago	Mo. ago
Wheat	$1.16⅝	$1.16½	$1.14⅛	$1.11⅝
Corn	1.10¼	1.09⅝	1.14¼	1.12
Oats	.42⅝	.42⅞	.42	.42⅞
Rye	.84⅝	.84⅝	.83½	.83

Cease Trade Sept. 26.

A special notice issued by the board of trade clearing house yesterday to its members called attention to the fact that trading in grain futures for September delivery will cease at the close on Saturday. Thereafter, uncompleted contracts can be settled only by deliveries of cash grain.

Nearly 200,000 bushels of Argentine corn was reported received at American ports yesterday. Included in the total was 160,000 bushels at New Orleans, which was said to be in a heated condition. Baltimore received 13,000 bushels of foreign rye.

The new Illinois crop of soy beans, officially estimated at 18,150,000 bushels, second largest on record, has started to move to terminal markets. A car of new No. 2 yellow beans, testing 55 pounds per bushel and 12 per cent moisture, was received at Chicago yesterday by J. H. Dole & Co. The beans were sold at $1.18⅛ per bushel.

CASH GRAIN

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Wednesday were: Wheat, 11 cars; corn, 98 cars; oats, 26 cars; rye, 1 car; barley, 68 cars; soy beans, 2 cars. Range of cash grain prices per bushel in leading markets follows:

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable advanced 7 points to 9 points early today on increased covering and local buying on the strength of lard and grains, but eased later under renewed liquidation and hedge selling. Final prices were 1 point higher to 4 points net lower. Sales, 41 contracts. Bleachable spot nominal; Sept. closed, 10.23c Oct., 10.18c; Dec. and Jan., [illegible]21c; March, 10.28c.

LAMB PRICES SLUMP TO LOW LEVEL FOR YEAR

Break Comes as U. S. Offers to Buy.

Lamb prices slumped to the lowest levels of the year here yesterday. Packers paid $9.40 for best closely sorted native ewe and wether lambs. The bulk sold at $9.25 or lower, with buck lambs bringing $8.25 or under and culls ranging downward from $7.

The break came almost simultaneously with news that the government had awarded contracts to packers to buy old mutton sheep for the account of the commodity purchase section of the AAA. Packers at nine of the largest sheep markets have been authorized to buy old sheep if the markets are in need of support.

No Federal Bids Made.

No actual bids were made by federal buyers yesterday. Agents of the government admitted they are not interested in stock that would cost more than $2 per hundred pounds on the hoof. Good fat old mutton ewes are bringing $3.50 to the regular trade, which is as low as they have sold in some time.

Approximately $3,000,000 has been set aside for the purchase of sheep.

Slow wholesale demand for fresh pork, which has been accumulating in packers' coolers at many eastern distributing points, curtailed buying of live hogs, and further concessions in price were necessary to move the supply at the stockyards. Losses of 10 to 15 cents were general after a steady opening.

Average Price 10 Cents Lower.

The day's top at $10.30 was 5 cents below Tuesday and was lowest since June 17. The average price dropped 10 cents to $9.45.

Steady prices were paid for most cattle, the $10.50 top for steers equaling the previous high mark since April. Most steers sold at $7.75 to $10. Some low priced hefers were weak to slightly lower, but other butcher stock held steady. Calves declined 25 cents.

LARD FUTURES UP SHARPLY, BUT REACT FROM TOP

Buying of lard futures, attributed to shorts and based on the relative strength in cottonseed oil, lifted prices sharply yesterday. While profit taking and hedging pressure caused a recession from the best figures, closing trades were at net gains of 15 to 22½ cents per hundredweight.

Clear bellies finished nominally unchanged. Cash lard was quoted at $11.35 per 100 pounds; loose, $10.85, leaf, $11.25; clear bellies, $13.25. Range of futures follows:

How You Can BORROW at HOUSEHOLD
No Endorsers.
No Salary Assignments.
REDUCED RATES
ON ALL LOANS ABOVE $100.

1. Whether or not you have furniture or a car you can borrow here if you can make regular monthly payments.
2. Payments on all loans are small. For example, payments on a $200 loan are $10 per month plus interest charges on a 20 month schedule.
3. You do not need co-makers or endorsers.
4. You can secure the money quickly—the same day if you apply before 9 o'clock.
5. Household's rate of 3% per month on the first $100 and 2% per month on that part of the balance over $100 is substantially lower than the lawful maximum on all loans above $100.
6. Repay at any time and reduce the cost.
7. Private offices. Your problem will have our sympathetic attention.

Packard Mod. 1100 Sed.

If you get a "kick" out of mechanical performance and appreciate lasting beauty together with correct design, finest workmanship and materials, we suggest you see and ride in this 1934 Packard 5 pass. sedan. It is in the original Packard blue finish, elegantly upholstered in finest broadcloth, and fitted with hardware of rare taste. The entire car presents the well groomed appearance of motor cars whose owners have been exceptionally careful in handling and driving. The mileage on this car is negligible. Complete equipment includes wire wheels, General heavy duty white wall tires, Kelch heater with 2 outlets, spot light and dual equipment thruout. Guaranteed mechanically. This unusual value $1,075

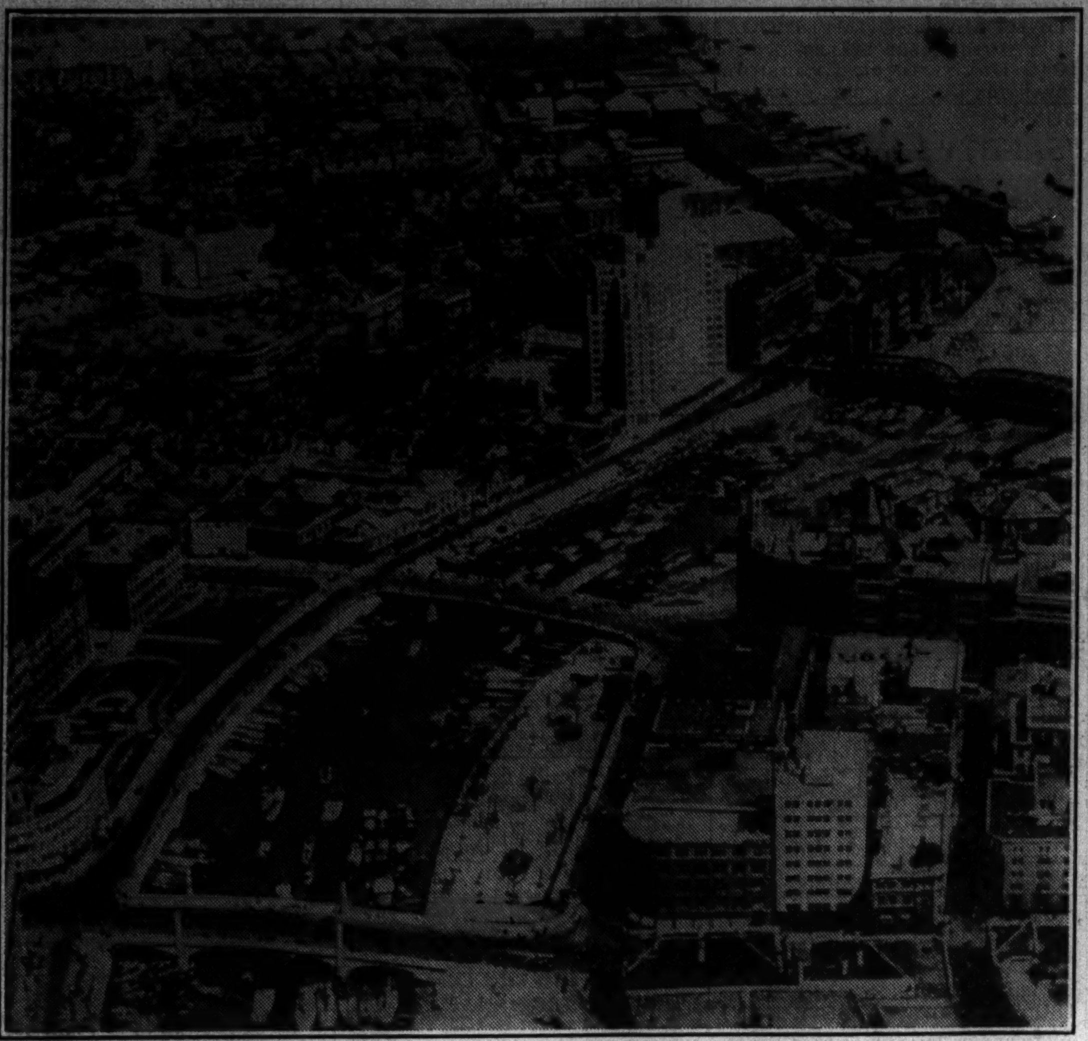
Japs Invade Shanghai Area and Declare Martial Law—Rebels in Alcazar Make Last Stand as Help Nears



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

JAP TROOPS LAND IN SHANGHAI; DECLARE MARTIAL LAW—Airview of the northern section of the International settlement in Shanghai, over a large area of which Japan yesterday declared martial law while marines hunted gunmen who shot three Japanese, one fatally. Tension between the two countries is increasing. (Story on page 13.)

HER LOVE AFFAIR TOLD AT HEARING—Mrs. Melba Straub, widow of the slain Louis K. Straub, as she appeared yesterday in rooms of Federal Master Grossman while her affair with Peter Brickie, an electrician, was related.

FIRST PICTURE OF ALCAZAR AFTER IT WAS DYNAMITED BY LOYALISTS—Picture rushed to London from Toledo and sent to Chicago by radio and wirephoto showing the historic fortress veiled with smoke and partly in ruins after blasts designed to drive out rebels. Insurgent forces are now pressing on Toledo bent on rescuing the defenders.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]
